NEEDED

To the Editor of the STAR, DEAR SIR. - A thing much needed in he Town of Chatham is plenty of Gas-light along the public streets. Particularly at places where on dark nights accidents might very likely occur. On Monday night last about the hour of 8.30 when I was going up Pleasant Street, a horse and waggon passed me with but one occupant, who was a man. When the team arrived at that part of the hill near the tank, the driver looking through the darkness thought he saw a person coming towards him and pulled the left rein and was immediately plunged carainge and all into a ditch near by. I immediately took the horse by the bride and brought him and the fractured carriage out of the pit. Then the helpless driver who was benumbed with the cold and almost thought he had enterred etern ty, came to his senses and between him and me we managed to bring the horse and wagon to the nearest stable premises. Well t is might happen to any person that would not be aware for that p rt of the street resembles a bridge very much being built up in the middle and having ditches on either side and a darker spot in the town is not to pe found. And the authorities should have some way of protecting amicabl be counted by the crossings, they are strangers. The simplest way is to have a gas light placed thereabouts. Since it is not far from the Gas House the expense would not be so pon
