tour of the British manufacturers party through Canada, telling him of their impressions of this country. The letters are most pleasing to the people of the maritime provinces as they speak most encouragingly of prospects here and say that a bright and prospectos here and say that a bright and prospectos here and say that a bright and prosperous future is awaiting this section of the dominion. The manufacturers were greatly impressed with the possibilities in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia and said they were surprised that more publicity were not given to the advantages of these provinces for capitalists in industry, and for the general welfare of men in all trades and professions to make their careers.

Frederick Dawson, director of Mather & Platt, Ltd., the famous engineering company of Manchester, Eng., is one of those who has written his views, while others are H. E. One describes St. John as the "Canadian Liverport," and Halifax as the "Canadian Portsmouth," and all speak an encouraging word for the future of these cities, of Moncton, Fredericton, Amherst and other ceatres. More advertising, persistent publicity, they say are greatly desired to make the possibilities of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia better known.

MAKING RAPID

PROGRESS AT

COURTENAY BAY

The work of expansion and development at Courtenay Bay is being pushed steadily and rapidly forward, and the progress already made, despite the discouraging weather experienced for the last few weeks has been little short of remarkable. About one hundred and seventy-five men are busily engaged with the Courtenay Construction Company in their share of the development as directed by Norton Griffiths & Co., and the scene is one of great activity.

A start is to be made early next week on the big rock bluff by this company and soon a locomotive and train will be hauling rock from that spot to fill in for the construction of the breakwater. The grade for the train has been about completed and by the first of the week the company will be running the train across the rails. The second steam shovel for the use of the company is now on its way out and will probably be in use by the middle of next week, and its being employed will practically double the amount of work now being done.

I. C. R. PASS INQUIRY

The I. C. R. pass inquiry was resumed at Moncton presterday by Commissioner G. Hazen Adair of Sussex. Dr. C. A. Murray, who was on the stand all morning will be recalled when George W. Fowler, who went to Montreal, returns. It was decided to call but two witnesses in the meantire, and Mr. Fowler will give the names of these to Mr. Freeze.

Dr. Murray, asked regarding the money Raymond Vye obtained from him, said that Vye had saked for money twice and he had refused, but later had loaned him $270. Vye had told the witness that he (Vye) had taken passes from the Transcript Office. He had been in the Transcript Office with Elmer Ferguson and found the passes in the basement. He later let Ferguson into the secret that they numbered them. This Vye had told the witness had returned from the cast. The I. C. R. management were investigating the matter at the time. About the middle of August Vye gave the witness five or six passes telling him that he could use them. Vye had given him passes before and had said that whenever he waitness five or six passes telling him that he could use them. Vye had given him passes before and had said that whenever he waitness five or six passes the liberal party and the ham of the passes had been obtained in the legal way and the name of Drs. Murray and Joseph Bourque were also connected with the rumors. He had been told by Dr. Murray thad his son, Jasper, had filled in passes for the N. B. Wire Fence Company, but had not signed Evans' name. Murray had also told him that the passes had been obtained in the legal way and the name of Drs. Murray and Joseph Bourque were also connected with the work of the passes for their men. The enquiry was adjourned the friends of Pythians in the city and outside have been most generous in donating flowers— and fill the passes for the observation of Memorial or Decoration Day, which this year falls on Th
