THE SPEED SKATERS.

At the police sports last night it was noticeable how few of the speed skaters competed. This is attributed to the fact that the speedy ones desire to go in for championship honors, which they could not do had they skated in the sports last evening.

K. J. Macrae stated this morning that as representative of the M. P. A. A. it was his duty to send a list of all the skaters who competed last evening to the heads of the association at Halifax, when it is probable that they will be suspended.

DOWN AND OUT.

The Sad Experience of a Newly Arrived Immigrant.

A newly arrived Irishman yesterday applied for a position as porter and all round man at one of the prominent city hotels.

He was dressed to kill. A three inch collar encircled his neck, and protruding curls, together with a most attractive general attire, denoted the applicant. He, however, assured the manager that financially he was "on the hog" and was willing to do any rest for the winter months, which are slightly more frigid here than "Old Killarney."

The proprietor looked at the applicant with some suspicion, but finally assured him that he would be tried out.

His first event was in the "snow-shake race." The first heat was on the roof. He finished well.

Then came the second heat in the alley, where seven feet of snow was piled up. At the start he broke—a window—but his record was good.

The finish was exciting. It was a sweep-stake with brown and shovel in front of the hotel, but the strain was too hard.

He could stand it no longer and was flagged in the third heat. He resigned his job.

SEWING FOR MISSIONS.

Young Assyrian Lady Gets High Prices For Gowns.

Kattie Goura, an Assyrian from Montreal, is registered at the Clifton House. She is engaged in selling fancy needle work, which she sews herself. The money which she earns is sent to St. Gabriel's church, Montreal, where it is used to aid in mission work.

Rev. T. F. Potheringham of this city is assisting Miss Goura, by writing letters to his friends stating that this lady is on a good work and asking them to patronize her.

A Times' reporter called on Miss Goura this morning, and in conversation with her, asked if she profited much by her work. In reply she said "all my earnings, which average four or five dollars a day, are sent to St. Gabriel's church in Montreal. I pay my board out of these funds, but beyond that I keep nothing. I have a carriage to drive me about the city, and that costs me two dollars a day. I have always been a good artist, and when I was but a young girl my father sent me to Dr. Jessup's sewing school in Damascus. From there I graduated, and went to Montreal. I soon found friends, and joined St. Gabriel's church. Taking advantage of my knowledge in sewing, I set out on my present mission. I have visited Sydney and Halifax, and so far, have been very successful. I carry a large stock of fancy work with me, which I value at $2,000."

Miss Goura showed the Times' man a few samples of her work, among which was a large center piece valued at fifty dollars.

WEDDINGS.

The Vancouver B. C. World, Jan. 6th, says: "At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Pound, 623 Hamilton street, the marriage took place yesterday afternoon of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Pound, and Mr. W. Ferguson, traveler for Messrs. Greenhills & Company of this city. The Rev. John Simpson, pastor of the First Congregational church, performed the ceremony. Miss Edna Dorothy McDonald was bridesmaid and the groom was attended by Mr. Charles Loneragan. Refreshments were afterwards served, about sixty sitting down to the charming repast, and later the happy couple took passage on the steamer City of Seattle for a short honeymoon trip." The groom is well known in St. John and throughout the maritime provinces.

A GRAND SUCCESS.

Successful beyond expectation was the opening performance of the Great Pauline at the Grand Opera House last night. Everyone anticipated an auspicious commencement, but none were prepared for the overwhelming success which greeted this popular entertainer. And from the merry mood in which all departed the success of his engagement here is insured. —Ritaburg Daily News.

CZAR'S MESSAGE

TO HIS TROOPS.

army, nothing in the world could withstand us. Our soldiers are uneducated; it is not as with the Japanese. The bravery displayed by the Japanese soldiers is unrivalled. It seems shameful to kill such splendid men. I lament the tremendous sacrifice of life on both sides. The emperor is a good sovereign who is rarely seen. He seems to be disgusted at the cruelties of the war. I wish for peace. I think hostilities will cease during the coming autumn at the latest.

Why Did They Surrender?

London, Jan. 14.—The correspondent at Port Arthur of the Times says: "The total number of soldiers, seamen and civilians in Port Arthur at the beginning of the siege was 58,000."

There are no signs of privation here. There was food sufficient for two months and the surrender of the Russian garrison is inexplicable.

The Daily Mail's Tokyo correspondent gives a story to the effect that all the money in Port Arthur was divided among the Russian officers and when this was discovered, a bitter feud arose in the army which was largely responsible for the fall of the fortress.

Stoessel at Nagasaki.

Nagasaki, Jan. 14.—The Japanese transport Kanakuru, from Port Dalry, Jan. 11th, with General Dalry, Jan. 11th, and others on board, arrived here early this morning. A prolonged quarantine inspection. The Governor Arakawa with the civil officials of this port proceeded on board the transport at three in the afternoon.

General and Madame Stoessel, two of the Russian command's personal staff, seven other officers, two ladies and six orphan children were landed in three steam launches at the Japanese wharf, where they were received by a guard of fifty police and several officers of gendarmes.

The Russian general was attired in a grey military overcoat and wore his sword. He looked well and walked with a steady step. Preceded by a few police officers and followed by his return, General Stoessel slowly wended his way up the hill to a prettily situated bungalow on Asia hill where he will be quartered. Half way there, some dozen of Russian officers, finding out that their late chief was arriving saluted in respectful silence. The party then entered the house.

The closing act of the great drama caused a feeling of sadness was not dispelled by the glorious weather, beautiful surroundings and kind reception accorded to the Russians by the Japanese.
