STEER CLEAR OF ARMAMENTS

Peace Conference Are Afraid To Discuss The QuestionCzar's Treachery Is The Cause Of Great
Uneasiness

The Hague, June 18.—Although the "Pacific" still insist that the question of the limitation of armaments must be raised in some form before the adjournment of the peace conference, the last chance of any government coming forward to openly propose the discussion, has disappeared with the knowledge that the Government of the United States considers that the initiative belonged to Europe and not to America.

M. Nelidoff's depressing utterances at the opening of the conference, coupled with the unfortunate dissolution of the Douma at the very moment the conference had assembled, have produced many expressions of regret that President Roosevelt yielded the initiative of the second conference to Emperor Nicholas. The correspondent of the Associated Press has heard dozens of delegates speculating on the differences in effect which would have been produced had the keynote been sounded by a country inspired by democratic tendencies.

At matters now stand, neither England, nor any of her continental friends, are ready to move lest the mere suggestion of debating the question of the limitation of armaments inject a spirit of discord, which would endanger the useful work achievable and possibly break up the conference under circumstances which would postpone another conference indefinitely.

The dissolution of the Douma, with its possible consequences, continue to absorb as much attention as the prospects of the conference, and there is considerable speculation as to whether public sentiment may not force Great Britain to change her present attitude. Many stupid stories are being circulated to the effect that Great Britain or America may raise the matter in the conference.

Russians to Appeal.
A serious report alleges that some members of the late Russian Parliament are on their way to The Hague, to appeal to the conference. Their appearance here, clamoring to be heard, which manifestly is impossible, would be regarded as extremely deplorable by those who believe the conference should avoid everything likely to precipitate a conflict, and confine itself strictly to progress along the lines of the original assembly.

THE WEED NUISANCE

Several vacant lots on Victoria avenue are being neglected and complaints have arisen. The grass has grown until it is almost hay, and the weeds have not been idle. This should be looked after, and if the property owners do not attend to it the city should, and charge it up to the property. Another thing quite noticeable on both sides of the river is the difference between people who occupy property. One man will do everything in his power to cultivate his little piece of land and keep down weeds; while his next door neighbor allows his land to grow a splendid crop of weeds, the seed of which will in due time be gently wafted over to the hard-working man's lot, causing him constant worry and extra labor. This is not just on the part of the man who willfully neglects his place.

THRILLING FEATURES OF CIRCUS

The Somersaulting Auto Is The Greatest Act Ever
SeenThe Fire Fighting Scene Is One Of The Special Big Features

Chatham is to-day enjoying the performances of one of the largest circuses in the world, the Forepaugh-Sells Brothers' show. It is indeed a mammoth amusement entertainment and the parade to-day was perhaps the longest, the best and most interesting of any like event in the city.

The circus has some very thrilling features. The one which stands out prominently as the greatest novelty of the age is that entitled, "Beyond the Limit." It is the somersaulting automobile, and as a nerve thriller is unequalled by any act ever performed. The automobile runs up an incline until it is 45 feet in the air, with the attractive Mlle. Yvonne Lerocq, the heroine of this marvellous act, coolly seated in the auto. When released it shoots out and at a height of 45 feet above the ground dips forward, and executes a complete somersault, then lands on the platform prepared for it and rolls away. Mlle. Lerocq is a pretty, young French girl and an enthusiastic automobilist. When the auto starts on its upward climb it is said that the silence in the great tent is so extreme that a pin can be heard to drop.

Another hair-raising scene, true to life in every respect, is the great spectacle, "Fighting the Flames." Five hundred people are necessary to give the street scene in this act alone. As the life of a great city is pictured to the observer, a fire breaks out in the hotel. The four fire companies with the show respond to an alarm and the life-saving scenes by means of ladders and nets are thrilling.

At one time in this big circus 15 acts may be seen going on at the same time, but when the feature acts are put on the number is limited so that all may see them. There are three rings and two stages, and 900 people are necessary to give the performance. The Zoo with the circus is excellent and numbers among its features a three-ton hippo-otamus and a fourteen-foot giraffe.

The evening performance begins at 8 o'clock. The canvas is perfectly waterproof, and in case of rain no inconvenience or discomfort will result to patrons.

TRIED TO SAVE COMPANION.

Drawn Into a Hole Near the Rapids and Drowned.

Ottawa, June 18.—While attempting to save a companion who had fallen into a hole near the Rapids, a young man, Joseph Laviolette, aged 21 years, of St. Charles, was drowned Sunday evening in Poves Creek, a little below Rockland.

