No Further Information.

The man seen coming from the door of Harry L. Williams' store at 11.30 o'clock the night of the murder, then seen a few minutes later running on Sandown Avenue from the scene of the murder, and later seen on Magazine street, is much wanted by the police. It is firmly believed that he is the assassin of Williams. No further information has been received by the police regarding this mysterious individual, since he was last seen going down Millidge street from Rockland Road in the direction of Paradise town. A man answering the description, however, had been seen on Union street early Wednesday morning, on the March Road Thursday, also on Main street early Wednesday morning, but there is nothing to show that this man is the same person seen on Magazine street and the person who has been connected with the murder.

Police Chief Asks Co-operation.

The following description, which is the same as given in yesterday's Standard, of the man supposed to be the murderer, is given out by Chief of Police Simpson:

Age, forty or forty-five years.
Square shoulders.
Stocky build.
Very red face.
Clean shaven, or might have had light moustache.
Five feet, eight or nine inches in height.
Dressed in blue suit of clothes.
Wore broad brimmed hat, possibly station Panama.

Chief Simpson asks for the co-operation of the general public, both in the city and the surrounding country, in locating this mysterious person. The chief requests that any person who sees a man answering the above description, kindly telephone to the police headquarters, Main 157, and the matter will be immediately investigated. The chief further states that the name of any person telephoning will be kept strictly confidential and will not be given out at any time.

Running Down Rumors.

The members of the police force, especially the officers in the detective department, have been working hard since the murder of Williams was discovered. Every clue and rumor has been thoroughly looked into. The rumors circulated about the city have been many, but every such rumor has been proved groundless and in no manner have had any bearing on the murder.

Every possible phase of the case has been investigated and the only thing that appears so far to have any connection with the murder is the mysterious man who was seen at the Williams' store door the night of the tragedy, and whom the officers believe to be the person who fired the fatal shot. This mysterious man has apparently disappeared since he was last seen walking hurriedly down Millidge street towards Paradise Row. It was believed that after the description of the man was given in the Standard yesterday morning some person in the city or the outlying districts might have seen the man answering such description, but up to late last night no person had informed the police department that such a person had been seen.

Other than this mysterious individual there is no clue for the detectives to work on and unless something unforeseen happens the murderer of Harry L. Williams will still remain at liberty. Every effort at the disposal of Chief Simpson and his force is being made to locate this strange man. The city has been searched thoroughly and officers have scoured the surrounding country to learn if such a person had been seen but nothing new in the case has developed.

A Strange Acting Man.

A statement is given out by Joseph Flynn of Somerset street regarding the actions of a strange man on Rockland Road, near the iron railing leading up from Main street by Fort Howe. Mr. Flynn says that his wife and a couple of lady companions were walking up the street by the railing. A man hurried off Main street and accosted the women. He had a newspaper clipping in his hand and began to explain in a weird fashion the Williams' case and give reasons why murder mysteries could not be solved. He had a piece of paper on which were some figures and he explained that there were things on it which had made many homes unhappy. As the women started away from the strange acting man he said that he could stop them with one move of his finger.

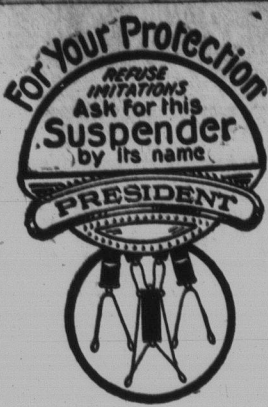

He is described as being a man of about six feet in height, wore dark clothes and a wide brimmed straw hat. The description tallies somewhat with that of the man who was seen on Magazine street shortly after Williams was murdered.

Seen on Union Street.

A business man stated yesterday that about fifteen minutes after midnight Tuesday, or three-quarters of an hour after the strange man was seen to leave Harry Williams' store door, he and his wife were crossing on the corner of Charlotte and Union street, they saw a man running quickly along Union street. When the man neared the corner of Union and Charlotte he stopped running and the last seen of him was walking quickly down Union in the direction of Waterloo street. The mysterious man is described as being about six feet tall, wore dark clothes of a brownish color and a wide brimmed hat.

