

STORIES OF CANADIAN LIFE.

THE CANADIANS OF OLD.

By PHILIPPE GASPÉ.

Translated by CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS.

12mo. Paper, 50 cents. Specially bound in cloth, $1.00.

The scene of this historical romance is laid in the eighteenth century. Among the subjects sketched in the work, which is the classic romance of Canada, are picturesque phases of life in the old seigniories of Quebec, hunting adventures, and the strange legends of Old Canada.

"A story that reproduces the life of a past era with a picturesque accuracy that is fairly fascinating."—Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.

"Full of dramatic episodes. Stories of adventure, by water and on land, abound throughout the book. . . . A fascinating book—a book which, though new to the United States, has long been esteemed a classic in Canada."—New York Tribune.

"A book not only of interest, but of value."—San Francisco Bulletin.

"It abounds in stirring scenes by flood and field, and also in humorous colloquy."—Brooklyn Eagle.

GEOFFREY HAMPSTEAD.

By THOMAS STINSON JARVIS.

12mo. Paper cover, 50 cents.

" . . . The action is rapid, the dramatic interest well sustained, dialogue original and pointed, and there is a definite ethical purpose. . . . 'Geoffrey Hampstead' is a novel well worth perusal. It is long since the literature of our Northern neighbors has given us anything half as good."—Boston Beacon.

"There are so many vivid pictures in 'Geoffrey Hampstead' . . . that it is hard to pick out a chief one among them in the matter of narrative, emphasis, or of tragic force; and after all the passages of intenser character have been considered, it is still difficult to determine whether they are not all made secondary by the great interest of the philosophical discussions in which this strong and versatile book abounds."—New York Sun.

"'Geoffrey Hampstead' . . . is a novel of much ingenuity and force. While it is a story of incident, it presents several keen, analytic studies of character also, and the novelist makes the incident illustrate the characters without going into long, tiresome analysis and description."—Chicago Times.

New York: D. APPLETON & CO., 1, 3, & 5 Bond Street.