The name of his companion was Lamoureux, a fellow employee on the Canadian Northern, who was unable to swim. He got beyond his depth, and, calling for help, Laviolette went out to him with a stick. Lamoureux caught hold of it, and in his struggles pulled Laviolette in.

The latter got into a hole near the rapids, and, not being a swimmer, soon was drowned.

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF MURDER.

Fatally Shot His Wife After Annoying
a Maid Servant.

New York, June 18.—Dr. Samuel S. Guy, a Far Rockaway dentist, was placed on trial in the supreme court at Flushing, L. I., yesterday, charged with having murdered his wife at their home last April. Mrs. Guy came into a large fortune at the death of her father, B. S. Mott, two years ago.

It is alleged Guy came home after having been drinking and began to annoy a servant. When Mrs. Guy intervened there was a quarrel and Mrs. Guy was fatally shot. The doctor is 50 years old. His wife was 63.

Eleven jurors had been secured when court adjourned till to-day.

FARM HAND KNOCKED OUT.

Safe Broken Open and $1,000 Cash
With Jewelry Stolen.

Mincola, L. I., June 18.—The Oswald farmhouse, on the old Jericho Turnpike, between this place and Westbury, was the scene on Sunday of one of the boldest robberies in years.

The thieves drove up to the farmhouse in a red touring car, knocked down Herman Schwesler, a farm hand, forced several ounces of chloral down his throat, then broke open a safe and carried off $1,000 in cash and several pieces of valuable jewelry.

The people who are at odds naturally try to get even.

ROUTINE DOINGS OF CITY COUNCIL

Tenders Will Be Asked For
On The Civic
DebenturesGrist Of Small Matters
Considered By Aldermanic
Board

The meeting of the City Council last night was rather longer than usual, but a considerable amount of routine business was considered.

The Chatham Motor Car Company wrote petitioning to have the new pavement on Adelaide street built right up to the sidewalk on the east side of the street, and that the poles on the east side be moved over to the west side, so as not to interfere with the pavement. — Board of Works.

The Chatham Motor Car Company drew attention to the fact that they had received no concessions from the city for establishing a good, paying industry here. They asked that they be given a reasonable remittance of tax for a period of ten years, also free water for ten years. — Industrial committee.

The Secretary of the Board of Trade wrote requesting that the Council set aside $200 for the use of the Board of Trade. On motion of Ald. Westman and Ald. Austin, the request was granted.

The Standard Bank of Canada notified the Council that henceforth all city debentures would be carried at the rate of five and one-quarter per cent. instead of four and one-half and four and three-quarter per cent. as formerly. On motion of Ald. Austin, the Finance committee were empowered to ask for tenders for supplying the city with funds, from all the other banks in the city, the tenders to be in the hands of the committee not later than June 25.—Carried.

Mayor Stone drew the attention of the Board of Works to the fact that complaints have been made to the effect that some of the granolithic walks laid this year are not satisfactory to the ratepayers. He asked the Board of Works to investigate this matter before the contractors are paid in full for the work.

A communication from Clarence Barfoot stating that he gave his consent that the contract price for the electric wiring in the market building should be paid over to F. H. Briggs, was referred to the Property committee.

A letter was received from Wilson, Pike & Company stating that they had omitted to forward the Council part of their account for last year as City Solicitors. The bills amounted to $100.96, and was referred to the Finance committee.

In view of a request from Hugh Gallagher, it was moved by Ald. Benson, seconded by Ald. Westman, that the Orangemen be granted the use of the two city parks for their celebration here on July 12, and that on this occasion they be given the freedom of the city.—Carried unanimously.

The Pere Marquette picnicers requested the services of the band free of charge on the occasion of their outing here. It was moved by Ald. Westman and Ald. Massey, that the Industrial committee be empowered to engage the band for the day for the use of the visitors.—Carried.

The executors of the Robertson of Innes estate wrote objecting to the C. W. & L. E. placing their tracks on the west side of Queen street in front of their property, and they asked that the Council rescind the motion granting the railway the privilege of running along that side of the street. This matter was left in abeyance for the present, and will be taken up at a later meeting.

Ald. Austin's report for the Finance committee, recommending that the Retail Merchant's petition for change in assessment from 35 to 30 per cent., be referred to the Court of Revision, was adopted.

