

to any one who has not (in the words of the Preface) "the leisure, nor the disposition, to study a large volume." A specimen of the style, and, if we may so say, of the common-sense mode of argument with which these differences are treated, may be found in the following passage:—

"I have no time to speak of many other abuses, or corruptions of truth, as the Romish doctrine of purgatory, indulgences, privileged altars, the multiplication of intercessors, the canonization of dead men. These we must pass with the simple question, Do they look like doctrines and practices drawn from Scripture, or from man's invention? Can anything of the sort, or approaching to it, be found in the writings of St. Paul, or of the other Apostles, or even of their successors, for three centuries at least? And if not, can those who have the open oracles of God in their hands, and the fullest means of ascertaining the primitive belief and practice of the Church, accept for Divine law such a mass of mere human traditions? But possibly this objection may be taken to the line of argument which I have adopted:—If (it may be said) the teaching of the Church of Rome vary in so many important particulars, not only from the standard of Scripture, but from the well ascertained practice of Christian antiquity, it cannot be difficult to convict it of such variations, and to show how and when the several innovations have been introduced. Now, this is precisely what has been done again and again; done, too, so completely and conclusively, that the most consistent and logical party of that communion have abandoned the ground of antiquity as indefensible, and have taken refuge in the modern theory of development. This is virtually a surrender of all just claim to Catholicity; it is admitting the existence of articles of belief which cannot be traced to the Primitive Church, and that the creed of Rome is no longer identical with that which was taught by the Apostles."

We will only add, that the Appendix contains a very well chosen collection of weighty and telling citations from Beveridge, Sanderson, Bull, Berkeley, Bunt, on each of the points handled. They are barbed weapons made to hand for instant use, by any one challenged to reply to a Romanist.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL For the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA and CONSUMPTION. The annals of medical science, affording as they do ample proof of the power and value of many medicinal agents, have furnished no examples to compare with the salutary effects produced by AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. DR. PERKINS, President Vermont Medical College, one of the most learned and intelligent physicians in the country, considers it a "composition of rare excellence for the cure of that formidable disease, Consumption." Norwich, April 26, 1846. Dr. J. C. Ayer—Dear Sir:—Agreeable to the request of your agent, we will cheerfully state what we have known of the effects of your CHERRY PECTORAL and they have been astonishing indeed. Mrs. Betsey Streeter had been afflicted with a severe and relentless cough, which reduced her very low; so low that little hopes could be entertained of her recovery. Numerous remedies had been tried without effect, before the CHERRY PECTORAL. And that has cured her. George Watkinson Esq., had to our knowledge been afflicted with Asthma for eleven years, and grown yearly worse, until the CHERRY PECTORAL has now removed the disease and he is as free from any of its symptoms as we are. The Rev. Mark Dane had been so severely attacked with the Bronchitis, as to disable him from his duties, and nothing had afforded him relief until I (Mr. Thorne) carried him a bottle of your PECTORAL, which cured him at once, and he now officiates as usual in his place. These are three of the cases in which we have known it successful, but never to fail. We have great pleasure in certifying to these facts; and are, respected sir, your humble servants, REV. DAVID THORNING, HON. JOSEPH BATTLES. Among the distinguished authorities who have given their names to recommend CHERRY PECTORAL, as the best remedy that is known for the Affections of the Lungs, are "The London Lancet," "Canadian Journal of Medical Science," "Boston Medical and Surgical Journal," "Charleston (S. C.) Medical Review," "New Jersey Medical Reporter," Prof. Bartlett, Transylvania University of Medicine, President Perkins Vermont Medical College, Dr. Valentine Mott, New York City Parker Cleveland, How doin College, Prof. Butterfield, Willoughby College, Ohio, Prof. Braithwaite, Leeds Medical School, Sir Richard Kane, Queen's College, Ireland, Prof. Rosenbaum, Leipsic. The public have but to know the virtues and astonishing success of the "CHERRY PECTORAL," in curing diseases of the Lungs, when they will feel secure from these dangers whenever this remedy can be obtained. PREPARED BY J. C. AYER, CHEMIST, LOWELL, MASS. Sold by Lyman & Kneeshaw, Toronto; Hamilton and Kneeshaw, Hamilton; Wm. Lyman & Co., Montreal, Agents for the Canadas.
