In my opinion the influence of this play upon the hundreds who have seen it this week will be tremendous, and all to the good.

I should like to say something about the wonderful skill you have displayed in handling various situations; but will leave that to those more competent to discuss dramatic art.

The work done by the performers is far superior to what we are accustomed to in Toronto.

scarlet and knakl and bearing themselves every one like the soldiers they are, marched to the parks, while thousands of admiring eyes followed their every movement.

Honorary Colonel James L. Hughes was commander-in-chief, with Lieut-Colonel Thompson in actual command. The decorating of the monuments of Queen Victoria and the several others in the park and gardens followed.

In the evening a wonderful concert before a wonderful audience took place in Massey Hall. The beauty of the singing made the entertainment deserving of the adjective applied to it, and the size and enthusiasm of the audience gave it corresponding value.

Mr. Vogt announced the results in the contests after first complimenting the children on the smoothness and beauty of their performance, which he compared to that of a choir of English children whom he had heard competing in Paris.

The prize winners in solo work were Frank Taylor flist and George Brandon second. Essex School choir carried off the palm, with Borden Street School choir next in order of merit. In the double trio. Dovercourt School came first. Essex Street School next.

Mr. Rees, the conductor, was surprised by an unexpected number, when Mr. James L. Hughes, on behalf of the children, spoke words of hearty praise in presenting some choice cut glass to the painstaking director. The concert was away and beyond all others the finest in the history of the schools.

EASTERN ART GOODS SALE.

Much public interest has been created in the Palestine Exhibition, held in the transportation building at the Exhibition grounds. The collection included many fine and rare curios, models, oriental rugs and tapestries, embroideries, Damascus brass ware, rare old arms and other triumphs of eastern craftsmanship. Their assembly in Toronto meant considerable expense, and the freight charges for the return voyage were too heavy to be undertaken.

It has therefore been decided to dispose of this particular exhibit by public auction on Saturday, May 31, commencing at 11 o'clock arm, sharp. The opportunity should not be lost by These parks are situated in the fastest growing section of the city-Ward One. They are right in the track of the big developments.

They were the first to be benefited by the establishment of the civic car lines. Ideally situated-high above the lake-beautifully wooded - and being fast developed to the McEachren standard.

GLENMOUNT PARK KINGSMOUNT PARK GREENMOUNT PARK WOODMOUNT PARK

Glenmount Park and Kingsmount Park are situated on Gerrard Street, and are served by the civic cars now running.

Greenmount and Woodmount are but four minutes' walk from the civic car lines on Danforth, which will be in operation in a couple of months. The demand for highly developed residence property in the East End is becoming greater every month. These parks are ideally situated for the building of the two-flat houses which are growing more and more in popularity.

In the Fastest Growing Section of the City

The building of the Bloor Street Viaduct, the civic car lines and the development of Ashbridge's Bay, have started an influx of families into the East End of the city, and Ward One is building up faster than any other part of Toronto.
