URGENT REPLY TO WAR CALL

Special sermon in interests of recruiting campaign preached by Germain St. Baptist pastor.

The gray old mother across the sea is calling for men, and the call is a clear, direct, insistent personal appeal to the able bodied young men of the country, said Rev. F. S. Porter, in the course of a sermon in the interests of the recruiting campaign, which he delivered before a large congregation in the Germain street Baptist church last evening.

While Canada, he said, had enjoyed the protection of the Empire without payment of taxes, and only once before had its sons been called to fight. Kitchener said it would need 2,000,000 men to beat down the power of Germany. Canada proposed to raise 100,000 men. This would only be one per cent. of the population. Great Britain proposed to send 5 per cent. of her male population to the front line.

Mr. Porter gave a brief exposition of Great Britain's position towards the world, pointing out that she had done all she could to prevent the war breaking out, and had only got into the conflict to protect the sanctity of treaty obligations, and defend the liberty of the world against the aggressive Prussian militarism, which was the result of the infamous doctrine that might makes right, and that Germany was the most progressive nation in the world and had a mission to impose her ideals and culture upon the world.

The preacher declared that never before had Britain been engaged in a war which presented a more religious aspect. All the great preachers of Great Britain were pointing out that it was the duty of the young men of the Empire to respond to the call to arms. All the world was horrified at the ruthless vandalism of the Germans, and their disregard of all those principles upon which the law of Europe was founded. Great Britain must send men enough into the field to crush the German menace to liberty, morality, and everything the British Empire stood for. Those privileged to fight in this conflict were fighting in a holy war.

The speaker added that he had preached his sermon to himself and was prepared to abide by the consequences. Special patriotic hymns were sung during the service, the selection being Kipling's "Recessional."

TURKS TRYING TO GET PERSIA INTO TROUBLE

Petrograd, via London, Nov. 7, 2.40 p. m.—The entire northern part of Persia is being flooded with placards, printed on Turkish presses, urging the Persians to unite with the Turks in the present warfare against Russia, according to despatches reaching Petrograd from Teheran, the capital of Persia.

These placards refer to the Persians as "brethren in the faith," and make use of the term "the Holy War on Russia."

The Persian government, however, is strongly opposed to any action at the present time on the part of Persia.

IF IT WERE MORE THEY'D LIKELY SAY SO

London, Nov. 6, 5.50 p. m.—A despatch to Reuters' Telegram Company from Amsterdam says that advices received there from Berlin are to the effect that up to last Sunday the German concentration camps and hospitals held the following prisoners: French—3,138 officers and 158,613 men; Russians—3,121 officers and 156,779 men; Belgians—337 officers and 34,901 men; British—417 officers and 15,730 men. The correspondent adds that the Berlin despatch says these figures do not include prisoners not encamped.

THE COURAGE OF THE ARMIES

Rev. A. J. Archibald deals with War situation in comprehensive manner.

"Holding the Lines" was the subject of an interesting sermon given by Rev. A. J. Archibald in the Charlotte street (West) Baptist church last evening. The present war situation was used as a parable for religious truths.

After speaking of the conditions along both borders of Germany, three suggestions were presented. I. To hold the line requires courage. The Belgians, the French, the British and the sons of India were all displaying the highest brand of courage. The Germans are no cowards either. Had they been, long since they would have been beyond the Rhine.

Holding the line in church and reform work demands courage. It requires the courage of the General. The Honorable Sam Hughes to introduce the "dry canteen" among Canadian troops, and the Christian manhood of Canada should have the courage to sound a protest to the British Government at the step backward that has been taken. President Wilson, Secretary Wilson, Vice-President Marshall, Kaiser William, the Czar, and the Honorable Sam Hughes have all come out clear and strong and plain and said: "Do not drink." And yet in spite of this, through some "red tape" the "wet canteen" has found its place on Salisbury Plains. Across the continent of civilization the saloon has been drawn up her entrenchments. Opposed to her is the living Church of God and the reform elements in every community. Hold the line! Let us not give up a foot that we have won. And step by step, we will move forward to the utter discomfiture of the foe.

II. To hold the line requires dogged determination. Determination such as Tennyson portrays when in "The Revenge," he says: "The pikes were all broken or bent, And the powder was all of it spent. And the masts and rigging were hanging over the side, But Sir Richard cried in his English pride, 'We have fought such a fight for a day and a night, As may never be fought again. Sink me the ship master gunner, Sink her, split her in twain, Fall into the hands of God, not into the hands of Spain.'"

On the morning of Waterloo, Napoleon and Marshall Soult looked over and saw the British army drawn up in battle order.

"Ah, I have them," said the Emperor. "Sire," said Soult, "you do not know these English. They will die to the last man, but they will not move an inch."

"Yes, yes, but I will manoeuvre." And he did manoeuvre. And some of the red line grew thin on the hill, but those who did break through died inside the ring, and the flower of the French army died before the men who would not move an inch.

The Church of Jesus Christ needs men who will make vows to God and stand forever by their resolutions; who will not suffer little foes to come up and frighten them out of the entrenchments, where the Master has placed them; who will go to the attitude of prayer and hold that line; who will take up the duties of public service for the King and never give up. War—men and determination in the church of God.

