THE TRUE WITNESS AND CATHOLIC CHRONICLE.-MARCH 17, 1876.

ter of the Festival were alone held in view, rumors of a divided celebration would not come to us from certain cities of the Dominion. The spirit of following letter received from our advertising agent politics which is a nurseling of the world, is the spirit of disunion ; but the spirit of religion which spirit of disunion; but the spirit of religion which sanctions the outward expression of gratitude on the advertisement appeared. The letter which we the celebration of a nation's festival, is the spirit of union and harmony.

However, we are in a position to state that the rumors to which our correspondent alludes, arise from a misunderstanding. In Ottawa, the celebration of the Festival this year in the Cathedral, is the fruit of an arrangement mutually agreed on by the pastor of St. Patrick's and the Bishop. The Bishop is much beloved by the Irish in Ottawa, and we believe the change to the Cathedral is intended to give more colat and solemnity to the celebration .--Of the other places mentioned in "Consistency's" letter, we are not as yet in possession of the particulars; we believe, however, that all differences, which were at best but mere matters of detail in the celebration, have long since been amicably settled.

To abolish the celebration altogether is asking too much. The day may come-the last probably before judgment---when all nationalities will blend into one, and then party processions and party celebrations will cease their long train of evils.

The celebration of St. Patrick's Day should be the most beautiful and harmless of all festivals; it commemorates the advent of Christianity into that Patrick brought to it; and, although the sentiment of patriotism mingles with the celebration, we must remember those two feelings, the love of God and country, " Pro aris et focis," blend in a crystal stream of divine harmony.

Our correspondent finally asks why Irishmen are Patrick's Day and so apathetic all the year around "Woe to any one," he writes," who would insult. them when out under bands, banners and badges, but dered the several portions of the Mass. During the moment the sun sets on this ebulition of nation- mass His Lordship delivered a very effective disal display they (the Irish), sink into some unac. | course on "Salvation," which was listened to with countable dread of a big brother who was asleep during the fun; they are again the buffet and scorn of the Press, and every low scribbler is allowed to insult them, etc."

It is true that there are journals who love to bear falsewitness to everything and everybody, but "Con-sistency" must remember they are so low in the scale of journalism, and even of civil courtesy that they are ignored in respectable circles. We reget that any leaders of public opinion would ever wound the feelings of their fellow citizens, especially when done unjustly, for nowhere could we find a more orderly, temperate, and industrious body than the Irish citizens of Montreal.

REVIEWS.

THE YOUNG CRUSADER .- This is a periodical intended for young people. It is replete with charming stories and sketches instructing amusing and from its high moral tone, elevating the young mind. "Charley Stewart's Birth Day" "Never give up" and the "Christmas visit" are very interesting papers.

Sadlier & Co., 31 Barclay Street. Montreal: No. 275 Notre Dame Street. 1876. We could not give a better idea of the value of this little work than to allude to its enormous sale and rapidly increasing demand. It is a charming little work of spiritual reflection intended for the different seasons of the ecclesiastical year : and is THE ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT AND COUNCIL OF THE ST. PATRICK'S ORPHAN ASY-KLAG. admirably suited for the holy season of Lent. Several very eminent ecclesiastics have desired us to give this little work a warm recommendation. Certainly it deserves all the eulogiums our con-

MONTREAL, CANADA, Dear Sir,-I am happy in the thought that the pleasant relations existing between us will not be broken by the advertisement of the National Art Company. I can assure you they are all right and send out a picture to every one who sends the certificate and 25 cents with name and Post Office address, they send nearly 5000 daily, and are doing it every day, among so large a mail mistakes will oc-cur and you will probably receive letters from subscribers saying they do not get pictures, the Company are several days behind, but every person who sends will get the picture provided name and address be given; I can vouch for this, any letters you may get if you will send to me I will see that they are attended to .- Yours, EDWIN ALDEN.

BISHOP O'BRIEN AT WESTPORT.

Sunday, 20th February, will long be remembered by the people of Westport as having been honored on that day by a visit from His Lordship the Bishop of Kingston. The announcement made by the Rev. Father Stanton that at length "St. Edwards" was to be allowed to hail the arrival in their midst of country, that never questioned the faith that St. their First Prelate, was gladly received. Extenive preparations were made to duly honor a Prince of the Church, and at length all hearts were gladdened to welcome him amongst them. The large and beautiful edifice was richly decorated for the occasion; ever-greens and handsome draperies artistically arranged together with beautiful motios bore evidence of great skill and taste, and produced Our correspondent finally asks why Irishmen are a pleasing effect to the eye. An immense congre-so enthusiastic in the display of patriotism on St. gation thronged the Sacred editice. High mass was sung by Rev. Father O'Donnell of Prescott, Rev. Father Leonard presided at the organ, and the Choir, possessing many rich voices, very ably renmarked attention. In the evening Solemn Vespers were sung, and His Lordship who is never weary in the cause of religion, delivered, before an immense audience, a splendid lecture on the Catholic Church. In a masterly style was this great subject treated. In strong and forcible terms did the Rev. Prelate place before his hearers, the Catholic Church as Christ founded her, and as He intended her to be until the end of time. In a beautiful peroration couched in the choicest words, His Lordship con-cluded a discourse that will long be treasured up in the minds of all who had the pleasure of hearing him on that happy occasion. The people of Westport not only were proud to welcome their Bishop and be so favorably impressed with this his first visit, but also generously responded to the appeal made in behalf of the Diocesan debt, and the sum of $500 was quickly taken up and presented to His Lordship before leaving as their contribution to-wards the liquidation fund. Amongst the clergy present were Revds. Father Chisholm, of Perth, Desaunhae, of Brewers Mills, Leonard, of Perth, O-Donnell, of Prescott, Keilty, of Kitly. Too much praise cannot be awarded the Rev. Father Stanton, Parish Priest, whose exertions in behalf of his prople continue to gain their deep respect and esteem, the Reverend Father John Baptist Saint-Jure, of and the success attending the late visit being due the Society of Jesus. Translation revised by a to his energetic efforts. The people of Westport will always be glad to welcome their Bishop, and hope under the guidance of their zealous Parish Priest to merit the praises bestowed on them on the occasion of his first visit. SPECTATOR.

We have received from the publishers of the Irish Citizen, No.59 Warren Street, New York, two superb portraits, the one of Cardinal McClorkey, by Sarony, the other of Charles O'Conor, by Bogardus. They are magnificent likenesses and are splendidly mounted on imported French cardboard of large size, and richly decorated with gilding. No more elegant ornaments for the parlor of an Irish-man or a Catholic could be devised. They are given away gratis to every yearly subscriber to the Irish Citizen. All our readers should send for a specimen copy of this excellent Irish Catholic newspaper. Every week it publishes a splendid original illustration. This week's issue has a large picture of the Centennial Fountain. It is a live, energetic Paper in every sense.
