Tuberculin Test Waived on Canadian Cattle for the U. S. Exhibition.

Under authority conferred upon the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, by Regulation 39 of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Order 180, "Regulations for the inspection and quarantine of horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and other animals imported into the United States," the requirements of Regulation 38, of Order 180, are hereby waived for cattle to be imported from Canada temporarily for exhibition purposes at the International Live-stock Exposition, to be held at Chicago, Ill., from November 30 to December 7, 1912.

The provisions of said Regulation 39 shall be strictly applied to the cattle covered by this order. Regulation 39 reads as follows:

Regulation 39.—The Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry may, however, by written order, waive the foregoing tuberculin-test requirement for cattle which are to be imported temporarily for exhibition purposes, provided such cattle are accompanied by a satisfactory certificate of tuberculin-test by a veterinarian in the employ of and receiving a salary from the Canadian Government, made not more than six months previously, and an affidavit by the owner or importer stating that the said certificate of tuberculin-test refers to the cattle in question. Any such cattle which are not sold to remain in the United States shall be returned immediately to Canada at the close of the exhibition. The Department must be notified of any Canadian cattle which will remain in the United States, not tested as required by Regulation 38, and the tuberculin-test will be applied to them by an inspector of this Department before shipment to destination. All cattle, sheep, and swine, intended for exhibition purposes must be shipped directly to the exhibition grounds, and must not be unloaded in any public stock yards.

A. D. MELVIN,
Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

To Prevent Chapped Skin

—use warm water and Baby's Own Soap.

The warm water opens the pores of the skin and the minute particles of pure refined vegetable oils which form the creamy, fragrant lather of Baby's Own Soap are absorbed into the skin, keeping it soft, healthy, and preventing cracks and chaps.

A perfect rinsing, then smart rubbing when drying guarantees a fine smooth skin in any weather.

GOSSIP.

At the tender age of three, masculine conceit had gripped that small boy with a relentless clutch. He had kissed a little girl of three, and she was rubbing her lips vigorously. "You musn't do that again," said the boy's mother. "She doesn't like it. Just see how hard she is trying to rub your kiss off." "Oh, no she ain't," said the boy. "She's rubbin' it in."

A certain man who had been invited to speak at a political meeting was placed last on the list of speakers. Moreover, the Chairman introduced several speakers whose names were not on the program, and the audience was tired out when he eventually introduced the last speaker: "Mr. Bones will now give us his address." "My address," said Mr. Bones, rising, "is 551 Park Villa, and I wish you all good-night."

In a change of advertisement recently received from the Avondale Farm of A. C. Hardy, of Brockville, Ont., an attractive offering is made of a limited number of females, bred to the great Prince Hengerveld Pietje and King Pontiac Artis Canada, two of the most illustrious-bred bulls of the breed. A very reasonable price will be quoted for these heifers in order to make room for new arrivals, a fact that should be kept in mind by parties looking for breeding and production in Holsteins. A few choice Dorset Horned rams are also offered at attractive prices.

CORRECTION.

In the report of the swine exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, in the class for other distinct breeds, championship for best sow, any age, was credited to the Duroc Jersey entry of Mac Campbell & Sons, of Norwood, Ont. This was an error, as the sow championship went to the Poland China sow, Dorothy 2108, owned and exhibited by Geo. G. Gould, of Edgar's Mills, Ont.

THE SPICE OF LIFE.

"Here I am," said the returned wanderer, "back with the fortune I said I would make, and ready to pay the mortgage off the farm!"

"Ef that ain't hard luck!" exclaimed the father. "As times are goin' now, that mortgage ain't botherin' nobody. I'd a heap rather have seen you broke an' ready to do regular work for wages."

Her hat was a gorgeous creation. It was the very latest—the golden pheasant dream, twin brother to the Chanticleer nightmare. She sat in the second row of the stalls. "Pardon me, madam," said the man behind her, "I cannot see the stage." She answered not. "Excuse me," continued the miserable worm, "will you kindly remove your hat?" The twenty-guineas-worth stuck to its perch. "Madam," declared the persistent creature sternly, "if you do not take off your hat at once I'll—I'll shoot it!"

A witness in a railroad case at Fort Worth, asked to tell in his own way how the accident happened, said:

"Well, Ole and I was walking down the track, and I heard a whistle, and I got off the track, and the train went by, and I got back on the track, and I didn't see Ole; but I walked along, and pretty soon I seen Ole's hat, and I walked on, and seen one of Ole's legs, and then I seen one of Ole's arms, and then another leg, and then over one side Ole's head, and I says, 'My God! something muster happen to Ole!'"

Uncle Daniel Dewberry wandered around the big department store, idly watching the scintillating colors of the electric fountain.

"Well, sir," said the clerk suavely, "what can I do for you?"

"I want a toothbrush," began Uncle Daniel, and then, before he could say any more, the clerk was tumbling down boxes like circus tents at a one-night stand.

"Yes, sir; you want the latest Parisian importation with the removable handle?"

"No, bub; I—"

"Ah, I see! You want the Japanese special—antiseptic bristles—"

"No; I—"

"Ah, how stupid of me! You want a toothbrush for the madam—"

"Will you please—"

"Oh, for the baby, eh? Well, here's a peach, the 'baby grand.' We—"

Uncle Daniel brought his horny fist down on the counter.

"Young man," he thundered, "let me say a word! I want a toothbrush for our old cow. These pasteurized, hygienic, antiseptic dairies are using them, and we want to be up-to-date, too, be gosh!"

And then the clerk collapsed.