Ald. Kerr, for the Parks and Cemeteries Committee, recommended that one-half of the trees on the cemetery road be cut down for the benefit of the roadway, and that the graves in the cemetery be all graded to the level of the walks. The whole report was laid over till a later meeting, and in the meantime a committee of the whole Council will visit the cemetery to investigate conditions.

Ald. Massey's report for the Railway Committee, in which he recommended that the railway company put down three 16-foot crossings in front of the Whalen estate on Queen St., was adopted.

The Mayor drew the attention of the Board of Works to the delay in completing the pavement on St. Clair street, and asked that this work be hastened as much as possible.

It was moved by Ald. Austin, seconded by Ald. Westman, that the $53,000 debentures for the C. W. & L. E. loan be extended one year.—Laid.

Ald. Potter moved, seconded by Ald. Austin, that the Property Committee be empowered to ask for ten.

DR. HOLMES TELLS OF TRIP TO EGYPT

St Andrews To Hear Address—Fine ProgramEntertainment In Aid Of The Public General Hospital

One of the season's most interesting entertainments was held last evening in the school room of St. Andrews' church. The hospital society were successful in getting Dr. T. K. Holmes to give an address, and the Ladies Assisting Society provided the musical program.

The opening number was a violin selection by Everard Gordon, and was given in his usual good style. Mrs. Milton Bogart sang very sweetly, after which Miss Verna Sheldon gave a reading with piano accompaniment, played by Miss Edith Hall. Miss Sheldon is a promising elocutionist, her gestures being of the best to bring out the various expressions. Mrs. Wier also sang a solo. Mrs. Wier is a talented Scotch singer, who is the guest of Mrs. Robert Gray. Miss Flossie Bogart played the accompaniments for the evening.

Dr. T. K. Holmes was next called upon, and after thanking the ladies for their kind invitation, and also the audience for turning out so well, thus encouraging the ladies in the work they have so much at heart, he delivered a lecture on "Egypt, the land of Pyramids," which did him honor. He spoke of his early interest for the country and through constant reading he inculcated a desire to see it, and never before was able to do so until this year. His trip was a very pleasant one, and as he continued his address he spoke of the various places they touched before reaching Alexandria, which is situated at the mouth of the Nile in Egypt. He sketched briefly the geography of Egypt, giving boundaries, etc., and stating that it was 500 miles wide and about 400 miles in length. On the whole it is not of much value, a strip of land along the Nile about two miles wide, each side is of the highest agricultural value. A barren waste is on the east and the great Sahara is on the west, and there is no prospect for it ever to be anything but a great sandy desert. He said, "In speaking of Egypt I mean the fertile part or the valley of the Nile."

"On the 10th of March I landed at Alexandria and found the climate to be very mild and necessitating a light overcoat. It was not so oppressively hot as I had supposed it to be. A gentleman in going over warned me that the intensely hot winds were generally cold winds, and advised me to take sufficient clothes. I found his advice to be correct and was very glad of it."

"The lands along the mouth of the Nile are not attractive, as there are so many branches and channels forming its great mouth. We next visited the city of Cairo, which has a population of about 5,000 inhabitants. For the first fifty miles the country leading to it is a sandy waste where a few cactus and shrubs grow. Beyond that the country is the most fertile and productive I have ever seen. It seldom rains, and occasionally they have a shower at Alexandria, but further down the Nile they never have rains. The crops are produced by a system of irrigation. About every half mile we saw a great wooden wheel on which were tied earthen jugs. The wheel is driven by an ox or in revolving carries up buckets of water which are tipped into a large spout. This spout leads to the various furrows and ditches of the country, thus moistening the ground. The crops are more luxuriant than they would be if dependent on rain. The people are able to maintain the fields at any time and thus no danger of drouth is feared."

The houses were the next to be mentioned. They were constructed of mud, and in appearance were like a beehive. The houses were not distributed, but may be seen in groups of 50, 100. They have no windows and the only means of ventilation is the door. There was not a comfortable farm house to be seen in the country between Alexandria and Cairo. The man who lives on the farms are laborers and belong to landlords. They are as slaves, and as the Government under Turkish rule is so wretched, they are constantly being reduced to the "last and extreme stage of poverty."

Egypt is under Turkish rule, and since 1863 the Viceroy of Egypt obtained permission from the Sultan to rule more independently. Long after and long before the Government was so bad that taxes were wrung out of the people to the very last extent. This gave no encouragement to the laboring classes to produce better crops, as better crops meant higher taxes. The accommodation at Cairo was first class. The hotels were modern and up to date, and were conducted after European and American fashions.

The Citadel was next visited. It
