The Coal Barons Alarmed.

The New York Herald is informed from Wilkesbarre, in Pennsylvania, that the coal barons are really alarmed at the turn things are now taking. They see coming upon them, in the near future, a heavy adverse pressure from two quarters. First, from the miners, for an increase of wages; and, next, from public opinion, demanding that the strong arm of the state shall interfere to check their privileges of monopoly and extortion. It is beginning to be feared by them that the movement by Governor Pattison and Attorney-General Cassidy will prove no mere flash in the pan, but something that is "loaded," and that will hurt where it strikes.

A recent decision by the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania is held to mean that the fundamental law of the state against the absorption of competing railway lines will hereafter be enforced. But it means something more than this—something that may be enforced at common law, in Canada as well as in the States, let us add, and which may be thus briefly expressed. The courts will hold that all those companies that have accepted or have been profited in any way by any legislation, special or general, enacted since the adoption of the new constitution, are bound by its provisions, no matter though their charters do antedate that instrument. Right here a query suggests itself. Is there not a railway act upon the Canadian statute book, passed about the time of confederation, which if properly enforced would have as much effect here as the fundamental law of the State of Pennsylvania is expected to have there? This is something to be inquired into, we should say. Meantime it is said that the coal barons are already so much alarmed that they hesitate now to put in force an additional rise in prices, which they had before determined upon for the first of next month.

The attack made upon Mr. Gladstone by a family of wasps whose nest he had broken up in felling a tree, recalls a characteristic anecdote of an Irishman who espied, for the first time in his life, a wasp's nest suspended from the limb of a tree. Curiosity inspired him to knock down the queer structure, along with which came down a colony of yellow jackets, "like the wolf on the fold." As Pat tore across the field for dear life a passer-by hailed him: "What's the matter? What have you been doing?" "By jabers, I'm after been breaking into an Orange lodge!" Mr. Gladstone must have felt that he had disturbed a Tory convention.

The Mail complains that in Port Hope the Scott Act is enforced against Conservatives only, but consoles itself with the proverbial philosophy that "half a loaf is better than no bread." This will be good news for the loafers, but we never knew before that half loaves were put up in pint bottles.

It is a surprise to learn that Mr. Gladstone is practically a poor man, his long public and financially unprofitable career having made serious inroads upon his resources. He never seized any of his many opportunities to get rich, but freely spent and was spent in the public service. A Gladstone testimonial could easily be swollen to enormous dimensions, could he be got to consent to such a thing, but he has such high-strung notions that he has declined to even apply for the comfortable pension due to ex-members of the cabinet when they find themselves in straitened circumstances.

Ottawa is to—or ought to—have a branch of the St. Annanias Club, the parent lodge of which, at Topeka, Kansas, made Proph. Wiggins an honorary member the other day. Able journalistic disciples of the Saint will telegraph the proceedings to the United States papers, which will pay for them at the usual rates. It has been long felt that the Ottawa romancers lacked unity of purpose, but this new departure will remedy all that.

A proof that the color line is drawn elsewhere than at the extreme South is found in the fact that in Washington the two races drop off easily and naturally from one another in the matter of church membership. A New York paper describes the personnel of a colored Episcopal congregation in the capital city, which is ministered to by a white graduate of Trinity College, a man of culture and ability. There is also a large Catholic Church attended almost exclusively by colored people. This congregation has its wealthy class, its aristocracy, all the same as white congregations. Its colored choir is reckoned one of the best in the city, its masses are exceptionally well rendered and large numbers of whites are attracted by the special musical services. But the bulk of the colored population of Washington is made up of Methodists and Baptists. This separation of the races for religious purposes is said not to be productive of the slightest heartburning or jealousy, because it is voluntary, and thought best for both.

Frank Wilkeson, a well-known frontier literatteur, writes from Laramie that "the cattle business is played out" in the North Platte Valley, once famous for its cattle ranges. The winter storms are so severe that the loss and suffering upon the ranges are terrible, and forbid the profitable continuance of the industry. Similar evidence has been given by others as to the risks of cattle ranching in New Mexico, while the periodical droughts and deluges to which Texas and Kansas are subject make matters nearly as bad in those states. It is one of the discoveries of recent years that the best cattle ranges on the continent are to be found in the Canadian Northwest.

