

daries between the States of New York and New Jersey, and a distinguished Whig congressman for many years in the days of Henry Clay. Dr. Nathan Condict was graduated from Princeton College in the Class of 1828, studied medicine at Dr. Willoughby's school at Fairfield, N. Y., with Asa Gray, the botanist, and was afterwards graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York city. He practised in New York for a long time with much success, and contributed frequently to current medical literature. For a number of years he was associated with the late Dr. David Meredith Reese, and among his intimate friends were such men as John W. Francis, Abraham Du Bois, Valentine Mott, Willard and Parker.—Boston Med. and Surg. Journal.

A PRESCRIPTION FOR YOUNG PHYSICIANS.—According to the British Medical Journal, a distinguished Vienna professor gives the following prescription to all young physicians who call to take leave of him before embarking on their professional career. R. Veritatis, humanitatis, fidelitatis, aë infinitum. Miscæ. Ft. elixir vitæ. Signa: To be used constantly throughout life. It is easy, perhaps, for most men to start with a good stock of this spiritual elixir, but the difficulty is to find an apothecary who can dispense the prescription when the supply has run out.—N. Y. Medical Journal.

—Dr. Charles G. Davies of Chicago, who has sent a large number of invalids to Eddy, New Mexico, during the past year, writes to Mr. G. O. Shields of that city: "I must say that, without exception, every patient that I have sent to that delightful country has made wonderful improvement. I am delighted with what your climate has done for them, and shall certainly send you a large colony next winter." The Pecos Valley, of which Eddy is the principal town, is attracting the attention of physicians everywhere, as having the most perfect climate to be found on this continent, for persons suffering from lung or throat troubles, catarrh, asthma, rheumatism, etc.
