COLLECIATE INSTITUTE LONDON MAY GO COALLESS SHOULD BYLAW BE PASSED

This Statement Made by Man Interested in Business

interested in the coal business in this district, the passing of the coal bylaw winter.

"I am not making any threats, and I would not be able to influence the big operators, but I wish to say as one citizen to others, that if the coal bylaw is en to others, that if the coal bylaw is assed a good many people in London lay go cold this winter," he said. "This could not be the fault of any London coal then, but this matter is not one to e trifled with."

A local dealer stated that he did not elieve the coal men of the city would loss down in any event, but he could loss down in any event, but he could not tell what influence the vote might are on the operators.

Annual field day sports of the London Collegiate Institute are being held this afternoon at Tecumseh Park. The pupils of the collegiate, headed by the 7th Regiment Band, paraded to the park shortly before 2 o'clock, and a good program of events was run off.

Despite the adverse weather conditions the turnout was large, and the athletic events keenly contested.

As usual the feature of the day was the annual football match with the St. Thomas Collegiate. The locals were in good trim, and before the game started expressed confidence that they would defeat their ancient rivals. The girls basketball game was another of the annual features which still maintains fits place as a headliner on the sports' program.

The parade of the students through sports' program.

The parade of the students through the down-town streets attracted the usual interest and attention.

Before the contracts can be signed, they must have the sanction of Commissioner Richards.

A telegram has been forwarded to the commissioner regarding the case, from Toronto, and it is hoped to have a reply in time to wind up this business this afternoon.

Sure, it is the man who has not used it, for William Lovelock, the well-known painter in St. Thomas, 14 Station street, for over twelve years, says: "I was all in with inflammatory rheumatism. I went to bed in September, 1911, and the first work I was able to do was on the 17th of March, 1913.

"I was swollen from head to foot; in fact, my limbs were twice the ordinary size, and I was in intense pain for three weeks. I was unable to feed, myself, and was suffering more each day. My physicians told me plainly to prepare for the worst, as about tendays was my limit. A friend of mine, who was trying to cheer me up a bit, after the physician had left, remarked: "Why not try Parker's Oil?" I sent to Small's drug store and purchased a bottle, and, after the first application, received relief, and in three days the pain was gone and swelling reduced greatly. I used seven bottles, and nere I am today, willing to testify and give praise to Parker's Black Oil, the surcure for rheumatism, as I found it.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 5—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Confusion of speculative sentiment was indicated by the irregular price changes at the opening of today's stock market. A few leaders registered substantial gain over yesterday's heavy close, while others were disposed to seek lower levels. United States Steel reacted after a firm start to its recent minimum of 105%, but immediately rallied a point, and Bethlehem Steel gained as much. Other equipments, oils, tobaccos and active specialties were hesitant. Ohio Grs featured the utilities at a decline of 2%.

Noon.—Support of United States Steel, which buctuated between 105% and 107%, was the noteworthy feature of the forenoon, and went far towards stabilizing prices elsewhere. There was recurrent pressure, however, against the tobaccos petroleums and several

There was recurrent pressure, however, against the tobaccos, petroleums and several high-priced specialties, the first-named losing 3 to 5 points, while Cuban-American Sugar dropped 30 points from its last sale of a month ago to 140. Trading was broad and active in the first hour, but slackened later, when the market developed renewed irregularity.

1:30 p.m.—Dealings dwindled steadily in the afternoon, and movements became more conflicting. United States Steel held firm, Bethlehem and Midvale Steels reacted sharply, and rails also eased with various specialties, including Cuba Cane Sugar. NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.
