KOREA'S DARK FUTURE.

Make Conditions Worse, Unhappy Korea is having a hard time between the condicting ambitions of powerful Russia and Japan. For the Koreans it is a case of "under which king, Bezonian?" Too weak to be independent and with subjugation to a foreign nation inevitable, the outlook is not cheering. Still, the future under either Japase or Russian domination can hardly be worse than the present. The government lacks the moral fiber needed at such a critical time, and official corruption is well nigh absolute. The people are taxed beyond all reason Any man suspected of having proper Any man suspected of having proper-ty is in danger of being thrown into a filthy prison on some trumped up charge and held or perhaps tortured until he disgorges. Offices are sold to the highest bidder or given to dissi-pated favorites, who divide the pro-ceeds. The courts give no redress, for the plunderer himself is usually both the plunderer himself is usually both judge and jury. So rotten is the entire system that one marvels that the nation has not fallen to pieces before this. Only the stolid apathy of the Asiatic and the rival claims of foreign powers have held it together at all. The financial problem is as bad as the political. Oppression and robbery dstroy all incentive to accumulate property. A man has no motive to toil when he knows that an additional ox or a better house would probable. ox or a better house would probably simply result in a "squeeze" from some lynx eyed potentate. So he raises on eyed potentate. So he raises oniy a little rice and devotes the re-mainder of his time to resting.—From Rev. Arthur Judson Brown's "Unhappy Korea" in Century.

Two Hundred Years Ago. Only by trying seriously to under-stand conditions of 200 years ago may we bring ourselves to realize the advance the country and the world have made in the two centuries a newspaper press has existed in America. In April, 1704, was founded the first American newspaper which succeeded in establishing itself, the Boston News Letter. Popular education, free-dom of speech, religious toleration and government by the people were then unknown in the colonies; to worship according to the rites of the Catholic church was a capital offense in Mas-sachusetts; none but members of established churches could hold office; it was a criminal act for any person to ride or children to play on Sunday; men and women were obliged to confess before congregations, and any one who did not attend church could be fined, according to law.-Boston Globe The Tramp Stenographer.

In her failure to get steady work the girl who comes to New York is apt to become a lonely, homeless thing of "no continuing city," known and disrespected by business men under the title of "a floater." A "floater" is a girl transportant who lives from tramp stenographer who lives from hand to mouth and town to town, who gets started rolling round and does not want any moss, will not stay in any position long, simply making enough in each place to get on to the next. It is an ugly form of wanderlust. The floaters are held unreliable, and firms have become weary of engaging them. The number of floaters is sadly on the in-crease. Last month the agency of a New York company in Los Angeles re-ported sixty in that city, and throughout the south came word of continued increase in the number of these restless, nestless birds pathetically following the summer.—Era Magazine.

Rubber In Colorado

As a rubber producing state Colorado is making a bid for the attention of the world. Within the last few months experiments with a certain species of sagebrush that grows wild over an immense mountainous area of the Rocky mountain commonwealth have proved that rubber of fine quality can be produced from the shrub. Several companies have been organiznew industry, and the hitherto despis-ed weed will now be turned to prac-tical use. Special machinery has been se of developing the invented for the manufacture of the rubber, the construction of which will form still another industry for Colo-

Chile and Her Nitrate.

Chile and Her Nitrate.

It is a queer state of things that the national existence of a country should depend on one of that country's products, but this is the case in Chile, where nitrate of soda constitutes three-fourths of the export trade. An expert, in summing up the situation, says that at the present rate of consumption the supply of nitrate will be exhausted in twenty years and that then Chile's life as a nation must cease unless something that is now unexpected should occur.

Baking by Electricity.

A baker's oven heated by electricity is a novelty at Montauban, France. The heating elements, numbering twenty, are placed at the side or the interior, and heat is quickly applied and cut off at once, with a considerable saving of time. No heat is lost up the chimney, as the only opening is the door through which the bread is passed.

TO SAVE THE HANDS.

Use Mittens Made of Canton Flannel While Sweeping, Etc.

