

if the repressions against the labor organizations continues so that these things cannot be ~~xxxxxxxx~~ accomplished the by/organizations. The argument will be something like this: the militia is called out to repress labor uprisings when they strike to achieve their demands, the legislature will not act, therefore it puts it up to labor to achieve these things by a vote of the people.

This of course means that another campaign of a year or more will be fought out in denunciation of the employers with the usual arguments of "the baleful interests of the absentee employer-- the Rockefeller interests."
