SEVEN BATTLES THIS STORY OF BATTERED CHINESE

Allied Troops Advancing to the Relief of the Legations at Peking Were Attacked by Boxers and Imperial Chinese Troops, Who Were Repulsed.

As Railroad Had Been Entirely Demolished He Decided to Withdraw to Tien Tsin—Was Hampered by His Wounded—Seized Guns and Supplies—Gives Details of the Casualties in the Allied Forces During His Perilous Trip—Hundreds of Chinese Killed.

London, June 20.—(Special.)—The adventures of the hard-fighting ally under Admiral Seymour, the reaching of Aiding, 12 miles from Peking, the decision to retreat, the capture of rice and immense stores of modern arms and ammunition, affording material for a strenuous defence until relieved. All this is told in a detailed account of the Admiral's journey, as reported by the Admiralty at midnight, which runs as follows:

Seymour's Despatch.
"Tien Tsin, June 27.—(via the Foo, June 23, 10.05 p.m.)—Have returned to Tien Tsin by rail. On June 13, two attacks on the advance guard were made by the Boxers, who were repulsed with considerable loss to them and none on our side. On June 14, the Boxers attacked the main force, who were repulsed with a loss of about 100 killed. Our loss was five Italians.

Attacked British Guard.
"The main force of the Boxers attacked the British guard left to protect Lofo Station. Reinforcements were sent back and the enemy were driven off with 100 killed. Two of our men were wounded. "We pushed forward to Aiding and engaged the enemy on June 13 and 14, inflicting a loss of 175. There were no casualties on our side.

Railway Destroyed.
"Extensive destruction of the railway in our front having made further advance by rail impossible, I decided on June 16 to return to Yang Tsun by advance by the river to Pei. After my departure from Yang Tsun, the railway was destroyed by the Boxers and Imperial troops from Peking, who lost from 600 to 500 killed. Our casualties were 400 and 48 wounded. These trains joined me at Yang Tsun on the same evening and were destroyed.

Railway at Yang Tsun.
"The railway at Yang Tsun was found entirely demolished and the trains could not be moved. The force being short of provisions and hampered by wounded, I decided to return to Tien Tsin, which had not been in communication in six days, and our supplies had been cut off.

Wounded Started by Boat.
"On June 19, the wounded, with necessary stores, started by boat, the forces marching alongside the river. Opposition was experienced during the whole course of the river from nearly every village, the Boxers, when defeated at one point, retreating to the next, and continually retreating our advance by occupying well-selected positions, from which they had to be forced off at the point of the bayonet, and in face of a galling fire, difficult to locate.

A Night March.
"On June 20, we made a night march, arriving at daybreak opposite the Imperial army above Tien Tsin, where, after friendly advances, a tremendous heavy battle was opened, which our men were victorious in. The enemy were repulsed with a loss of 100 killed. The army was next occupied by the combined forces. Determined attempts to retake the army were made on the following day, but unsuccessful.

The Casualties.
"Casualties to date: British—Killed 27, wounded 77. American—Killed 4, wounded 25. French—Killed 1, wounded 10. German—Killed 12, wounded 62. Italian—Killed 5, wounded 3. Japanese—Killed 2, wounded 3. Australian—Killed 1, wounded 1. Russian—Killed 10, wounded 27.

WHERE ARE THE LEGATIONS?
Absolutely no trustworthy information from Peking—save news from Shan Tung.

Shanghai, June 20.—Absolutely no trustworthy information has come out of Peking for two weeks, all the wires being broken. The whereabouts of the legations is unknown. It is the belief of Chinese that Prince Tuan has surrendered the Emperor. Prince Tuan is the recognized head of the Boxers. Grave tidings come from Shanghai province. The Wei Chian mission premises have been destroyed. The mission is unoccupied. This is thought preliminary of further disturbances.

Chamberlain's So-Called Compromise on the Appeal Clause Was No Compromise.

London, June 20.—(7.10 p.m.)—In the House of Lords today, during the debate on the second reading of the Australian Commonwealth Bill, the Earl of Carrington (Liberal) attacked the alleged compromise of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, to make political capital out of the bill. Referring to the crisis caused by the appeal clause, he said that at one time the future of Australia rested in the hands of the individual, who on a certain occasion, was so overcome by the glamor of a 15-minute conversation with the Kaiser, that he was fain to publicly announce that an alliance had been formed between Great Britain, America and Germany.

The Earl also called attention to the fact that the compromise on the appeal clause was no compromise, but an unqualified surrender.

Provincial Bank of Canada Will Open Its Doors for Business on July 9—Election of Board in a Few Days.

