BLACK, MIXED OR GREEN.

Gleaned by the Way.

He—No, the governor doesn't pay me more than I'm worth.

She—How in the world do you manage to live on it?

Ever try an automobile, Judge? said a friend.

No, replied the judge, but I've tried a lot of people who have.

Gained Ten Pounds.

I was all run down and could not do my own work. Everything I ate made me sick. In a few days I had gained ten pounds. I had lost my appetite and I had no energy. I had no sleep and I had no strength. I had no hope and I had no faith. I had no love and I had no mercy. I had no peace and I had no joy. I had no life and I had no soul. I had no God and I had no heaven. I had no hell and I had no punishment. I had no reward and I had no glory. I had no honor and I had no respect. I had no honor and I had no respect. I had no honor and I had no respect.

Piles

To prove to you that Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain cure for piles, we have had a certain number of cases treated by it. The results have been so good that we have had many more cases treated by it. It is a certain cure for piles, hemorrhoids, and all other ailments of the rectum. It is a certain cure for piles, hemorrhoids, and all other ailments of the rectum.

Chase's Ointment

Grocer—I've called with that little bill, Mrs. Short.

Mrs. Short—Oh, I'm so sorry; my husband has gone to Coney Island, and won't return for a week.

Hoarder whisper from beneath the table—Make it a month, Sarah make it a month.

I tell you, matrimony is a serious thing. Now, there is my brother Bill. He and his wife have been quarrelling almost ever since the day of their marriage. Yet they were members of the same church choir for years before that and were nearly always on speaking terms.

Crippled by Kidney Disease.

It was troubled for years by kidney disease and Dr. Chase's Kidney Pills have cured it. I was unable to walk from my bed to a chair. Now I can go to the field and work like any other man. Mr. W. H. Moore, South Aurora, Greenville County, S.C. This statement is certified to by the Rev. E. H. Romet, Baptist minister of Rockville, Ga.

How is Bilkin's baby boy getting along?

Fine. I was up there yesterday and was surprised to learn that he is beginning to talk.

Does he pronounce his words plainly?

No, yet. They sound like a railroad brakeman calling out stations.

I told you, said the merchant, to mark this box 'Handle with care.' What's this nonsense you've painted here?

That said the college graduate, is the Latin for 'Handle with care.'

How do you expect a baggageman to understand that?

He won't, and therefore he won't get mad and smash the box.

Nothing can surpass in delicacy the reply made by an East Indian servant of the late Lord Dufferin when he was Viceroys of India.

"Well, what sort of sport has Lord Blank had?" said Lord Dufferin one day to his servant, who had attended a young English lord on a shooting excursion.

"Oh," replied the scrupulously polite Hindoo, the young sahib shot daintily. But Providence was very merciful to the birds!

An infantry soldier named Scheiber recently died on the last day of his leave in his home in a little village in upper Austria. The village burgomaster, himself an old soldier, remembered that the commanding officer of Scheiber's regiment should be notified of the death, and he proceeded to do so in the following letter:

The undersigned village burgomaster regrets on behalf of the soldier Scheiber, two days more leave, as otherwise his interest cannot take place.

Another Year.

Another year of mercies,
Of faithfulness and grace;
Another year of gladness,
In the shining of thy face.
Another year of progress,
Another year of praise;
Another year of proving
Thy presence all the days.
Another year of service,
Of witness for thy love;
Another year of training
For holier works above.
Another year is dawning!
Dear Master, let it be
On earth, or else in heaven,
Another year for thee.

A Thought for the New Year.

Just to be tender; just to be true;
Just to be glad the whole day through;
Just to be merciful; just to be mild;
Just to be trustful as a child;
Just to be gentle and kind and sweet;
Just to be helpful with willing feet;
Just to be cheery when things go wrong;
Just to drive sadness away with a song.
Whether the hour is dark or bright,
Just to be loyal to God and right;
Just to believe that God knows best;
Just in His promises ever to rest;
Just to let love be our daily key;
Just to let His will be for you and for me.

