GOOD GOLFING STORIES FROM ENGLAND'S MOST FAMOUS WOMAN PLAYER.

Once there was an ardent golfer who told a friend that golf was interfering with business and that he would have to give it up. "What!" exclaimed the friend.

"Give up golf?" "No," replied the other; "business." The above story is told by Miss Cecil Leitch, the well known woman champion, in her new book, entitled "Golf."

Miss Leitch was born at Silloth, a I wish someone with a skill for ver- early age of nine, that she began her sification would write an "If" for golfing career, partnered by her sisgrandmothers patterned after Kip- ter Mary, who was a year or so older. shore. "SHE'S JUST A GRAN' NAIRVE."

In 1908 she played in the Ladies' Open Championship at St. Andrews and very nearly won it, being beaten in the semi-final by 1. Amongst the thousands of spectators present, the wonderful play of the "Silloth flapper," as Miss Leitch was promptly christened, aroused the wildest enthusiasm.
