EDITORIAL NOTES.

WHAT OF ITALY HERSELF?

Los Angeles Times: The King and Queen of Rumania feel that they have been insulted by Mussolini. The Italian Premier sent a curt note to the effect that the royal pair ought not to attempt to visit Rome unless they were making an effort to pay their debts. If the European countries get to knocking one another over their frailties it may provoke some Government into making a payment, Rumania's record is not very clean, but it is not the only black sheep in the European flock.

POLITICS AND PROMISES.

London Post: The vagueness in the average political catchword is, as Mr. Baldwin hinted the other night, its main characteristic and its main merit. It promises everything and yet nothing. The quack issues his pills, the victim pays his money, but his trouble and the puff remain. The Russian worker was entranced by the music of "the dictatorship of the proletariat," and he is now starving and in chains. In fact, the political system of almost every country in the world is today based on promises—promises which are enticingly drawn up and which mean nothing.

OLD FORMULAE.

Boston Globe: (Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, speaking in London.) The trouble was not that France was asking for too much security, but that she was asking for too little. What France has been seeking is security in the old-fashioned way, which has gone, and gone forever—by means of patched-up net-works of European alliances. It was on this plane that the late conflict occurred, and on this plane no such conflict can be reconciled. The only security for France or for Europe (or, for that matter, the only security possible for the Western world), lies in some international organization on the general type of the League of Nations; that is, a step higher than the plane of nationalistic alliances and intrigues on which the world conflict occurred.

FRENCH LOANS.

Le Temps (Paris): As regards the other allied nations of this continent, who has France seen fit to grant them credits? Because they need to be more thoroughly armed in order to secure their frontiers. And why do they need to be more thoroughly armed? Because, thanks to the English policy of the balance of power, the peace of Europe is not sufficiently consolidated. Should one say that English policy alone are not responsible? Yet there would always be left a manifest truth: When a country is so constrained to arm itself to avoid being exposed to further invasions, there is no justification in presuming from this fact that it has resources at its disposal for the payment of bygone debts to bygone allies. Military expenditure forced upon a country means additional charges, not additional resources.

BRITISH FISHING INDUSTRY.

London Daily Telegraph: We should have come very near the starvation point in the summer of 1917 if it had not been for the daring which the North Sea fishermen, unarmed as they were, displayed in continuing their calling in face of the activities of the enemy. The whole British industry is under a cloud, the fishermen, who know little or nothing of fiscal theories, resent the manner in which our own markets are periodically flooded with fish caught by foreigners. They do not object to fair competition, but the competition, they claim, is not fair. The depreciation of the currencies on the Continent, reacting on the first cost of boats, the expenditure on gear and the rates of wages paid, constitute a serious handicap to our own fishermen, who have to support homes in a land where the cost of living is greater and all the expenses of the industry are consequently on a much higher scale.

BROTHERS IN ARMS.

Cape Argus: (The U. S. cruiser Concord will shortly visit Cape Town.) It is a long time since the American navy has visited these waters, and we are sure that the citizens of Cape Town will give the officers and crew a very hearty welcome. They will certainly not look upon our visitors as foreigners, but rather as friends and virtual allies. For the past hundred years and more there have been the friendliest relations between the British and American navies. The traditions of efficiency and discipline which animate the one are shared by the other, and it is a matter of congratulation that Dominion ports should be included in this world cruise.

BRAIN IN POLITICS.

Sydney Bulletin: All over the world the tradition of the granite jaw and the chilled-steel will has been accepted as a thing desirable. Instead of shaping politics on the model of the fruitful garden, the idea has grown that walls are the chief necessity and unbreakable fortifications about set ideas that are sacred because of their sheer weight and immobility. Yet obviously the thing wanted is the brain to conceive rather than the mere will to execute anything or nothing. The general idea that the mistakes must be given up, that the statesman of the future must be the man who is willing to admit mistakes and boldly try the other road. Thousands of political catchwords have been coined to meet special occasions; but the one we most need is "Brains in politics." The strong man is not strong in any real sense unless he is a man of wide knowledge and ready intelligence.

IN CLOUD CUCKOO-LAND.

Henry Bidou in Figaro (Paris): We have mentioned the inexperience of the Labor party. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald seems to have his fair share of the outline of his programme, which will be approved by the whole world, at least in so far as foreign politics are concerned. His object is quite simply to restore the earthly paradise. We crave for this as much as he. But does he believe in it? Do we believe in it? Mr. Ramsay MacDonald wishes to crush beneath his shoes the fire-brands which still smoulder in the world's capitals. May he crush them! We wish him good luck of his task. He would complete the edifice of the League of Nations. Soon may he complete it! He wishes to establish an entente with all the peoples of the universe. How does he propose to set about it? There is nothing so easy as to compose a policy in theory. Politics are like aviation. One flies with ease above the clouds. The difficulty comes when you descend into the gloom and wish to come down to earth once more.

LABOR AND INDIA.

Singapore Free Press: The new Labor Government has an extremely difficult situation to face in India. It has probably only a partial knowledge of the extent of the malice which has spread in India of late,

STORM TAKES TOLL.

Clementsport.—The storm of Saturday blew down one of the large pines on the Rectory property. This small grove is all that is left in this section of the extensive timber which once clothed these hillsides.

merely because we refused to hand over the Government of that complex community at once into the hands of a tiny percentage of her people practically totally inexperienced in the art of governing. It will probably find that its own efforts to pave the way for sure and safe self-government in India will be as venomously misrepresented and misunderstood by the clamant section of Indian public opinion as were the efforts of previous administrations, and short of abandoning the vast silent majority to the amateur efforts of the tiny voracious minority, we do not see anything but stormy times ahead for it.

SELF-DETERMINATION.