"Except ye become as little children," it taught with peculiar meaning, the kingdom of innocence is above all earthly dignities. The crown it wears brings no anguish, entails no fear. Clear-eyed and clean hearted, the little children of the world stand on the heights nearest heaven. The condescension that brings older persons on the same plain with them is no condescension at all, but rather a coming back to one's own best estate.

FATE OF THE JUNE BUGS.

Awful Fashions That Was Decried by an Ancient Custom.

"Borne has an official collector of June bugs," writes a correspondent of the Chicago News from Switzerland. "This personage is appointed by the city council when the triennial pest of June bugs occurs, and he is empowered to destroy all the insects that he brings to him. Each owner of a small estate is obliged to gather five pounds of bugs, and those who happen to be the proprietors of larger pieces of property must gather a proportionately more. For each pound that is missing from this obligatory amount a fine of ten cents is imposed, but if more than the required quota is furnished, a premium of two cents a pound is paid. This remuneration is offered also to others besides the property owners. A landholder who entirely neglects to gather any bugs at all is subject to a fine of from $5 to $10. School children receive permission to enter large estates, where they shake the trees and pick up the insects, and their endeavors to dialogue as many bugs as possible.

"In times of old, it was the custom to attempt to rid the country of these unwelcome visitors by citing them into court and by banishing them from the country, but the wily insects failed to obey the summons and continued to fly about in the face of the law, laying eggs prolifically and contrary to edict. In a certain village it was determined to make a terrible and lasting example of all the insects found within its borders. With considerable expenditure of time and patience quantities of bugs were collected and placed in a huge sack. Deliberation was held as to the fate of these hard-baked prisoners. Ordinary death was considered too light a punishment for such offenders. A hideous end must be theirs.

"A procession of the inhabitants of the village, advisers and executors, went out and children, wended its way slowly toward the place of execution, the summit of a high peak. This was laboriously climbed, an executioner led, with due regard for the responsibility and justice of their act, the wise men approached the edge of the precipice. The bugs were to be ignominiously dashed to pieces on the rocks thousands of feet below. The executioner hung over the edge of the precipice, and with a sudden downward and the bugs shaken out of their death. But instead of falling like so many lumps of lead, as they ought to have done on such an occasion, the bugs, to the amusement of all, spread their wings and flew away.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health.

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only.

Many thousands of cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, and personally, others by mail. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial written in consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as she has been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 412 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female ill and could not carry a child to maturity. I followed your advice. I am not only a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me.

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ill.

If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AMALGAMATED COAL COMPANY OF PORTLAND, OREGON.

President, R. L. DUNHAM, First Vice President of Merchants National Bank, of Portland, Oregon. Secretary and Treasurer, A. E. CROSSMAN, Ex-Postmaster of Portland, Oregon.

The first allotment of treasury stock, at the introductory price of 25c per share, has all been sold and disposed of. The public has responded most generously, and our shares have been subscribed for by men and women in all walks of life, and lately the big investors have commenced to look up our proposition and invest heavily.

BRITISH COLUMBIA AMALGAMATED COAL, Now 50c Per Share.

The investment will prove to be most remarkable from a financial point of view, and the shares you can to-day buy for 50c, should be worth at least $10 in a few years, and provide a source of income that will increase in value from year to year.

"To See the Opportunity and grasp it in time, Makes a Man the Master of His Destiny."

DO YOU REALIZE

That these shares may be worth $100.00 in eight or ten years from now, and that 1000 shares, which you can to-day buy for $500.00, may reach a cash valuation of $100,000.00.

There never was a failure in coal in the Western States and in British Columbia. There are no "ifs" about coal, providing quantity, quality and transportation are assured and the business is managed right and honestly.

