A Preacher and a Young Woman Missing

Another preacher of the gospel has got into difficulties. A serious offence is charged against him, and if all stories be true his punishment should be heavy, if ever he comes under the ban of law. Over a year ago William Poole was engaged in Moore's nail factory, St. John, as a cutter. He received good wages and to

Carleton, and on several Sundays Mr. Poole conducted services there. Sometime over a year ago he decided to throw up his position in the nail factory and give his entire attention to spreading the truths of the gospel. He chose for his first field of labor the district in the vicinity of Gondola Point, on the Kennebeccasis, and held services at the Baptist churches in that vicinity. His daughter says that he received but very little financial reward, but still he labored. He wrote home after spending some time at Gondola Point that HE WAS DISSATISFIED with that locality and thought he would try some other place. Accordingly he went to Canterbury Station a little distance this side of McAdam Junction, and from there his family heard from him a year ago last August.

He is not there now. Nobody seems to know where he has gone. The statement is made by several of the residents of Gondola Point, that after Poole left there. a young lady, a daughter of a respectable farmer, also took her departure and resided with him at Canterbury Station, and is now with him somewhere in the United States.

The parents of the girl claim that she is married in Toronto and living there. It is known that Poole was very inti-
