day morning last, as suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia, we left the office and started out to get some of the bracing and invigorating autumn air. The thought of the cold, bleak winter that will shortly be upon us, made us shiver, and instinctively we thought of the thousands to whom the cold of our northern winter came with feelings of dread. How natural it is, for all who are able to make preparation beforehand, to protect themselves In the Best Possible Manner and on Reasonable Terms.

fair, and gave promise of a highly son, John Raison, John Pattimore heifer calf, Alex. Atcheson, John successful second day. Over 1,400 entries were made with the secretary, and when all the exhibits were placed in position they made a display which was well worth seeing, and which reflected credit upon the sturdy farmers who identify themselves with this fair, and upon their wives and daughters, whose display of fancy work and domestic manufactures was so extensive and interesting. Our space does not admit af any detailed description of the exhibits, and we are are obliged to content ourselves with the publication of the prize list, which we begin in this issue, and shall conclude next week. The display of cattle was especially fine, particularly in Shorthorns and Jerseys. Grain, vegetables, etc., were displayed in great profusion. and were of a quality to demand the admiration of all who saw them. The attendance of visitors at the fair was good, and would have been larger but for the Gananoque races which took place on the same date, Much interest was taken in the Delta Trotting Association races, which were successfully carried out. In the green race Doctor George took first, Limber Jim second, and Queen S. third. The race for three minute horses was well contested. Results Judge James first, Barney R. second Limber Jim third. On the second day the interest in the races was greatthan on the first, and, as on the first day, the heats were all trotted to win. Nettletop took first in the 2:30 class, with Maud E. second and Judge

James third. The free-for-ill rac was hotly contested. Little Vic tool first money, Nettletop second, and There was an exciting game of basea friend to us on the street, on Tuesball played between the Lyndhurst and Harlem teams, resulting in a victory for the former by a score of 30 to
