RACE SYMPATHY!

The Cohesive Clannishness of the Angla-Saxon Race Clearly Illustrated

By Manifestations of Homage for the Martyred President Throughout the English-Speaking World---The Reverses in Africa.

the following: Political moralists, while exasperated by the series of defeats in South Africa, fine grounds for optimism respecting England's relations with the world. There have been signal proofs this week of the cohesive clannishness of the Anglo-Saxon race. The spontaneous manifestations of homage for the martyred president throughout the Englishspeaking world have offered convincing evidence of the impact of race sympathy. "Lest we forget" was not the refrain of the Recessional from Westminster Abbey, as the strains of Reethoven's epical march for the death of a hero rang out in triumph. That service was a sign of the essenworld, and so long as the Anglo-Saxon race stands together, the burdens and responsibilities of the future may be faced with courage and faith.

COLONIAL LOYALTY. Whether in Washington or in London, Englishmen have received also fresh proofs of the loyalty of the empire in the hearty reception of the Duke of Cornwall in Canada, and these have been timely since the unexpected reverses in South Africa have created a feeling of discouragement albeit not dismay. The welcome received by the czar in France is regarded here as a greater triumph for the bour-geoise president than for the peaceloving autocrat. Each has called the frience and ally, but the resources have not been materially strengthened by the celebration at Complegne, and the sham fight at Rheims. The armaments of European powers are so effectively neuralized by the alliances of governments and the personal relations of rulers that meetings like that at Complegne are chiefly remarkable for the traordinary precautions taken for the prevention of anarchist outrage.

JOHN BULL IS SATISFIED. Englishmen do not conceal their convictions that the relations of their own government, with the dependencies of the empire and with the American republic, offer better safeguards for the future than coalition with the are not alarmed by the change presidents at Washington, for while Mr. Roosevelt has been erroneously described as a jingo and an enemy of England, they believe that he will prove a conservative statesman and a true friend of international peace. The diplomatic view of the Anglo-American relations is that the canal treaty will be sent by President Roosevelt to the senate in December and ratified with little delay, and that it will be accompanied by a convention for the purchase of the Danish West Indies. What is considered of vital importance is that the canal question should be adjusted so scientifically that England will never be called upon to enforce any provisions against the United States on representations from Berlin, and, norcover, the chance of any conflict over the Monroe doctrine may be removed by the timely acquisition of the Danish West Indies before Germany finds herself strong enough at sea to challenge it. THE AFRICAN TROUBLES. The reverses in South Africa have not been accepted philosophically, no panic has been created. Lord Kitchener's proclamation is now generadly regarded as a tactical blunder, since it was inoperative as a measure, and offered the Boer leaders leisure for refitting their columns after a period of rest and making plans for a series of unexpected attacks. The importance of these reverses is neither minimized nor exaggerated. The moral is drawn that there must be no more proclamations and no negotiations, but that the conclusion must be judged that the subjugation of guerillas require many weeks and be attended with exceptional difficulty. The gov-ernment is criticised for lack of resolution and strenuousness in the conduct of the war, but the truth is also discerned that the British army has

It does not take account of the extraordinary difficulty presented by a war with the bravest and most dogged guerillas history has even known, and by the vast extent of the territories which must be occupied and protected.

Brilliant as the exploits of Botha and Commandant Smuts have been, Lord Kitchener has been doing thorough work. The bulk of the Boer fighting force is imprisoned, and while the hopes of the Dutch warriors will rekindled temporarily, the process of wearing down their remaining resources has gone far, and will be car-ried doggedly to the bitter end.

The proceedings of the British Association has escaped observation outside of Glasgow, owing to the pressure of great events. It has been an unusually busy and practical session. The new educational section has quickly established its utility as a forum for radical attacks upon the conservatism of the existing methods of Oxford and Cambridge. The Bishop of Hereford, strangely enough, has led the attack, and advocated reform in the entrance examinations and redistribution of the prizes at the great universities. The British Association justifies its existence when it opens a field of discussion for candid thinkers, who are convinced that the English servatism and lack of flexibility. left out. The King's arrangements for his visit to Scotland are still in doubt, but as landaus and horses have gone to Ballater, it is evident that the plan will be carried out. The landaus and outriders are for the Queen. The King does not go anywhere without a motor car, which he considers the most convenient and comfortable vehicle for daily exercise. The force of the royal example is felt at every country house. Automobiles are coming into fashionable use throughout the kingdom, and the masters of country houses affect to believe that these vehicles are more economical than the ordinary stable take place as to the cause of Mr. Mc-Kinley's death, and with regard to the treatment of the patient, English doctors, at present, at any rate, are unwilling to say anything or express any opinion, on account of professional etiquette, but I understand that the belief here among distin-guished physicians is that had the president's case been in the hands of London surgeons America might not now be mourning Mr. McKinley's loss. One English doctor, I am told, was amazed at the idea of the physicians administering solid food. "He ought to have been soaked with brandy," he said. "His heart ought to have been fed, not whipped. like a tired horse, with strychnine." If that were merely the opinion of a layman, nobody would dream of paying the slightest attention to it, but it is not.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION. President Roosevelt's announcement that he will retain the cabinet of Pre-sident McKinley has done much to stimulate the buying of American se-curities in London. The settlement of the steel strike has also acted in a similar direction, and the financial writers take a most hopeful view of the American outlook. The news from South Africa had a depressing effect upon securities in the South African section, but the decline in that quar ter has not been as serious as might have been expected. Consols fell on the South African reverses, and a fear that a continuance of the war would mean more gold borrowing. English railway securities have been a trifle firmer but mining shares continue sluggish. Money is in large supply, and un-less the American demand for gold exceeds present expectations, rates are not likely to become firmer.

