

Baby Are Tied to Ship's Mast.

Woman and child Saved from Sinking Vessel After Thrilling Experience in Gale.

Boston, Sept. 19.—Lashed with her babe to the topmast of a sinking schooner, 120 feet above a raging sea off Cape Hatteras, and expecting death momentarily during a ninety-mile gale that lasted three days, is the thrilling experience told by Mrs. T. Jefferson Griffen of 394 A Highland avenue, Malden, who has just returned to her home with her husband and 2-year-old daughter Muriel after a voyage on the schooner George W. Wells, wrecked off Cape Hatteras Sept. 3.

Mrs. Griffen, with her husband and daughter, boarded the schooner at Charlestown for a trip to Fernandian, Fla. The voyage proved delightful until Cape Hatteras was reached when a terrific hurricane struck the vessel. Every conceivable precaution was taken by the crew, but the ship wallowed frightfully in the towering seas which broke over her from stem to stern. In a last desperate effort to save the lives of the passengers and crew the ship was headed for the shore. The rudder was smashed by a gigantic comb and the vessel sprung a leak. The pumps were manned, but the ship steadily settled in the boiling seas.

In what they considered a last desperate effort to save their lives and the life of their daughter Muriel, Mr. and Mrs. Griffen climbed the main mast of the ship with their little daughter lashed to Mrs. Griffen's back. The three swayed frightfully through the air while rockets and signals of distress shot by them, fired by the crew of the ship from the deck below. The revenue cutter Onondaga sighted the foundering ship and arrived just in time to remove the passengers and crew to safety.

THE MASON & RICH THE ROYAL PIANO

LISTEN TO THE VOICE FROM WINDSOR CASTLE

1886 It is well known that during the memorable "Colonial and Indian" Exhibition held in London, in 1886, the Mason & Rich Piano Company were honored with instructions to send one of their Upright Pianos (then on exhibition) to Her Majesty the Queen at Windsor Castle.

1899 In 1899, the Kaiser William, of Germany, was the guest of Her Majesty at Windsor Castle. The Art and Society Paper, "The Sketch," thus refers to the apartments in the Castle assigned to the Emperor's use: "The beautiful suite of rooms, occupied by the Emperor, is known as the 'Tapestry Suite,' and is exclusively reserved for the use of foreign sovereigns."

"In the sitting-room stands the Prize Piano, shown at the last 'Colonial and Indian' Exhibition, made by Mason & Rich, of Toronto, Canada. When it is remembered that the Emperor's preference is an excellent musical instrument, and is, moreover, a most fastidious musical critic, it can be confidently assumed that no instrument could be assigned for his use unless possessing exceptionally fine tone and other qualities."

When it is further remembered that there are numerous pianos in Windsor Castle to choose from, by the world's most eminent makers, it is no slight honor and distinction for this Canadian instrument to have been detailed for so important and distinguished a position.

1913 And the Mason & Rich is now a better made, a better toned, a better known and a better appreciated piano than ever. We shall be glad to talk over the Mason & Rich Piano with you—either personally or by mail. We want to tell you why the Mason & Rich is such a favorite with those who "know" a good piano.
