POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT OTTAWA, CANADA. Inquiries having been received in regard to postage stamps being used for the preparation of war duties on bank cheques, bills of exchange, promissory notes, express money orders, proprietary or patent medicines, perfumery, wines or champagnes, as well as upon letters and postcards, postal notes and post office money orders, notice is hereby given that this use of postage stamps is in strict accordance with the provisions of the special War Revenue Act, 1915, which provides that postage stamps may be used in lieu of inland revenue war stamps in fulfillment and discharge of any requirement under the Act that adhesive stamps be affixed.

The public is at liberty at all times to use postage stamps for any purpose for which inland revenue war stamps are used, but it is especially provided in the Act that inland revenue war stamps are not to be used on letters, postcards, postal notes or Post Office money orders, the only stamps allowed on these being ordinary postage stamps or postage stamps upon which the words "War Tax" have been printed.

"Show me a man of forty," says Will Irwin, "and you show me a victim of carelessness. A man called Oeler won a knighthood by calling the Man of forty 'too old.' It should have been 'too dyspeptic.' From drug store he ricochets to doctor blaming the weather, the money market, the trusts or Teddy for what is really due to Little Mary. Your middle-aged man is at his worst when on his travels—his only exercise a sad procession to and from the dining car."

Another William is of the same opinion. Mr. W. A. Cooper, who claims that among other things he provides three million meals a year to travellers on the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Cooper is not a philosopher, but a practical man, and in his own way set out to investigate and solve this problem. He wrote to, or consulted personally, the leading stomach specialists in Europe, the United States and Canada. What he wanted was the Happy Traveller on his dining cars, who would really enjoy the three million meals on which his chefs spent so much trouble.

Was the Man of Forty hopeless? The specialists pocketed their fees and gave Mr. Cooper not quite three million. The Wiesbaden man said this, the Paris man said that, the London man said something else, the New York man had another cure, while the Battle Creek man was in a class by himself. Yet when their opinions came to be analysed they all had one common point of view, namely, that the foods consumed in any meal must be properly blended. Everyone who has survived the ordeal knows that it is a mistake to wash down oysters with brandy. Quite a number feel unhappy after a mixture of lemonade and ice-cream. Table beer may be good in itself, but not if followed by a cup of cocoa. In a word, the foods must blend in a class by themselves. Yet when their opinions came to be analysed they all had one common point of view, namely, that the foods consumed in any meal must be properly blended.

ed to the sorrowing friends in their sad bereavement. The funeral services were held on Thursday and were largely attended. They were conducted by Rev. Mr. Berry of Eastport, Me.

MISS MARGARET L. FINLAY After a long and painful illness of several months which she bore with great bravery and fortitude, Miss Margaret Loyola Finlay passed away in St. Stephen Tuesday afternoon, April 27. She was the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Finlay, and was but thirty-four years of age. She was always bright and cheerful, and had many friends, and her death is a great sorrow and regret to all who knew her. The funeral service was held from the Church of the Holy Rosary on Thursday afternoon. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Clifford Hanley, George Boyd, Alec Boyd and Irving. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, sent in kindest sympathy by her friends.

MR. J. STEWART TUPPER, K. C. Mr. James Stewart Tupper, K. C., whose death occurred last week in England, was the eldest son of Sir Charles Tupper, Bart. He was born at Amherst, N. S., in 1881, and educated at McGill University. He practised law for a time in Toronto, but moved to Winnipeg in 1902, where he has since resided. He was a prominent figure in law circles in his adopted province and on a number of occasions acted as counsel before the Privy Council in England.

The older residents of St. Andrews will remember Mr. Tupper very well, as he used to spend his summers here with his father, before Sir Charles sold his property in Lion, Robt. McKay.

Mr. Tupper was the heir to his father's baronetcy, and as he was the son of Sir Charles Tupper, who was born in 1884, becomes the heir, Sir Charles Tupper, 1st Baronet, in 1921, and is therefore in his 95th year.