Springfield Republication: If the Philippines would yield absolutely to General Wood and permit him to govern them like an autocrat, he could undoubtedly give them the best Government they have enjoyed since the Spanish conquest—the best in the sense of security for life and property, public health, schools, roads and sewers. The death rate would go down and the birth rate would go up. Trade would flourish and eventually there would be a great market for victrolas, radios and Ford's. But they will not yield to him; with all his efficiency and good banking and budget making, he does not sympathize, in their opinion, with the Filipino's aspirations to be master in his own house.

TWIST YOUR TONGUE OVER THIS.

Aristophanes invented a word of 75 syllables to describe a dish compounded of fish, flesh and fowl. Mark Twain in his protest against the German language says that the arrays of syllable ending in "Versammlungen" were not words but alphabetical professions. Now comes boldly forward a Swedish chemist who has given the name "trinprometaxylitol" to a disinfectant he has invented.

More than $12,000,000 worth of equipment was added to the Canadian Pacific Railway's service during 1923. Included were 16 Pacific and 20 Mikado type locomotives, all very powerful and equipped with the most modern devices for power, speed and economical operation. Other items were 15 steel baggage cars, 12 mail and express, 15 first class coaches, 6 cafe-parlor and buffet-parlor cars, 1,000 box cars, 250 freight refrigerator cars, 300 coal cars, 50 oil tank cars, 300 automobile cars, 36 vans for freight conductors and 14 snow-ploughs.

The seventh of Canada's direction-finding stations was recently completed for service by the radio branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, to assist the boats and ships navigating the Bay of Fundy and the coastal waters extending to Boston. This station tends to make the route favored by the Canadian Pacific steamships in the winter, already splendidly equipped with safety devices, still safer. By means of the apparatus, the wireless operators can ship in distress within 400 miles of the Canadian shore can find his location simply by pressing a spring. These stations have been described as "Godsend to us mariners."

Here and There

A dispatch from London, England, states that the Sudan Government, through Capt. E. C. Midwinter, general manager of railways and steamers, South Africa, has accepted a tender from a British Columbia firm for 150,000 railway ties of Douglas fir. The contract expressly stipulates that the railway ties shall be of Canadian origin.

British Columbia's shipment of water-borne lumber to overseas markets totalled 521,707,132 board feet last year, against 273,146,800 in 1922, an increase of 91 per cent. This announcement was recently made by the provincial minister of lands and it is a remarkable index of the rapid expansion of the lumber industry in British Columbia.

Under a scheme inaugurated by the Provincial Government it is announced that British Columbia will advance loans up to $300 a family from the Hebrides, on condition that the British Government advance a like amount. In view of the present depression in the islands, it is expected that the British Government will co-operate.

Keen interest in all Canadian manufactures and especially in mineral products, wood pulp, textiles, leather and rubber goods, heavy machinery and farm machinery is now manifested by France and Belgium, according to H. E. Tessier of Montreal, who recently accompanied an exhibit of these manufactures on a tour through every important city in these countries. Mr. Tessier believes that the tour will bring great practical benefit to Canada as soon as the French currency becomes more stable.

The exterior of the great Canadian pavilion at Wembley has now been completed, and the interior decorators are busily finishing the building, according to H. E. Tessier, who has just returned to Canada abroad the Canadian Pacific liner Montclair. The exhibits are being pointed to Canada's display being ready in time for the opening of the British Empire Exhibition.

That Canada's culture has nothing to fear from the promised flood of immigration from continental Europe was the message recently delivered by J. Murray Gibbon, Canadian author and litterateur, in an address on "Canadian Literature and the Foreign-born" given in Montreal recently. Of all the Scandinavian races contributing to the Canadian population, Mr. Gibbon considered the Swedes to have the highest literary mentality.

More than 13,000,000 bushels of grain have been received at the Government elevator at Vancouver, B.C., from Canadian Pacific Railway cars since the opening of the crop year. A report issued by railway officials, Exported from Vancouver in the same period there have been 20,415,534 bushels, comprising 15,488,348 bushels to the United Kingdom, 4,630,165 to the Orient and 338,133 bushels to South America.

The aggregate value of all field crops in Canada in 1923, was $891,755,200, according to a report of the Dominion Statistics, a decrease of $70,538,000 from 1922, caused mainly by the lower prices applicable to wheat, barley, oats and clover. This sum was made up of the following items: wheat, $316,606,700; oats, $177,704,400; barley, $32,955,700; rye, $11,246,900; hay and clover, $168,852,000; mixed grains, $17,854,800; potatoes, $57,076,800 turnips, etc., $22,550,100; corn, husking, $12,465,000.

A golden wedding, celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Williams, of Lunenburg, Saskatchewan, was one of the novelties enjoyed by the passengers on board the Canadian Pacific Empress of Britain when the ship was at Barbados during the West Indies cruise. "Here Comes the Bride" was played by the ship's orchestra, and a huge wedding cake was baked, adorned with 50 candles and presented to the happy couple at a surprise party, in which even the crew joined.

Earl Bridges, 17-year-old musher, from Le Pas, Manitoba, won the Eastern International Dog Sled Derby at Quebec, receiving the gold cup and $1000 awarded for the team first past the winning post. The race was run on three successive days on February 21, 22 and 23, in daily laps of 40 miles, under extremely trying conditions due to the heavy snowfall on February 20, which was the worst Quebec has known for half a century. Bridges, who won the Le Pas Dog Sled Derby at Quebec, was silver medalist for the best-matched team of dogs in the Quebec race. There were 15 starters.

TOAST TO LAUGHTER.
By Flivver Sam.

Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the heaven of youth, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bear in the cup of pleasure! Without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel. It dispels dejection, banishes the bites and manacles melancholy, for it is the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the birth cry of mirth and the swan song of sadness.