The Hamilton Spectator says that there are about to be erected in that city several new factories and extensions that will employ hundreds of additional hands, but the Times refuses to be comforted, because this sort of thing ruins its stories about the ruin wrought by the N. P.

The plea put in for one of the New York boodle aldermen is that he is crazy. No doubt his own private opinion is that if he had not been a foolhardy idiot he would have fled to Canada three months before he was arrested. Still we believe it is possible for aldermen to become insane. They often act that way.

The New York Staats Zeitung, organ of the Germans, antagonizes Henry George's candidature. An explanation of this rather unlooked-for opposition may be found in the fact that Mr. George is, as a Knight of Labor, practically committed to prohibition principles, which the majority of Germans are opposed to countenancing, either directly or indirectly. The united Irish and Germans have for years wellnigh controlled municipal matters in New York. The bulk of the Irish, Mayor Grace to the contrary notwithstanding, are for George, but if the Germans go for Hewitt the George boom will fail. The Zeitung's attitude is one of the most significant features of the campaign.

There are signs of something like a truce between the Irish landlords and their tenants, and the estates upon which evictions are being made are represented as few and exceptional. The action of one Mr. Scully in allowing heavy reductions because, as he states, he believes it to be his duty to share in the losses incidental to the prevailing depression in agricultural values, is one of the signs of a better state of feeling. It must also be accepted as an evidence that there is some foundation for the claim that rents are too high in at least some instances.

Mr. Mackenzie's Seat.

Editor World: I read with much pleasure the communication of "X." in your paper of this morning. I think the suggestion is a capital one.

Mr. Mackenzie has rendered signal service to the Reform cause of the Dominion, and is of all men the one for whom old-time Reformers would like to see provision made. His health, unfortunately, is greatly broken, and he is quite incapable of conducting a campaign against a comparatively young and active man such as Alfred Boultbee, who is well known to be one of the most indomitable workers in the Conservative party.

Moreover, the expense of a hotly-contested election should be spared Mr. Mackenzie, whose means are well known to be limited. East York was carried by Mr. Boultbee in 1878, and it is an open secret that considerable gain has been made by Mr. Boultbee on the voters' lists of this year—owing to his having given his personal attention to the matter. It is manifestly unfair, therefore, that the party should allow Mr. Mackenzie to fight a doubtful constituency with a prospect of defeat.

What will be thought of the Reform party and of those who control its destinies if a man so deservedly honored as Alexander Mackenzie should through any mischance be defeated at the next election? What I ask would be thought of the Conservative party if, the position being reversed, they were to allow their old-time leader Sir John Macdonald to take his chance in a doubtful constituency and he should be found left out in the cold? Why should the Reform party do that which their opponents would scorn to do? Then why should Mr. Mackenzie not be nominated for East Ontario? It is now represented by Mr. Edgar, whose services to the Reform cause and honest government are in no way to be compared to those of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, its late able and respected leader. That he still merits as he deserves to do the approbation of the present leader of the party is manifest from the recent remarks of Mr. Blake upon the subject. Let Mr. Blake now interfere and save his friend and former colleague and leader from even the chance of defeat and the Reform party from its consequent deep humiliation.

The Convention for West Ontario is announced by the Globe to take place on Wednesday. Time presses and action must be prompt if it is hoped to be successful. Should the view which I have endeavored to enunciate not commend itself to Mr. Blake, I trust it may have some effect upon the delegates to the convention.

If not the reproach will not be to the Conservative party for opposing Mr. Mackenzie in a constituency which they have a reasonable hope of carrying, but to the Reform party for not allowing him to go in unopposed in one in which no Tory need show his face.

A Testimonial From Pictou, N.S.
To the Agent ST. LEON WATER CO.:
PICTOU, N.S., August 19, 1886.
DEAR SIR.—For the last three years I have been a sufferer from Dyspepsia and Bronchitis, and after trying several remedies prescribed by the most expert physicians without reaping any benefit I was induced to give the St. Leon Water a trial. I have used it for the past few months as directed, and it is the first remedy that has given me any relief from the above complaints, and I have much pleasure in recommending it to any persons troubled in the same way.
Yours respectfully,
P. T. LEMAISTRE,
Master S.S. "Beaver."
