STEVENSON'S RINK WON M'NEE TROPHY

Defeated Lochead's Rowing Club Rink in Final Contest for Consolation Prize.

THE TOURNAMENT CLOSES

Bell and Beltz in First Series of the Scotch Doubles, and Brown and Lashbrook in Second.

The W. O. B. A. tournament of 1912 has been finished, and the bowlers have all departed. Yesterday afternoon the finals of the McNee trophy, the consolation event for rinks, was played, and Mr. John Stevenson's rink defeated their club-mates, John Lochead's four.

This game was worthy of these two crack quartettes. Two better bowlers than Joch Lochead and John Stevenson it is hard to find. Both have been contestants for the Labatt Trophy on more than one occasion, and when they skip a rink the spectators are always assured a fine exemplification of the great game. Stevenson made a fine up-hill battle. He did not get going as soon as his opponent, but when he did start there was no denying him, and he kept adding point to point until he made it certain that the McNee Trophy would remain in his possession for a year. Willis T. Cox, Jos. Weld and A. W. Fraser gave him excellent support all through the tourney, the former being particularly good.

Lochead's rink bowled splendidly at all times. They had many hard-fought battles, and showed excellent form in every game.

The Doubles Winners.

Jimmy Beil and Fred Beitz are the champions in the doubles. This is nothing unusual for this pair, as they have been there before. After a hard battle through the large entry list, Bell and Beltz were pitted against W. A. Strowger and Thos. Reid, of the Toronto Granites. The latter did not show the form of earlier contests, while Bell and Beltz were very good. Parnell Morris and Jared Vining won third money in this event, the fourth prize going to Dr. W. J. Fear, Aylmer, and his partner, Albert Chambers. In the second series, Frank Brown and W. J. Lashbrook, won from Henderson and Simkins, of the Oakland Club, Toronto, in a good battle.

The prizes were well distributed geographically, and the bowlers all seemed perfectly satisfied.

The results of the tourney are as follows:
