OBITUARY

Thomas Gillen.
Thomas Gillen, a well known resident of the North End, passed away very suddenly at his late residence, 212 Millidge avenue, last night. He was a cooper by trade, and worked with Purdy & Green for thirty-six years. Yesterday he was attending to his work as usual. Three sons and five daughters survive. The sons are Henry, Harding, and Thomas, all of this city, and the daughters are Mrs. James Duncan, Mrs. George Doherty, and the Misses Besse, Margaret and Agatha, all of this city. James Gillen, of the I. C. R. Moncton, is a brother.

CAPE BRETON

Within the past twenty years the development of the coal and steel industries has revolutionized what was primarily an agricultural and fishing community. The bituminous coal fields in Cape Breton cover an area of 4,000 square miles; the output is shipped to other Provinces and the United States and exported to Europe. Extensive deposits of iron and lime adjacent to this vast coal area facilitate the manufacture of steel and combined are the most important resources of Cape Breton. A large part of the Island is still forested and lumbering is an important industry. Manufacturing is also carried on and the seaport towns are serving large and growing shipping interests.

SYDNEY

Sydney is a port of entry and capital of Cape Breton County and naturally the wholesale and shopping centre of an active industrial community. The City is located on an arm of Sydney Harbor, one of the finest on the Atlantic Coast.

This community is served by the Cape Breton Electric Co. one of the street railway successes in Canada.

FLY FIGHTERS

(Toronto World)
Over in the United States the slogan against the germ disseminating fly is everywhere meeting with response. The boy scouts and the school children are being enlisted in the cause of public health and the campaign so instituted should become universal. The house fly and the mosquito, brethren in arms against humanity, have been tried and proven guilty in the one court whose judgments are not only final, but unappealable. Science has traced some diseases at least to their origin, or at least to their efficient cause. The slogan "swat the fly" on its first emergence into the light of day and the home should be that of every household, but of even greater importance is the elimination of its breeding places. Here the scouts and the school children can be enlisted as fly-fighters. They can do no better service.

LAST MINUTE WORDS FROM MANY PLACES

Paris, May 9.—Gabriel Hanotaux, former minister of foreign affairs, will visit Canada in 1912. He is the president of the Franco-American committee.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 8.—Yuan Hsiang Tsin of Shanghai, is the winner of the DeForest prize, the chief senior oratorical plume.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 8.—Two young women, Emma Nelson and Mahel Gilmore, were shot and instantly killed, and Joseph Unger was seriously wounded in a fight in a lodging house early today by Michael Vance, a stationary engineer of Racine, who then turned the revolver upon himself, dying instantly. Unger's story was that he was paying attention to the Nelson girl, when the latter began to favor Vance. They quarrelled and Vance drew two revolvers and began shooting.

A quiet killing custom still exists in the little Whitefish town of Hungary in England. An ancient toll is claimed by the authorities on Easter Monday from every man and woman in the town. From the men the toll is one penny, but that imposed on the women is a life. The custom is maintained by two beaules, who march from house to house and levy their quaint taxes. After the beaules have had their innings every man is at liberty to embrace any girl he meets, and to do so, that Hungary is crowded with visitors on Easter Monday.

When George Plaro, of Birmingham, Ala., asked for the hand of Mary Davis, a telephone operator in New York, his father objected on the ground that she was giving the $250 a year he earned to him. Young Plaro paid the father $500 two years salary—the marriage was celebrated and the couple left for their new home in Birmingham.

Jacob Belye came near having to pay $100 a minute at St. Louis, because he had to stop to button his wife's dress in the back. He was due to appear in the federal court and, being an hour late, his $1,000 bond was forfeited. When he explained the cause of his tardiness the forfeiture was rescinded.

APPEAL TO LABOR MEN FOR FUNDS TO DEFEND McNAMARA

Federation Denounces the Burns Detective Agency in Call for Half Million for Defence

(Canadian Press)

Washington, May 9.—The American Federation of Labor has issued an appeal to union men of the country for $500,000 for the defense of John J. McNamara, at Los Angeles. "Behind his prosecution," the appeal declared, "stands a detective agency with no scruples or hesitancy in manufacturing evidence and the National Erectors Association, a part of the great corporations of the country with their millions and billions of wealth and power allied against the cause of labor."

The appeal boldly denounces the Burns detective agency. "That agency," it says, "has long been known to have spies in factories and organizations to misdirect the victimizations and blacklisting of men."

"In addition to other influences the vindictive spirit of persecution of the manufacturers and merchants association of Los Angeles with the bitter investigation of the editor of the Los Angeles Times, General Otis.

"The men must be properly defended by the best counsel obtainable, and the kid nappers must be taught that the lives and persons of labor men are as sacred as are the lives and liberty of any other man."
