Protruding Leg Of Sewer Worker Struck and Broken

Stuck Through Manhole and Was Fractured When Car Hit It.

Suspended head downward, while he made an examination of the sewer through a manhole at the corner of Pall Mall and Maitland streets at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon Stephen Muscoluk, 205 Simcoe street, had his right leg broken when he was struck by the motor car driven by William Prodgers, a C. P. R. engineer, who was turning the corner at the time Muscoluk was in his peculiar position.

Muscoluk's right leg alone was sticking up out of the manhole, and Prodgers failed to see him in time to stor the car. Why Muscoluk was in the position he was when struck could not be ascertained. He was removed to Victoria Hospital, where the fracture was reduced. He is a city employee eneaged in sewer work.

A Man and His Work

CORTY-THREE years ago Brantford was the scene of an epoch marking event.

(A young man of 27 was experimenting with a human ear in order that he might construct an instrument to record the vibrations of sound.

C. Observing how, when he spoke into the ear, the thin membrane not only vibrated itself but caused the heavy bones of the ear also to vibrate, the thought flashed upon him-

"If this thin membrane of the ear can move bones relatively so heavy, why would not a heavier membrane move a piece of steel."

I That was the thought in the mind of Alexander Graham Bell that led to the construction, a short time later, of the first telephone.

I To-day at Brantford a beautiful memorial in Stanstead granite is being unveiled to commemorate the great achievement.

It is a far cry from the first crude instrument of forty odd years ago to the complex switchboards and elaborate equipment of to-day by which it is possible to speak across a continent, yet the same principle underlies both.

I To-day, over the lines of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada alone, over two million messages will bear unconscious testimony to the merit of Dr. Bell's great triumph. His work as inventor of the telephone and his, perhaps, still greater achievements in teaching the dumb to speak proclaim him one of the greatest benefactors of the race.
