

OR-12

on final analysis, he might be regarded as favoured if anything, through his personal friendship with Dr. Arnold, though, I understand, they worked in opposite political camps, in these adjoining areas in Saskatchewan.

5

(31) The next medical official to be mentioned is Dr. James, -- another Liberal -- in the G.U. Clinic. He was given notice as "Surplus to Requirements in 1920 by Dr. Nettleton, then Unit Medical Director. Protests to Dr. Nettleton proving unavailing, Dr. James carried his complaint to Ottawa and succeeded in securing continuance with the D.S.C.R. for sometime, until he was finally let-out, in spite of his protests, as "surplus to requirements".

10

(32) Another medical official is Dr. R.W. Halliday, also a Liberal. He was engaged on psycho-therapy work. That dwindled until the need ceased for a medical ~~man~~ man and a masseur was put in charge.

15

(33) Dr. Wallace, another Liberal, is the next retirement he mentioned. Being up in years and with a large family and no outside practice, Dr. Wallace strongly protested against being let out as "surplus to requirements". I am informed he exercised all the influence he could through his Hamilton Friends but without avail. As far as I can learn this was really a sad case and when I remember how much effort has been spent in keeping other officials earning a livelihood in the D.S.C.R. I feel Dr. Wallace could fairly claim more consideration, in view of his age and

20

25

30