RADIOL TREATMENT
prolongs the life of a horse's legs. Completely removes by radiation all soft swellings that disfigure and lame a horse, as Sprained Tendons, Windgalls,
Bag Spavins, Capped Elbow,
Big Leg, Enlarged Glands, etc. No Blister; No Laying Up; No Hair Removed. RADIOL TREATMENT fines down

a worn horse's legs, and is a certain cure for puffy joints and Sprains, Prevents Filled Legs. An intelligent use of the "RADIOL LEG WARH" counteracts that daily wear and tear of the legs unavoidable with the horse in constant work, whether training, racing or on the road.

One flask of "Radiol" will make a gallon of valuable leg wash.

Dear Sirs.—I have found Radiol very effective in reducing capped hocks and similar enlargements on horses legs, and I, therefore, consider your claim that it is a necessary stable requisite quite genuine.

Yours faithfully, W. M. PRICE, Estate Manager to the Earl of Minto, Howick, N. B., England.

OUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Veterinary.

APOPLEXY.

Pig, three months old, began to take fits a few days ago. When it commences to eat, it apparently chokes, falls over, breathes hard for a time, and then gets A. J.

Ans .- This is apoplexy, due to want of exercise and too much to eat. Purge it with two ounces Epsom Salts. Feed on milk, bran, and raw roots for a few weeks, and see that it gets regular exercise.

ECZEMA.

Collie dog has offensive smell. He appears itchy and licks himself, but there are no sores or rash. C. E.

Ans.-Your dog has eczema. Take a tin of Gillett's lye, dissolve it in water, add four pounds sulphur, with brisk stirring, then add water to make a barrel. Heat a sufficient quantity of this to about 105 degrees Fahr., and give the dog a thorough bath. After the bath, rub him well and keep comfortable until dry. Feed on light food, with little meat. Repeat the bath once weekly as often as necessary.

BOG SPAVIN AND CURB.

Five-year-old horse has a bog spavin and a curb on the same hock. tered him for this trouble when two years old. He goes lame for a short distance after starting. J. H. W.

Ans.—As blistering failed to effect a cure when he was a two-year-old, it would not be wise to waste time and money in trying it again. Get your veterinarian to fire and blister him. This will probably remove the lameness, but it is not probable the enlargements can be removed after three years' standing.

UNDESIRABLE HABIT.

When standing in the stable, my 4-yearold gelding elevates his tail, steps up with hind feet, and voids a small quantity of urine so forcibly that you would think it was propelled with considerable force from behind. He does this very frequently. I noticed the same habit last winter. When in harness he does not do so, and after a drive he voids urine in a normal manner and in a normal quantity. He was on pasture all summer and the habit was not noticed, but I noticed it as soon as he was brought to the stable R. W. F. in the fall.

Ans.—This is a habit, probably contracted while standing in the stable for considerable time without exercise. The fact that it is not practiced when in harness, or on pasture, indicates that it is a habit, and not due to disease. If there be any irritation of the urinary organs, the administration of 11 ounces the tincture of hyoscyamus of cold water as a drench, twice daily, for a few days, should relieve it, but I am of the opinion there is no organic derangement.

BROKEN WIND-UNTHRIFTY COLT.

1. Horse had distemper last July. He still breathes heavily, and heaves at the flank and coughs.

2. Six-months-old colt is not doing well. His appetite is poor. He will eat a couple of handfuls of oats, a little clover hay, and a little stock food, but does not eat enough. S. T. M.

Ans.-1. If he really has heaves, a cure cannot be effected. The cough can be checked by giving him every morning a hall composed of 2 drams solid extract of belladonna, 11 drams gum opium, 20 grains digitalis, and 1 dram camphor. Add sufficient oil of tar to make plastic, roll in tissue paper, and administer, or mix with a pint of warm water and give as a drench. Feed limited quantities of hay of first-class quality, and liberally on oats of good quality. Dampen all he eats with lime water.

2. Take 1 oz. each of sulphate of iron, gentian, ginger, and nux vomica. Mix and make into 24 powders. Give a powder three times daily. Discontinue the stock food. Feed liberally on rolled oats, bran, and good hay, and give a carrot or turnip daily, and see that he gets regular exercise.
