Mrs. A. E. Shaw was visiting friends in Chatham on Wednesday.

A most enjoyable evening was spent by those who attended the performance in the Orange Hall on Tuesday evening. At 5 o'clock a tempting supper was served by the ladies, and judging from remarks passed by their patrons, their efforts were successful and highly appreciated. The tables, which were decorated with flowers, rowan berries and green leaves and vines, and glistening with crystal and silver, presented a very delightful and inviting appearance. The menu left nothing to be desired. 350 persons partook of the supper.

At 8 o'clock Grand Master Heine conducted the ceremony of dedicating the Orange Lodge room, which was crowded with members of the order and visitors. At the close of this ceremony a public meeting was held in the large hall down stairs. Quite a large audience was present. Mayor Brown occupied the chair, and a good programme of vocal and instrumental music and addresses was carried out. Among the speakers were Grand Master Heine, Grand Treasurer Wadman and Master of Ceremonies J. W. Clark, all of Moncton. Also Rev. O. Steeves, D. Morrison and T. A. Clarke, of Newcastle. Mr. T. A. Clarke in his remarks said that the members of the Orange Lodge do not wish to hold their grand new hall all to themselves, but wished the citizens of the town to feel that it is theirs. And as they have had to call on the people for assistance and expect in future to have to call on them again sometimes for financial help, the members desire that the name of the building shall be changed and shall in future be called "The Newcastle Opera House." This statement received cheers from the audience.

Miss Edith McLean and Miss Maggie Elliot each sang a solo. Miss Elliot sang a second in response to an encore. A large choir sang a patriotic song, during which little Miss Alice Johnson and Master Jule McMurdo advanced to the centre and each held a flag, which they crossed and held up during the singing. Moncton, Oct. 21—Considerable speculation exists here as to whether Hon. A. G. Blair will be heard in Moncton before the campaign closes. It is admitted on both sides that Mr. Blair's presence here would have a great influence on the result. As in other parts of the province, the ex-minister of railways has very many admirers in Westmorland county and his resignation and reaffirmed opposition to the Grand Trunk Pacific has had a marked effect on the independent thinking people. The Conservatives hint that they have assurances that Mr. Blair will speak in Moncton while the Liberals state that he will not be heard in any part of New Brunswick during the present campaign.

The Conservatives are making elaborate preparations for Mr. Borden's meeting here on Monday night and the indications are that the meeting will be one of the largest ever held in the city. It was first proposed to hold the meeting in the Opera House but realizing that this would not accommodate the people who wish to hear the Conservative leader, if the weather proves fine, it has now been decided to hold the meeting in the curling rink. Excursions will be run from all parts of the county and a special train will be run from Buctouche. Both parties are now getting down to conducting a vigorous campaign. Several meetings are being held nightly by both sides in different parts of the county and the electors are being treated to plenty of oratory.

The police officers of the I. C. R. are now after the minister of railways for an increase of wages. A delegation of officers from different sections of the road was here yesterday pressing their claims and an immediate answer will be requested.

The machinists' union has not yet been able to obtain the concessions asked for. The committee is still working on the matter and urging upon Mechanical Superintendent Joughins the adoption of the investigation clause in the schedule. It has been given out that the matters in dispute have been arranged, but up to the present this is not the case and there may yet be some interesting developments. The minister is in a dilemma over the matter. He refused to grant this concession to the carmen and if he grants it to the machinists he will have that organization to reckon with. On the other hand, machinists claim that the wage schedule will not be adopted without the clause providing for investigation in case of dismissals.

P. S. Archibald, C. E., left this morning for St. John's (Nfld.), where he will be engaged on the arbitration in connection with the expropriation of the Reid telegraph system by the Newfoundland government. The other members of the arbitration board are Hon. Edward Blake and Donald MacMaster, K. C., of Montreal. Mr. Archibald was accompanied by Mrs. Archibald.

WOODEN PIPES FOR THE WATER SERVICE

SUPT. MURDOCH TALKS OF THE IRON PIPES RUSTING

"The combination of salt with vegetable matter," so Engineer Murdoch assured a Telegraph reporter the other evening, produces a very energetic acid which decomposes the iron water pipes, leaving only carbon through which the water easily bursts." In order to prove his words Mr. Murdoch lit his lantern and led the way to where in a corner of the yard lay the pipe that burst on the Marsh Road the other day. Mr. Murdoch took out his pen knife and easily scraped some particles off the broken edge of the iron. The iron presented a dull black surface and had nothing metallic in appearance.

"You will observe this hole in the surface," continued the engineer, "it is five-eights of an inch deep and I made it with a centre punch and a light hammer." Considering the length of main along the Marsh Road the reporter was a little dismayed. Visions of interminable expense bills rose before him and he anxiously inquired, "can nothing be done to protect these pipes or can no kind of pipe be laid which could resist the action of the salt." "Yes," said Mr. Murdoch, "wooden pipes are not affected by salt in any way. They will not rot and best of all they will always remain clean. I laid some wooden pipe at Spruce Lake and it has been very satisfactory. The kind of wood I used was two inch pine, made into what is known as the stave pipe hooped with iron rings. Electrolysis affects the iron pipes in the same way, the electricity decomposes the iron and leaves only carbon in its place.

Switching off to the Silver Falls pumping station Mr. Murdoch complained that some of the citizens seemed to think the venture a failure. At the time when the project was first proposed Mr. Murdoch said it was only a temporary measure. At that time there was a pressure of only 138 pounds in the city. He promised the citizens the new pump would increase that pressure by from twenty to thirty pounds. The record kept, however, shows the pump did better work than this. Some days the pressure has reached 197 and very seldom has it been below 185.

Reverting to the subject of wooden pipes, Mr. Murdoch said the cleanliness and immunity from being damaged by the action of salt were not the only good points as the cost was nearly one half that of the cast iron article.
