

ONUUVEN Observers

David Pollock	Professor at School Of International Relations Carleton University	Served with the UN in Latin America, 1950-80. Has written extensively on development in Latin America.
Stephen Randall	Texaco-Lincoln McKay Chair in American Studies, University of Calgary	Has written extensively on, and worked in, Latin America.
Guy Claveau	Professor of International Relations, Institute for Development, University of Ottawa	Has taught Public Administration in Costa Rica. Works currently on Central America "distance" education project.
Peter Johnston	Former Foreign Service Officer	Served as Ambassador in Jakarta, Prague and Caracas.
Jean-Denis Archambault	Professor of Law, University of Ottawa	Has written on human rights and law in Latin America. Has worked at law faculty in Bogota.

OAS Observers

Craig Scott	Assistant Professor of Law University of Toronto	Has worked with the International Human Rights Law Group, an organization that has developed methods of observing elections for NGOs. Has travelled extensively in Nicaragua.
-------------	--------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------