The storm which raged here Thurs day was the most severe of the several experienced during the winter. A regular blizzard raged and a gale of wind from the N.E. blew, so that early in the day all who could, sought the shelter of their homes. Early in the day the streets were blocked with snow, the street cars were put out of commission and by night immense drifts were piled everywhere, especially on the higher levels and around the country roads. The roads were impassable vesterday and milk dealers who got to the city had to impress dog teams in the service, it being impossible to bring horses through the drifts. The storm did not prevail west of Whiteborne, how-ever. Only the Water Street trams could run yesterday and the other tracks were not open to-day. Along the shore line great drifts were also iled and the trains were much im-

They have been furnished with clothing and their old clothing, etc., thoroughly disinfected. They will be allowed to go home. Those who had not been vaccinated in the past are also being attended to and will have to put in 21 days quarantine. New mattresses have been put in, three No. 7 Victoria stoves are on the upper flat to heat it and a large range has been installed or cooking. Early yesterday morning one man was found to be infected ith the disease and was immediately taken to Hospital. To-day the ship is being fumigated and disinfected She will be washed from truck kelson with disinfectants and will be thoroughly cleansed, after which she will be permitted to discharge. Campbell has been helped by Wallace, a doctors assistant, who was out in the Florizel. Dr. Campbell per mitted no liquor to be sent to the men on board the ship.
