A New York letter of May 16, says :-"Perhaps the most significant of these was the convention of the Democrats of this state, which met in the Academy of Music here yesterday. It was the most representative party convention held in this state for many years, and the significance of this will be appreciated when it is said that the convention unanimously went for Cleveland. Their delegates were instructed to vote for him at the St. Louis-convention, and resolutions extolling the prininvention, and resolutions extolling the principles of taxation laid down in the President'

QUEBEC, May 7, 1883. Sir,—I have the honor to transmit for your information and guidance a copy of the Provincial and Federal statutes respecting lotteries. As the prohibition enacted in these ies. As the prohibition enacted in these statutes against advertising, printing and publishing notices of lotteries is generally overlooked in this province, I deem it my duty to caution editors of newspapers and the public in general against the infringements of the statutes in that behalf by calling attention to those provisions of the law, and to the penalties incurred by those who infringe the same. I would very much regret to be obliged to have recourse to severe measures, but I will be compelled to do so if the present official notice does not attain the desired end.

From the foregoing fairs shown to exist in his office by the plain recital of facts, it will be seen what little ground the Toronto Globe has for its recent screed. Murray, with counsel Howard and Cassidy, appeared before the Bar of the house and quoted from Todd that the house could not summarily dismiss him, but must first make specific charges and furnish them to him, and afford him the fullest opportunity of meeting them. The correctness of this was admitted, and Martin, feeling it was impossible to secure a committee dwelt on the extravagance of the late planations of the transactions in the de partment over which he provided.
