COVERING IRON BOARD.

To make a practical ironing boar cover buy two yards of unbleached muslin or denim, measuring off sixty-six inches or enough to cover the length of your board. Tear this lengthwise thru the centre or make a straight fold.

Now put the two pieces of cloth together and bind the side and the bottoms with cotton tape. Allow an underpiece of two inches for making the flap.

Make pockets for the iron holders, stand and wax from the piece of muslin or denim that remains. Then you always know where your things are when you want them.

The Water Way on the Holiday

VIA CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES

Make up your mind that you are going across the Lake for a change. Of course, if you have been over before, you are going again. For there are so many places to visit, so many things of interest to see, and the trip itself is so immensely enjoyable that you never tire of it. Just consider what a choice you have here in these five splendid outings: There is, first of all, Niagara Falls, which can best be viewed from the belt line scenic railway in the run past the rapids, whirlpool and falls; Buffalo, with its big stores, is but a few miles distant. At Niagara-on-the-Lake there is a wealth of historical material of interest to every patriotic Canadian. Old Fort George, Navy Hall, where the first Parliament was held, and the historical building filled with relics of 1812 and possessions of early settlers. Hamilton, Burlington and Grimsby Beach offer pecial facilities to picnic parties, through their smooth sandy beaches and beautiful picnic grounds; although all of the places mentioned have spaces reserved for picnickers. For those who like longer trips, the 1000 Islands and

Rochester are well worth a visit, and

PARAFFIN ON PRESERVES.

In using paraffin many housekeepers are careless, and consequently com-plain that their fruits and jelly do not keep well. Have the jelly glasses absolutely cold and dry. The least bit of moisture above the jelly, at the sides of the glass, will prevent the paraffin in that particular spot from hardening. Consequently, after the moisture disappears, an air space is left. While the paraffin is hardening the glasses must not be moved in any way whatever. A slam of a door will sometimes shake the glass just enough to make a crack in the paraffin while it is harden crack in the paraffin while it is hardening, and this will let air enter. It is not necessary to heat the parafine, but only necessary to melt it. This can be done at the back of the stove, where there