Was It Same Man?

A citizen, who was in the North End shortly after 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, was accosted by a young man at the corner of Mill and Main streets, who wished to be directed to the North End. A peculiar thing in this connection was that the man had come down Main street, seemingly without realizing that his destination lay in the direction back of him. The citizen told him that if he retraced his steps he would reach the North End in a short time, and as he was walking the same way, he invited the stranger to accompany him. The man appeared to be about thirty years of age and he was of a swarthy complexion, dressed in dark clothes and talked with a slight foreign accent. As they walked up Main street the man kept up a constant flow of conversation, repeating himself several times. His talking was confined almost entirely to the fact that a short time previous, he had met a woman on the street, who asked him the whereabouts of her daughter, saying that she was on her way to the North End police station to make enquiries concerning her. He also said that he was employed at the Atlantic sugar refinery and was on his way back from a celebration at a friend's house. The two parties company at the corner of Elm street, the stranger continuing up Main street.

Enquiry at the North End police station revealed that Mrs. Wilkins came into the station about 12.30 Wednesday morning, therefore the young man must have accosted her before that time. If that is so the question arises as to what he was doing between the time that he met Mrs. Wilkins and the time that he accosted the man on the corner of Mill and Main streets, a period of approximately one and a half hours.

The Meat Store Affair.

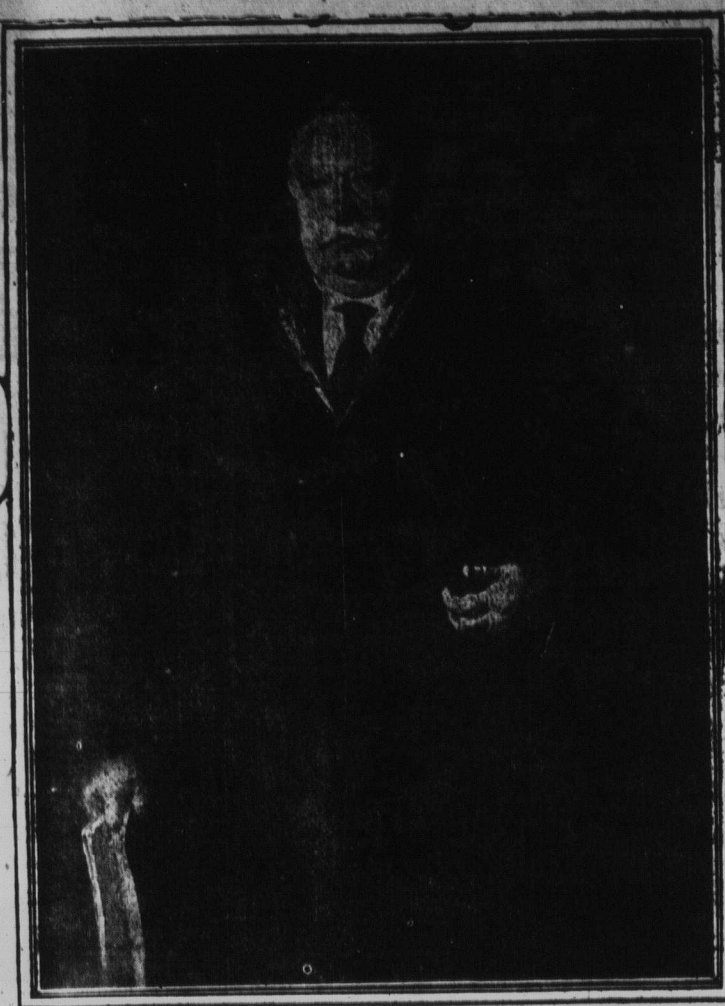

There was a report in the press yesterday that there was reason to investigate an alleged argument in the store of Harry L. Williams on Saturday night last. That two North End men stated that a discussion took place between the deceased and a customer, in regard to an order of meat; that a woman purchased the meat, and that the man returned with it, and in the argument angry words were used; that the murdered man was threatened but was not struck as he had a cleaver in his hand with which he was cutting meat.

