German Delegates Sit in at the Conference—Halifax Extends a Warm Welcome to Visiting Fleet.

AMERICAN FLIERS

REACH REYKJAVIK.

REYKJAVIK, ICELAND, Aug. 6.

Skirting the South Eastern, Southern and South Western Coasts of Iceland, Lieut. L. H. Smith and Lieut. E. Nelson to-day drove their round-the-world planes from Hornsford to Reykjavik, a distance of some three hundred miles, in four hours and fifty-nine minutes. The take off from Hornsford was made under good weather conditions and these continued throughout the journey except for a heavy head wind encountered by the planes as they turned outward from the southern point of Iceland. Virtually the entire population of the quaint little hamlet of Reykjavik assembled on the pier to watch the two great planes as they circled above the harbour inside the sea wall searching for their buoy. As the machines hit the water, with Lieut. Smith leading the way, a small boat put out from the shore and took off the fliers. Arriving at the pier the Mayor of the town and members of the Town Council welcomed the fliers and women presented each with a bouquet of flowers.

NEW INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Aug. 6.

The Inter Allied Conference on the Dawes plan to-day officially changed its name to "International Conference" when German representatives headed by Councillor Marx took their place at the foot of the big table in the Ambassador's home of the Foreign Office. This was the first appearance of the German plenipotentiaries at a full dress European conference since that held in Genoa. Although they sat at the foot of the table with Ramsay MacDonald at the head the French and United States delegates on either side, the Germans participated as full partners in the efforts to work out a programme for putting the Dawes plan into operation. After a formal session this morning the Conference adjourned until the Germans are ready to express their views on the work accomplished by the inter Allied delegates during the past three weeks. The chief delegates will meet to-morrow morning when the "big seven" will become the big fourteen, by the inclusion of Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresemann and an additional delegate from each of the Allied countries. Ambassador Kellogg and James A. Logan, Jr. will represent the United States.

THE GERMAN REPLY.

LONDON, Aug. 6.

The German memorandum in reply to Allied protocol outlining plans for putting the Dawes reparation program into effect was handed to Allied representatives in Downing Street this morning by chiefs of the German Delegation. In consequence Premier MacDonald is urging all possible expedition so another plenary meeting of the International Conference can be held to-day. The Germans worked all night and completed their reply to the protocol at three o'clock this morning. The memorandum was an eighteen page document accompanied by a letter. It was a broad survey from a German point of view of the whole program of the Inter-Allied Conference as worked out for launching of the Dawes plan. It did not go into details but presented German viewpoint regarding the experts report on defaults and sanctions, on the fiscal and economic unity of Germany and on the transfer of reparation payments, the three divisions into which the conference work was divided. In the covering letter which the Germans presented, two important questions outside the conference were raised. The first was the military evacuation of the Ruhr and other zones outside the Rhineland and the second question of retention of Allied Railwaymen in the Ruhr. Experts who read the German memorandum and covering letter said they did not believe the objections raised were likely to prove a serious rebuff to the success of the program the Inter-Allied body has worked out for making the Dawes plan effective.

ANXIOUS TO EVACUATE COLOGNE.

LONDON, Aug. 6.

Prime Minister MacDonald answering questions in the House of Commons to-day with regard to the International Reparation Conference, declared he would not agree to a British soldier remaining in Cologne (the British bridgehead area) sixty seconds longer than necessary to carry out Great Britain's fair obligations imposed upon her under the Treaty of Versailles.

THE CORNWALLIS PAGEANT.

HALIFAX N.S., Aug. 6.

An historic scene was re-enacted here to-day in connection with the anniversary carnival when the founding of Halifax by Hon. Edward Cornwallis 175 years ago was carried out in pageantry on the campus of Dalhousie University near what is believed to be the exact spot upon which Cornwallis planted the British flag in 1749. Shortly after noon, a tall, stumpy little craft gaily painted swung up the quiet waters of the North West Arm and sent a boat astern loaded with red coated officers and swarthy sailors. The craft was a replica of Cornwallis' "Sphinx" and the landing party included "Cornwallis" and his staff. On the shore they were met by two friendly Indians who guided them to a grassy glade, a short distance inland, but whereas the historic landing 175 years ago was witnessed by only half a dozen French and peering savages the route March to-day was lined with thousands of people and the "grassy glade" was walled in not by the forest of Cornwallis' time but a throng of cheering and thousands strong. The ceremony of administering the oath of allegiance to Governor Mascarene and his followers, who had come up from the settlement at Annapolis for that purpose, was duly carried out and then the stern visaged Acadians from Grand Pre came forward and declared their determination to remain loyal to France and not to swear allegiance to England and they were allowed to withdraw while the Indians came forward and silently presented the pipe of peace. After all had solemnly put on the symbolic pipe the party gathered around the council table in commemoration of Cornwallis' first Council and the most striking feature of this section of the pageant was the fact that the table used in the play was the identical table used 175 years ago and kept as a treasure relic in the provincial building here.

HALIFAX WELCOMES SQUADRON.

HALIFAX, Aug. 6.

Nova Scotia and Halifax city extended an official welcome to Vice-Admiral Sir P. L. Field, K.C.B., C.M.G., and the British service squadron consisting of the battle cruisers Hood and Repulse, and the Australian cruiser Adelaide, under his command.

In the historic Council Chamber of the Provincial Building at noon to-day, Admiral Field, replying to addresses, happily set forth three reasons for the world tour of the fleet, viz. to test the latest type of ships under all conditions of climate, to give to the personnel of the fleet an opportunity of seeing the great trade routes of the Empire, and to give to the people of the Dominions the knowledge that, despite difficulties consequent upon the great war, Great Britain is still keeping up her navy as far as possible.

IRISH BOUNDARY QUESTION.

LONDON, Aug. 6.

Colonial Secretary Thomas announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that after full and frank discussion of the Irish boundary problem with members of the Free State Government, the British Government had decided to summon Parliament to deal with the question on September 30, unless by that time the Ulster Government had nominated boundary commissioners in accordance with the provisions of the Anglo Irish Treaty. In the meantime Mr. Thomas said, the Government would introduce to-day a bill providing for settlement of the question along lines previously indicated by the Government spokesmen. The second reading of bill would be proceeded with and the bill pressed forward when Parliament met in September, he added.

The Governor said there was an exceptionally difficult and anxious time ahead, adding "we are quite strong enough to deal with the revolutionary menace and we shall not shrink from using fearlessly and unhesitatingly all of the weapons necessary for its defeat."

YORK WILL NOT

ANOTHER DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.

President Coolidge is preparing to call an international disarmament conference which would discuss limitation of arms by land and sea, it is said. It is expected the President will call the conference after the reparations settlement and before the presidential elections. The result of such a move, it is said, would greatly strengthen the President with voters who are strongly for world peace.
