Tom McCloy and all the guides went down to the water's edge and were surprised to find the body wedged between two rocks, just outside of the sweep of the falling water. The spot was dangerous for the ex-periment, but the guides recovered the body late this evening and took it t, the undertaking rooms of Joseph McKenna. When found the body had on two undershirts, stockings and shoes and part of the pantaloons. When the suicide jumped in he wore a Darby hat, a good suit of blue serge, with a tightly buttimed tack coat. The water almost stripped the body. The only outward injury was a smashed jawbone. PREVAILING SICKNESS.

The most prevailing complaints at this season are rheumatiem, neuralgia, sore threat, influmations and congestions. For all these and other rainful troubles Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the best internal and external remedy.

THE DESPOTISM OF ORDER.

(From the New York Ledger, Nov. 3.) Among the superstitions of education are those in favor of what is called order. It is not that there is no such thing as order, but that its advocates are bigoted, narrow and exclusive. It is coolly taken for granted that if what somebody calls order is good, what that same person calls disorder is bad. As if there might not be bad order and good disorder ! What is order as applied to things? It is simply arrangement according to some notion, and disorder is simply arrangement according to some other notion. If a parlor is arranged with chairs in rows all around the walls, with everything in right lines. every one says :-- "How stiff, how intolerable, how little taste is manifested !" But swing round the lourge in the corner careless-ly; let the chairs be scattered about just as they would be if persons had but now used them; shove the centre table a little out of the very middle of the medallion, so that it shall not be set, and then papple say the parlor has a rocial and easy air. What is this but a disguised revolt against the despotism of order ?

ONE GOOD POINT Out of the many poisessed by Burdock Blood Bitters is that it may be taken at all seasons of the year, and by either young or old. In this way the three busy B's are always at work and doing good.

FASHIONABLE FRIVOLITY. Wool laces, though still used, are worn but little. Stylish umbrellas are made with handles of petrified wood, Bracelets of various designs of braided allver are in high favor.

Batterflies of gold filigree are popular ornaments for the hair.

Flounces, both gathered and pointed, are seen on stylish costumer.

Fashionable costumes of cloth are severe in outline and entirely without ornamentation.

Dainty evening gowns are in dove color and are made up with white moire and silver trimmings. Batket patterns are the correct thing in eilver walst belts. Thick cords of silver rope are also worn as belts.

COME, COMRADES, VOW. (A Ballad of '93.)

BY ECONNE DAVIS. I.

Come, comrader, vow this vow to-night, Gome, comeader, yow this yow to ing a, That, true unto one sireland, We'll start occe more the glurious fight Our fathers fought for Ireland. Who dare would hiss that lie again-The coward loon who'd falter That have's blood was shed in vain That hero's blood was shed in vain On Freedom's boly altar ? From age to age Each bard and sage And warrior chief remind us That alien lords-Their gyves or swords-Can never, never bind us ! п.

There never was a nation yet In Europe's choosered story That could in darkent hour forget Its heritage of glory ; And so, boys, we, with hearts of pride, Our ancient laurels cherish ; Such bays shall fliat on Time's broad tide When man himself will perish. Then drink this toast From coast to coast ;--To Benburh and Tyrconnell, To Dathi's brand, O'Neill's Red Hand, To Sarsfield and O'Donnell ! which attracted attention, because he was

And though we sink in blood stained graves Throughout the fight before us, We'll know the Em'rald ever waves Its hopeful pennons o'er us ! And when we're sleeping with the dead, How happy must we be, men, To feel upon our mould o'erbead The glorious tread of free men,-

The young, the bold Who'll there unfold In triumph o'er their sireland, With joy serene,

The gold and green-The dear old flag of Ireland !

THE MARBIAGE CEREMONY MARKED BY GREAT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.-Quietly and simply in the presence of the bride's relatives and personal friends, a few members of Washing ton's efficial society and of several hundred of the general public, Hor. Joseph Chamberlaio and Miss Mary Endicoit were married at 2 o'clock this afternoon in St. John's Episcopal church. The church was absolutely without floral or other decorations, and the awn-ing stretched across the sidewalk to carriage step was the only sign of any unusual ceremony. No cards or formal invitations had been received. There were no best men or bridesmaids, and the entire service was characterized by extreme simplicity. Such of the friends of the family as had been verbally invited to attend took seats in the body of the church half an hour before the ceremony began. The Cabinet meeting was ended at an early hour so as to permit the members to be present at the ser vice, and they were in most cases accompanied by their wives. The President and Mrs.

Cleveland entered the church just before 2 o'clock, and were escorted to seats in one of the pews in the first row. Members of the Endicott family and relatives were seated immediately in the rear, while as many of the public as could flad room in the little church filled the gallery and the hallways. Among the notable persons in attendance besides the President and Mrs. Cloveland, were Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. Fairchild, Mrs. Dickinson, the Miss Bayard, Miss Vilas, Secretary Bayard, Secretary Fairchild, Secretary Whitney, Secretary Vilas, Postmaster-General Dickinson, Justice Lamar, the Misses Hunt,, M. Samuel Ward, Col. John Hay, Captain and Mrs. John F. Rudgers, Admiral and Miss Rodgers, Mrs. Ridale, the Misses Macomb and Gan. Greeley, besides a large number of gnests from Boston. Mr. Chamberlain entered the church at 2 o'clock, and waited at the chancel. His appearance was the signal to the organist, who immediately began to play the wedding march from "Lohengrin," and the bride, leaning on her father's arm, att the order, leading of her father's arm, attired in a payrigray triveling dress, and wearing a dark bounct, pasual up the right aiele, and joining the brite and groom knelt before the altar. Rev. D. Lionard, assisted by Revorend Mr. Franko, of Salem, Massachusetts, performed the Episcopal wedding service. Both the bride and groom gave back the responses in a firm and audible tone. Prayer was prononnoed and Joseph Chamberlain and Mary Endicott were man and wife. Again the organ pealed forth, and to its strains the party slowly passed along the left also out of the church into the carriages, and werc driven immediately to the house of the bride's parents. All reports tend to show that the wedding presents are numerous and valuable. The President and Mrs. Uleveland and each member of the Cabinet are represented by a substantial token of love and re-gard, but it is not expected that there will be any display made of the presents, except to A reception was held at the realdence of the Secretary and the newly married couple recoived the congratulations of the invited guests. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain drove to the Pennsylvania railway station, and it is supposed they went to New York, although their destination was not known even to the bride's parents. They will return to Washington within a week and be the gueste of Steretury Endicott for a few days. On the 26:h they will sail for Europe.