Montreal, June 20.—(Special.)—The Provincial Bank of Canada, having received the necessary permission from the Treasury Board, Ottawa, will open its doors for business on July 9, the authorized capital being $1,000,000, $750,000 paid up. The election of the board will take place in a few days, and it is said the president will be ex-Mayor Ducharme of St. Henri, while the vice-president will be Mr. George B. Burdick, the well-known Montreal capitalist.

He is a poor wretch—this old man, the past, I have watched him at his work, and he is powerless to dig his own grave, however many others he may have excavated.—David Gordon.

An Abatable Nuisance.
The retail merchants made a pressing demand on the aldermen yesterday for the removal of the dist. plagues. Unfortunately it did not make any perceptible change on that subject. They like dust—always after it. Merchandise, to escape ruin, must be quick selling, like the new fringed and ties at Quinn's, 60 Yonge-street, which dust cannot wither as they are grabbed by the makers.

THE EVERY CARRIERS GOT TO SHOW ATTAWA

Sir Adolphe Scored Mr. Mulock for Withholding the Statutory Increases from Them So Did Mr. Puttee.

But the Postmaster-General Sat Silent and Said No Word in Favor of Granting Them Living Wages—He Blew His Own Horn However.

Ottawa, June 20.—(Special.)—This is a surmer of discontent to all M.P.'s, except those resident in Ottawa. The discontent shows itself every day more clearly. This morning but few members were in the House when Speaker Hain gave his Bible reading. Mr. Belcourt, who has made himself notorious as a partisan chairman of the Rations Committee, asked the report of the committee should be made public.

Mr. Mulock replied that what he had done in this respect had been done by the Conservative Government, in dealing with the N.W.T., speaking out in favour of statutory increases to out-riding the public. Mr. Mulock said that the whole question will be disposed of on Wednesday.

House Will Sit on Monday.
Mr. Britton suggested that the House do not sit on Monday, Dominion Day. F. D. Craig and David Henderson added their voices to the suggestion, but Mr. Wilfrid Tarte's utterances in France, Mr. Foster took a morning fall out of the absent Mr. Tarte. He wanted an explanation of the erratic Minister's course from the Montreal Herald, published in yesterday's World, and declared it emanated from a source not at enmity with the Government. The suspicion was that a member of the Government had penned it.

Even Sir Wilfrid is "Defeated."
Sir Wilfrid declined to give an opinion upon Tarte's utterances till he had heard from him as to the authenticity of the report. It was betoged as "French-Canadian" and more French this year than they were last. He turned off a few weak witticisms about the French-Canadian, and declared Tarte was loyal to Britain.

Postoffice Estimates.
The House went into supply on the postoffice estimates.

Mr. Foster severely censured Mr. Mulock for making a surmise for his department by charging the expenses of non-productive areas to the postoffice.

Yukon Mail Service.
Mr. Foster cited the case of the Yukon mail service, where $47,000 was charged to the N.W.T. and $4000 to the interior Department. These sums were for carrying mails, but they should have been charged to the Postoffice Department. The whole system of bookkeeping in the Postoffice Department tended to deceive the public.

Indefinite Attack.
Mr. McMillan poured out a fulsome eulogy upon Sir Adolphe Caron for his special attack of the department, which Sir Adolphe retorted that Mr. McMillan's attacks were too indefinite, and defied anyone to point out irregularities in his work while he was at the head of the Postoffice Department.

How Mulock "Did Up" the Letter Carriers.
Sir Adolphe scored Mr. Mulock for withholding the statutory increases from the junior members of the service, like the senior carriers. He pointed out, especially heavy letters, upon the poorly paid clerks. Sir Adolphe thought that the Postoffice Department could never realize a surplus if a proper service were given to the country. He thought the duty on the newspapers was a retrograde step. Altogether he considered Mr. Mulock's house talk.

Government Prolonging the Session After recess Hon. William Mulock went to Mr. Davis, who wanted to discuss the Government Will Delay the Bringing Down of the Railway Subsidies Till the Last Moment, HOPING TO ESCAPE SCRUTINY, BUT OPPOSITION IS DETERMINED TO STAND GUARD OVER THE PUBLIC TREASURY TO THE LAST.

Ottawa, June 20.—(Special.)—The railway subsidies, which will amount to about $20,000,000, will, as usual, not be brought down till the last moment, in the hope that they may be got through without much scrutiny, but the Opposition is determined to stand guard over the public treasury, and no subsidy will escape their careful eye. It is understood on excellent authority that the former subsidy of $3000,000 will be this year of growth made $4,000,000. This will bring the bill Government expense up to nearly $90,000,000, a record breaker.

Ask every other gentleman you meet in the London clubs what brand of cigarette he smokes and he will say Littles Max. They are acknowledged to be the finest in the world. Messrs. A. The Littles Max cigarettes are now being passed into stock. They include large and small sizes, with gold and gold-tipped, also very mild ladies' sizes. "The trade supplied."