To protect the hands while sweeping I have never found anything else half so satisfactory as a pair of loose mit-tens made of extra heavy canton flantens made of extra heavy canton flan-nel, fleeced side in. The strong points about these mittens are, first, the ma-terial from which they are made, un-less worn almost threadbare, is imper-vious te dust, thus keeping the hands clean and free from crit: the fleeced clean and free from grit; the fleeced lining serves as a sort of cushion and affords double protection to the palms; being large and loose, they are easy to put on and prevent the hands from be out on and prevent the hands from be-coming red and swollen as they do when incased in tightly fitting gloves while sweeping; extending well over the wrist, they keep the dress cuffs clean; simple in shape, they can be made by even the most inexperienced woman; they are cheap, one yard of material being sufficient for pairs of gloves; they are durable and wash both easily and well, considera-tions not to be undervalued. I have always used the white canton flame! for the purpose, though, if preferred, the colored might be employed. Gray or brown would be very suitable. Good Housekeeping.

FOSTER YOUR TALENTS.

Every Girl Can Do One Thing Well if She Will Only Try. If she will only Try.

It is the girl who does things in this world whe is attractive, both to men and to her own sex, which last counts a little, too, in the long run.

You may not be able to do great things, to paint great pictures or to sing in great oners, but you can learn sing in grand opera, but you can learn to make bright little things for yourself and your friends and perhaps to play the light, "catchy" airs of the day so that your friends will enjoy them. and if you can't do anything else culti-vate the art of talking brightly and of being sympathetic.

Every girl can do one thing well if she will only take the trouble to find out what that thing is. The difficulty is that she often looks in the opposite direction. She wants to do something great and showy or nothing at all. Bu there are other talents within reach if she will only look, and these talents may be such a comfort to her in her dark hours that they will make life better and besides. better and happier both for her and better and happier both for her and those about her.

How the world likes a cheerful, plincky girl who makes a brave fight and hides her skeleton in a closet in stead of folding her hands and white the house the stead of doctors. ing because things don't come her way -fhe girl who puts her own griefs as much as possible aside—who takes a wholesome interest in life!

lisplay of needle skill, as the pattern may be as simple or as ornate as the embroiderer elects. In the accompanying design the poppy is the flower chosen for exploitation, and, executed in the most careful manner, it makes a most effective decoration. Embroidery on a bedspread of linen is always carried out in self color, and therefore some distinctive design is usually chosen.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Tool Chest For Women. That women are becoming recognized as the equals of men is evinced by the fact that at last they are thought worthy of having a tool chest of their own, These necessities are for sale in nearly all the stores, well stocked with the tools mostly needed for tinkering.

A hanimer, tack hammer with clamp at the end for removing tacks, a sima hanimer, tack hammer with clamp at the end for removing tacks, a gim-let, screwdriver, monkey wrench, gas plier, chisel and a jackknife are among the equipments of the ideal chest. A glue pot is also necessary, as there are so many and frequent collapsings of joints in dolls as well as furniture. With tacks and nails of all sizes in their appointed niche, the woman of the household is as well equipped to make and mend as is the handy man. It is quite a fad among women who do wood carving or pyrography to make their own chests, decorati ers elaborately and fitting the interiors with various compartments Mothers and Children. It might be truly said that the mother of today rules the world of tomer-row. As the mother is, so are her children. A refined, intelligent mother who is the same in her everyday life as when she entertains her most agreeable and fashionable guests is agreeable and fashionable guests is surely a pleasure and a blessing to her children. Her tenderness and her charms, her habits of speech and perfect manners make an impression on her children which they scarcely ever forget. Rough men and noisy boys will quiet down beneath her pleasant smiles and kindly words, for she it is who is ever ready to do all in her is who is ever ready to do all in her power to help those burdened with toil and care. Children, comfort and cherish your mothers, and, mothers, be true and faithful in the discharge of your duties to those whom God has in-trusted to your keeping.—Designer.

Pretty Table Decoration.

A basket of flowers and trailing vines formed a hanging centerpiece that was greatly admired at a recent luncheon. The basket is suspended from the center chandeller, if there is one, and from the celling if there isn't. It hangs to within a few inches from the table, and from it depend vines and sprays or sometimes ribbons. The idea is capable of innumerable possibilities.

Poisonous Medicines.
Great care should be taken in administering remedies in the form of tinctures which have stood for a long time in small vials in the family medicine closet. When the bottles happen to be loosely corked the alcohol readily evaporates, leaving the drug in the form of a concentrated tincture the pharmacopoeial dose of which might produce very serious if not fatal results.