This matter has been thoroughly investigated, and there is no truth in the report that Harry L. Williams was connected with it. There was an argument, and hot words were used, but the dealer was not Harry Williams and the affair did not take place in his store.

From good authority last night, it is learned that some meat was purchased in a Main street store by the wife of John Wilkins; that the purchase was not satisfactory, and John Wilkins returned the meat to the dealer, and requested that he be refunded his money. The dealer refused to pay back the money, and John Wilkins, in the exchange of words between the two men, but did not go farther.

When asked about the report last night, police officials who had investigated, stated that the exchange of About twenty minutes or a half hour washing Mr. Durick's windows. The witness said that he saw Mr. Hawkhurst go into the store, but he did not see him come out. He stated that he was on the street for about five minutes after Hawkhurst went in the store.

Mr. McGuire in conclusion said that he never knew of Mr. Williams being in his store so late unless it was on a Saturday night. His statement of leaving the store corroborated that of Leo McMinimen.

Coroner Kenney here stated that the inquiry would adjourn until Monday, August 20th.

words was not with Harry Williams, and was not in his store, but in a store further along the street.

Was Buried Yesterday.

The funeral of Harry L. Williams took place at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, from his late residence 146 Durham street, and was attended by a very large number of friends. The services at the home and grave were conducted by Rev. George Steele. During the course of the sermon Mr. Steele made mention of the high standing the deceased had in the community and how he would be missed by his wide circle of friends. Interment took place in Cedar Hill cemetery, and the floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

SUMMARY OF TRAGEDY.

At 3.10 Stanley Hawkhurst swore that the window blinds were up on Elm street and partly up on Main street.

At 11.20 Police Constable Jones says that the only blinds raised in the store were the door blinds, and they were up about fifteen inches.

Hawkhurst swore that he closed the door.

Detective Duncan found the door open about three inches. But one light was burning in the store the night of the crime, and it was near the place where the deceased was last seen standing.

At 11.55 body discovered by Leo McMinimen and James McGuire. About this time a man was seen by the above gentlemen on his way up Main street.

From 11 o'clock until 11.30 W. J. McGuire was engaged in washing Durick's windows, opposite Williams' store. He saw but one man go into the store, Mr. Williams' clerk.

Mr. McGuire did not hear any revolver shot.

Mr. McMinimen heard no commotion or any noise to arouse his suspicion.

ABBE BOND WINS BIG PACING EVENT

Columbus, Aug. 10.—Two very desperately contested races furnished the best thrills of the entire week on get-away-day of the grand circuit meeting here. The 2.18 pace, in which Marjorie Kay was a first choice, furnished the sensational work. Not until the end of the seven heats was Abbe Bond declared the winner over Robert Gatewood, the three-year-old pacer that Ed Geers gave his maiden race this afternoon. Both these horses were in a 47 field on a ticket worth $77.

The Weed won the first heat in 2.04.

The Nelhouse, 2.07 trot, purse $3,000, was won by Wilkes Brewer, the original favorite. In the 2.13 pace Butthale won his second race of the week. The last half of the first mile was paced in 59. The first half of the second heat was paced in 1.01 in this event.

A Mistake of Motorists
"One Tire is about as good as another"

Veterans know this is not true. The road-test has proved it wrong. If you are not riding on DOMINION TIRES, you will realize your mistake with the first set of "NOBBY TREADS" or "CHAIN TREADS" that you put on the car.

"NOBBY TREADS" are the heroes of the highway; as nearly puncture-proof as any tire can be; 100% motoring ease, pleasure and economy. Costing more to begin with, they give a net service in mileage and freedom from tire troubles, that make these "Aristocrats of the Road" the most economical on any car.

One tire isn't as good as another. DOMINION "CHAIN TREADS" are not as good as "NOBBY TREADS"—not as heavy; probably won't give the mileage; but then they don't cost as much. In their price-class, however, there is nothing to touch them for service.
