BOY WHO TOUCHED LIVE WIRE MAY GET BETTER

Cecil Freeman Half Electrocuted While Climbing-Custom House Vacancies Filled.

HAMILTON, June 28 .- (Special.)-Dr. McGillivray held out some hope of the recovery of Cecil Freeman, the 12-year-old son of W. R. Freeman, 48 Liberty-street, who came in contact with a live wire while climbing a tree at the head of Liberty-street Saturday evening. He received a severe shock and clung to th wire some time, apparently unable to free himself from it. He finally fell to the ground, about 12 feet, alighting on his head and shoulder. He was not very badly burned, but was rendered unconscious and has not fully recovered consciousness yet. On account of his condition, Dr.

has not fully recovered consciousness yet. On account of his condition, Dr. McGillivray has not been able to make a very careful examination yet, but says that among his injuries is a broken shoulder.

A very important session of the city council will be held Monday evening. In addition to the power and street railway bylaws, which will probably be submitted to the people, it is the intention to submit a bylaw to raise $260,000 to pave the streets adjoining the street railway tracks, and the main thorofares of the city.

The Liberal executive met Saturday werning and decided to recommend that the vacancies that were caused in the customs house staff by the deaths of John Capes and H. Gayfer, be filled promotions and that Frank Woolcott, secretary of the Liberal Club, should be appointed assistant appraiser, and Herbert Temple should be added to the staff. Two other vacancies will not be filled for a couple of months.

Fire broke out this afternoon in a shed at the corner of John and Jackson-streets, fented by Neil and Hope. The damage was trifling.

That august institution also thought well of the scheme and in addition to its sanction forwarded a promise to do handsomely by the colonials and pay all expenses. Along about this time Colonial Robertson of the 48th received a letter from The London Sphere asking him for a photograph. A few days later there arrived copies of the correspondence in the case and the official invitation.

FORECASTING THE FUTURE. Predictions Regarding the Next Half-Year.

NEW YORK, June 29.-The Post's London correspondent cables: It looks at the moment like a period of stagnation this summer, with a resumption of activity in the autumn. The points most closely watched by experienced financiers are three in number—the rate for money, the course of general trade, and, more specifically

Concerning the first, popular belief

is assured for a prolonged period. But experts in Lombard-street are not so ure of this. The Bank of England rate may possibly go to 2 per cent. in July, but, after this, it is likely that circumstances will bring about a gradual return to 4 per cent., with some renewed easing-off next spring. One reason for this expectation is that the continental banks are expected to continue their policy of ac-cumulating gold. Despite the large ounts already taken by Berlin, there has been a great increase, this week, in German bills offered for discount here. These are partly treasury bills, but partly also pure finance paper backed by French bankers. Then, too the very large issues of new securi-ties on the London market attract attention. For the half-year, they have run to £110,000,000, the largest in seven years past. They were only £89,000,000 in the similar period last year £85,000,000 in 1906, and £69,000,000 in the last year of really cheap money, 1904 This view of the money market's future is also partly based on a feeling that trade may partially revive in America and elsewhere. It must be confessed, however, that there are as yet no definite indications of such

I have discussed the American out look this week with the best-qualified observers on this market, including those who are individually interested in your securities and those who are not. Those who are most competent to judge consider an immediate rise in the American market quite unjustiyour situation. They believe a rise to be not due normally, at least until after the election. Nevertheless, these same people concede that a rise may occur very shortly, thru operations of American financiers in a human for the same people.
