Tomorrow the expedition will be Drs. Ann and Wagner, who have heretofore assisted for the defense and who will now attempt to give an opinion on the case. Among the jury are Dr. Charles M. Grim, of Poughkeepsie (N. Y.), president of the New York Lunacy commission, and Dr. J. H. Gregory, superintendent of the psychopathic pavilion at Bellevue Hospital, this city.

Evelyn Nesbit's Alleged Affidavit
Mr. Jerome then proceeded to read to the jury the carbon copy of the affidavit. It was headed: "Supreme Court, County New York:

Thaw, defendant, who had been married to her first husband, John Thaw, before she was sixteen years old, having been born Christmas day, 1884. During June, 1903, she said, she went to Europe with her mother, at the request of Thaw. They remained in Paris for a time and then came to Boulogne. Miss Nesbit and her mother were the only persons who accompanied them. The defendant had never seen Mr. Fowler or his wife until they arrived in London. She said that she had never seen Mr. Fowler or his wife until they arrived in London. She said that she had never seen Mr. Fowler or his wife until they arrived in London.

BRYAN BOOM IN FULL SWING

The affidavit tells of Thaw having leased a castle in the Austrian mountains, where Miss Nesbit and he continued to live together as man and wife. While at the castle it is alleged that Thaw tore a cloth robe from the girl, and leaving her lately naked attacked her with a hide whip.

"I saw he was terrorized," said Miss Sbit, in the affidavit, "and his eyes were glaring. He threw me on my bed and when I started to scream, he put his hand over my mouth."

It is said to be the present plan of the to advance his own cause. It is the friend and admirers of the Ohio senator who have been mainly responsible for coupling his name and the occupancy of the White knocked down my throat and tried to choke me. Then upon my bare skin, he struck me several severe and violent blows with the cowhide whip. So brutally was I beaten that my skin was left bruised and cut.

After my first beating he attacked me again and for a period of several minutes beat me. He acted like a demented man. I screamed but we were far alone at the end of the castle and my cries could not be heard by the servants. When my family left me I was unable to move. The police officers, who had been waiting outside, will drop out of the race and advise their adherents to vote for Mr. Taft.

The boom of vice-president Fairbanks is having its own troubles. Those in charge of keeping the boom alive are beginning to realize that they got it under way too

The next day he repeated the attack on me unmercifully, beating me with whip until I was left fainting on the sidewalk. For three weeks I was so nervous and weak I could not leave my bed, but

From Austria we went to Switzerland where one day when I was in my night gown Thaw attacked me and beat me on my bare legs below the knee. He con-used on the slightest pretext to beat me. Afterward we went to Paris, where I saw for an entire day at intervals of half an hour beat me continually with a rattan whip. "He beat me each time until I was left

While in Paris, the invalid goes on, Mrs. Nesbit was extremely nervous and was confined to her bed for two weeks. Thaw made her write a letter to Miss Monteton asking her to go to London. When she arrived Thaw told her lies to kill her if I

In the affidavit Miss Nesbit accused Shaw of taking from her several rings and other pieces of jewelry, $400 in money and the shape of cooks' checks and a trunk of clothing and hats.

"When I came to America," the affidavit continues, "I had a letter to Mr. Longfellow from Mr. Thaw in which he asked Mr. Longfellow to have me followed by detectives, but to see that I have everything I wanted."

The concluding paragraph of the affidavit reads: "I have often been told by Mr. Thaw that he is inimical to a certain married man, whom he has often told he would make trouble for and put into the penitentiary. He several times ried to get me to sign papers accusing the agitation of the trade unions. I am a married man of drugging and ruining most safe in saying that if it had not been for the interest in this reform by the organizations, we might still be employing the old system of voting. If the labor union had never done anything else than that, the new British work would be the same."

As soon as Mr. Jerome had finished reading the affidavit he turned to the court and said, "People rest." Mr. Delmas at once produced a large book and a score or more of documents. "I offer in evidence the record of the "No objection," said Mr. Jerome. Mr. Delmas first read the indictment against Hummel charging him with the Dodge Morse divorce tangle. Passing from the indictment, Mr. Delmas read the

Long Slide to Deck.

Slipping while reefing the halyards of the schooner Priscilla, lying at Rowan's wharf, Indiantown, Calvin Granville, aged 27, fell 100 feet into the water.

Tried to Jump from Suspension Bridge.

Percy Grant, of Bangor, partly under eighteen, slid sixty-five feet to the deck Saturday morning and it was only by a miracle he escaped serious injury. He landed on his feet but the force of the fall was so great that he lost his balance and fell backward, striking his head.

Granville is a nephew of Capt. A. M. Granville, commander and owner of the Priscilla. His home is at Cumberland Head, Queens county.