DOCTORS THINK CZOLGOSZ SANE!

He Did Not Affect Unconsciousness of Surroundings.

National Organization Formed to Wipe Out Anarchists-Emma Goldman Talks.

Buffalo, Sept. 23.-Leon Czolgosz, whose trial for the assassination of President McKinley begins today, was examined as to his sanity or insanity for one hour by Dr. Carlos F. Mcthe state board of lunacy commission-The prisoner's counsel, Former Justices Loran L. Lewis and Robert C. Titus, were present at different times during the examination. At its close Dr. McDonald declined to discuss the case, and the attorneys would not express their opinion as to the assassin's mental condition, although the in-ference drawn from their answers was that they believed Czolgosz to be sane.

Czolgosz presents a much better ap pearance than when last in court. The apparent affectation of unconsciousness of surroundings semed to have left the prisoner. He walked more sprightly and did not have to be dragged along by the officers as heretofore. When he was being led back to the jail he chatted quite freely with one of his

TO WIPE OUT ANARCHISTS. Milwaukee, Sept. 23 .- A national organization having for its purpose the clearing of the country of anarchists was organized in a small way in this city on Saturday night. The organization is to be called the American Patriotic Educational League. A constitution was adopted in which the enact ment of laws to prevent the spread of anarchistic doctrines is not favored, and that these doctrines can be extir-pated by appealing through educational means to public sentiment and by making these doctrines so unpopula and contemptuous that no one would have the hardihood to promulgate

It is the purpose of the promoters to begin active organization throughout the city and state and later throughout the nation. A button will be adopted, and every opponent of anarchy will be asked to wear it.

Jackson Jury Brings in a Verdict Virtually Justifying Homicide.

Jackson Mich. Sept. 23.-The jury in the case of Frank R. Biery, after consideration of 24 hours, placed itself on record as justifying homicide as a result of charivari proceedings by a verdict of not guilty. Biery was remarried at Minard's,ten miles northwest of here, last spring, and as it was a second venture of both parties, the event occasioned excitenent in the quiet village. On the night following the wedding a crowd of neighbors originated an old-fashioned charivari party, with the usual accompaniments of horse-play and unearthly racket. Biery ordered them to desist, and upon their failure to do so opened a promiscuous fire with his artillery a horse-pistol about two feet Archie Whitehouse, a charivarist, was struck and killed by one of the bullets

MUCH ALARM

Caused by the Condition of Mrs. McKinley's

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 21.-Mrs. Mc-Kinley was one of the first at the house on Market street to arise today. She said she had enjoyed a good sleep, and that she felt better than at any time since the fateful night in Buffalo when her husband was shot. To Dr. Rixey she expressed a wish to take another drive today. On their return from the drive, Dr. Rixey said: "I do not feel so confident as earlier this week. Mrs. McKinley's grief is crushing her, though she is bearing up bravely and doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. However, too much encouragement should not be taken at this early date.

When Mrs. McKinley first looked out of her window today she saw the guards on patrol in front of her house. Directing a maid to call Dr. Rixey, she asked him to have the guards re-

FEDERATION OF U. S. METHODISTS!

Outlook for Union of All Bodies Is Good-Dr. Elliott's View After Ecumenical Conference. Detroit, Sept. 23.—Rev. Dr. George Elliott, pastor of the Central Methodist Episcopal Church, who has just returned from attendance upon the Methouist Ecumenical Conference in London, England, says that the recent assembly was especially marked by its constant response to spiritual religion and by the utter absence of dogmatism. Perhaps the most important matthat came before the a sembly, which consisted of some 500 Methodists from an over the world, was that of church unity. As a result of the Ecumenical Conference held in Baltimore ten years ago, all the Australian Methodists are now united in a single body. At the late conference in London all the smaller English bodies signified their willingto unite with the Wesleyan Church, which is the strongest branch of the denomination in the British Isles. Dr. Elliott thinks the outlook good for a consolidation, or at least for a federation, of the different branches. The advance in this direction, how as not so noticeable among the s from the United States, alsome progress was made. The delegates from the Methodist Episco-pal Church South, which left the main body at the opening of the civil war, had little to say on the subject.

The free churches of all denominations were never so far away from the Established Church in England as they are today, Dr. Elliott stated. The advance toward sacerdotalism on the part of the state church has emphasized the tendency upon the part of the free churches to draw closer together against the high church ten-dency. Half a day was spent in con-

STANBURY---KARN

Fashionable Wedding on Saturday at Woodstock-Over 300 Guests Present

Woodstock, Sept. 23 .- A fashionable wedding was solemnized at 2:30 Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church, when Miss Florence Karn, eldest daughter of D. W. Karn, organ and piano manufacturer, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence Byron Bethune Stanbury, of New York city. The church was elaborately decorated, and was packed to doors with guests, who numbered over 300, and spectators. A portion of the edifice was reserved for the employes of the Karn factories and their families. The ceremony was performed by Chancellor Wallace, of Toronto, as-sisted by Rev R. R. McKay, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The bride entered at the appointed hour leaning on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of heavy white satin, Duchess trimmed, with white chiffon Duchess lace, and wore a belt and rose blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bride was preceded by her flower girls and bridesmaids. The flower girls were Miss Aveley Wallace, Woodstock, and Miss Margaret Martin, of New York. The bridesmalds were Miss Stanbury, New York; Miss Lily Ellis, Miss Edith Wilkes and Miss Grace Williams, Toronto. Miss Lou Karn, sister of the bride, was maid of hon-or.