Our company controls 17,500 acres of coal land, estimated to contain hundreds of millions of tons of coal. The supply is so great, that the engineer who has made the estimates says that the supply would last for many hundreds of years, no matter how extensive the output would be.

Our coal is a high-class bituminous cooking coal, and free from sulphur, and makes the best furnace and smelters' coke in Canada and the United States. The coal generates heat of about 14,000 British thermal units, and is equal to the very best bituminous coal in the United States, such as Cumberland and Pocahontas, whose coal averages from 13,000 to 14,000 heat units (British thermal). The average assays runs as follows: Fixed Carbon, 61.47; Volatile, 31.42; Ash, 3.85; Moisture, 3.26; Sulphur, None; and the coke averages: Fixed Carbon, 92.00; Ash, 8.00; and carries no sulphur.

The British Columbia Amalgamated Coal Co. will commence active operations early next spring, and one of its four properties will be equipped with the very best of machinery and up-to-date apparatus to mine coal on a big scale, the aim of the company being to equip one of the mines and place it on a producing basis at an output of 3,000 tons of raw coal per day. This we expect to have accomplished by the latter part of next summer, and a year thereafter there should be a handsome dividend paid to the stock-holders. This dividend will increase from year to year, as the enlargement of the output will keep pace with the demand, and coke ovens will be erected, and in a few years the British Columbia Amalgamated Coal Company will have all its four coal properties equipped and producing coal and coke on a large scale. The officials of the company are all determined to make this a grand success, and we cordially invite you to join us in this great enterprise.

We are now negotiating to employ one of the best known geologists and coal mining engineers in Pennsylvania to have charge of our work and select the machinery and the equipment needed for our operations.

We furnish the best of bank references, and ask you to call at our office, or write, for further particulars.

A Man for a Text.

As he entered the little study at the church just before evening service, the minister found one of his men awaiting him.

Pastor, broke out the man, in an agitated voice, "pastor, my brother-in-law is in there, full of liquor. He's ugly. Hadn't I better get a policeman to come and clear him out?"

"Why, no George," said the minister. "I shouldn't quite like that. You know he might hear something that would do him good. Don't worry. It won't kill us if he does interrupt us. We have been interrupted before now."

It was a good congregation that the preacher looked down upon that night; a company of honest, self-respecting, well-dressed working people, a large portion of them young folk. But there in the forefront of the audience sat the objectionable brother-in-law. Bold upright he sat, with a flushed face, and glared at the minister. "He certainly is about the toughest, ugliest-looking customer I ever undertook to preach to," said the young man to himself.

The first part of the service went very well. "How these Germans do sing! What full, sweet voices! How they keep the key and the tune! How they put their hearts into it!" he thought. The drunkard made a little noise, muttering something in a maudlin way during the prayer, but did not disturb the folk greatly.

"I believe he is not going to bother us much, after all," thought the minister.

But when it came to the preaching, the minister had no sooner begun than the man rose to his feet and commenced speaking. What he said, or tried to say, no one knew, himself least of all. It was some mumbled, incoherent talk. But the young people, after their fashion, straightway began to giggle.

"Don't laugh, good friends," said the minister, earnestly. "Don't laugh! This is a sight fit to make us weep." A great solemn hush fell upon the audience. The drunkard ceased to speak, and remained standing, the picture of a fool.

"Look at him!" said the minister. "You know him well enough, most of you. There stands the ruin of one of the ablest mechanics that was ever known in these parts! There stands the profligate son of a good mother! There stands the faithless husband who has broken the heart of a pure and lovely woman! There stands a father whose disgraced children are blushing with shame for him! He might have been a happy and prosperous man. See what drink has made of him! Give it but half a chance, and it will do as much for you. Tell me, could I, or could the most eloquent minister in the land, ever preach you such a temperance sermon as that? Isn't that sight enough to make you all temperance men for life?"

And then, looking earnestly and steadily in the drunkard's face, the minister charged him in the name of the living God to repent of his great wickedness and pleaded with him that he should forsake his sin and all his evil ways, and on condition of sincere penitence, promised him, in the name of Divine Savior, the help of the Almighty. And there stood the man all the while, motionless as a statue, amid the stillest kind of stillness, the silence of a great, listening company. And when the preacher had made an end of speaking, the drunkard staggered out into the night.

Now there was in the audience that evening another man who for many years had been the victim of the drink habit, one whom the minister had shortly before found drunk on the street, and had helped home to his house. This man, going out with the crowd after the service, had no sooner reached the sidewalk than he turned back, saying to a companion, "I'm going to see the parson."

It was a sorry-looking figure that came to the study door—decently dressed, but shaly and infirm, with hair prematurely white, and a sallow face marred and scarred by his vices.

"Good evening, Mr. Black! Come in, come in! I'm glad to see you. Have a chair," said the parson, cordially.

Pastor, said he, is a vote that shek like a leaf. I'm all broke up I've come to sign the pledge."

"Stephen, I haven't any faith in that pledge. What's a pledge? It is nothing but a promise and a promise too hard for you to keep. You've signed it over and over again, and every time you break it within a week."

"I know, I know, parson! But this time I'm going to do what I never did before. I'm going to give my heart to God before I sign that pledge."

"They prayed together. The parson, with his arm round him, prayed for him; and the man prayed for himself with a new note in his trembling

Nervous Exhaustion

TWITCHING of the nerves, sudden starting, tenderness of the scalp or spine, headache at top or back of head, noises in the ears, sparks before the eyes, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, pains and cramps, neuralgia, timidity, irritability, melancholy, physical weakness and general debility are among the symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

voice. Then he signed the pledge. "What's got Stephen Black?" asked the minister, a few weeks later. "I haven't seen him for some time."

"No, parson," said the man, "and you will never see him found here again."

"Never see him again? What do you mean? He hasn't gone to the bad, has he?"

"No, but he's dead and buried."

"What?"

"Yes, pastor. Monday he was taken sick. They carried him off to the hospital. He died within twenty-four hours, and they buried him right away." "But," said the man, "he never drank another drop, and he died a Christian man."—Youth's Companion.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

A Safe Medicine for Children.

In buying a cough medicine for children, never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is always sure to follow. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and there is no better medicine in the world for these diseases. It is not only a certain cure for croup, but when you give it soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given as directed. It contains no opium or other harmful drugs, and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by R. D. Drug Store.

A capacious laundry bag, one quickly and easily made, is of two circular or square pieces of cretonne, fancy ticking, or other strong material. In the centre of one cut an X, turning down and binding the points thus formed. This gives a square opening. Attach a fancy cord to each corner of the opening by which to handle the bag. Sew the two pieces together in a seam and turn through the opening.

From The Antilles.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Benefited a City Councilman at Kingston, Jamaica.

Mr. W. O'Reilly Fogarty, who is a member of the City Council at Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies, writes as follows: "One bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy had good effect on a cough that was giving me trouble and I think I should have been more quickly relieved if I had continued the remedy. That it is beneficial and quick in relieving me there is no doubt, and it is my intention to obtain another bottle." For sale by R. D. Drug Store.

Why Suffer from Rheumatism?

Do you know that rheumatism pains can be relieved? If you do this just try one application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It will make rest and sleep possible, and that certainly means a great deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism. For sale by R. D. Drug Store.

Grease may be removed from the leaves of a book by sponging the part with ether or benzine, and then placing it between two sheets of blotting paper, and quickly and lightly passing a hot flatiron over it.

The Price of Peace.

The terrible itching and smarting, incident to certain skin diseases, is almost instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Salve. Price, 25c. For Sale by R. D. Drug Store.

Delicate fritters can be made from stale cake by dipping the slices in cream, frying in butter, and spreading a bit of preserves over the slices, served hot.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

The Children's Favorite

Coughs, Colds, Croup and Whooping Cough.