III. To hold the line requires resources. New men must replace the fallen, and the worn out. Ammunition trains and food supplies and clothing are also required. Then behind all that, what vast sacrifices the nations must make to provide the sinews of war.

Not every member of God's army remember that he is rich in resources. What splendid natural endowments are ours. We have truth that is quick and powerful, and the presence of the Holy Ghost in the church with all our hearts. If we give up, and are driven back it is not the fault of the commissary department of the Church of God.

In closing, the speaker reminded the audience that we were living in a great day, Waterloo and Blenheim, the battles of Trafalgar and of the Nile were skirmishes in comparison with the desperate encounters that are now going on, or are to be. Now it is not a battle for a regiment or a brigade, but it is nation against nation. National religions, and philosophies and governments are being tried out, and after the trial, who will be condemned? Will men, driven as cattle are driven and pushed into war by a military clique, fight as well as free men, who have gone into war to save the nations from the oppressor? National weaknesses will crop out in such a time. The winter of 1914-1915 will show what the nations are made of. Do we fear the testing?

THE NEW ERA AFTER THE WAR

Rev. Dr. Morison tells of conditions of society when war shall have ceased.

"My dearest heart: When the children have said their prayers and prayed for their dear father and have gone to bed, I sit and think of thee, I think of the old days when we were betrothed, and I think of all our happy married life."

"Oh, Ludwig, beloved of my soul, why should people fight each other. I cannot think that God would wish it." In concluding his sermon on Sunday morning in the Carleton Presbyterian church, Rev. Dr. Morison read the pathetic words from a letter recently sent to a German soldier at the front by his wife, now a widow. This letter was taken from his pocket, all blood-stained. He had died in the trenches.

"Surely," exclaimed Dr. Morison, "this woman was right and this war must not end until it has been made forever impossible for any autocrat by himself or by his military associates, in fulfillment of an ambitious policy of world-domination to swing open the gates of war and force through them into the red fields of slaughter—a peace-loving and affectionate people."

In the course of a carefully prepared discourse, Dr. Morison gave an interesting survey of the present disturbed condition of the world and his concluding paragraphs were devoted to a hurried sketch of the new conditions which may be expected to develop when the war is over.

After declaring that the Emperor William was the Royal bandit of Europe, Dr. Morison said: "If in the future era—the new era—Emperors are tolerated in any land, it will only be by the will of the sovereign people, to whom they shall be held accountable."

"Breaking out through the present dark clouds there are hopeful signs. Everywhere, men and women are being moved to thoughtfulness. By the way of sacrifice the lives of millions of people are being purified and exalted. The spirit of service is making itself increasingly influential and helpful in the world's strange life."

"The new era is dawning and in this new era there shall be guaranteed the integrity and inviolability of small states. Manhood, not machinery shall administer to the chief seats at the festive boards of international comity. The wings of autocracy shall be clipped. Majorities not military cliques shall rule and the will of the people of every nation be held as the final authority and the pulsant voice of an enlightened democracy shall demand government of the people and for the people and by the people."

GERMAN THREAT OF REVENGE FOR TAKING OF TSING-TAU

Amsterdam, via London, Nov. 8, 9.15 p. m.—The Berlin Local Anzeiger, commenting on the German defeat at Tsing-Tau, says: "Germans will never forget the heroic fighting at Kia Chow and those who defended the colony. Never shall we forget the brave violence of yellow robbers, nor England, who instigated them. We know that we cannot settle our account with Japan at present; for years she will enjoy her victory. But we will grind slowly, but even if years should pass before the right moment comes at last, then a shout of joy will resound through Germany."

"Woe to you Nippon."

BELIEVE MCGILL MAN WAS VICTIM OF EXPERIMENT

Montreal, Nov. 8.—G. R. Mines, professor of physiology at McGill University, met death mysteriously and tragically last evening in his laboratory at McGill University. Just when and how his death is not known. Principal Peterson believes Prof. Mines, in the course of experiments upon himself, his chosen branch of physiology, dealing chiefly with the phenomena of the heart action and respiration, probably lost his life through the apparatus which was attached to his body getting out of order in some unknown manner.

Prof. Mines had been in the laboratory all afternoon, working on his experiments, and his prostrate body was discovered by the janitor shortly after six o'clock. The broken apparatus was still attached over the professor's heart. Aid was at once summoned and Prof. Mines was conveyed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, but he expired a little before midnight.

Dr. D. D. McTaggart has issued a certificate of accidental death. He was a Cambridge University professor, and came to Montreal from Toronto University, where he was a colleague of Prof. Birdie. He had been at McGill only a short time. The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

CLAWED THEY WERE AGENTS OF CANADIAN GOV'T

Persons in United States represent themselves as buyers of army supplies for Canadian Government

Special to The Standard.
Ottawa, Nov. 8.—"It has come to the knowledge of the government," said Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and acting Prime Minister, today, "that several persons in the United States, and chiefly New York, are representing themselves as official buyers of army supplies for the Canadian government or as purchasers for or advisors of the representatives of the British and allied governments who may be buying in the United States and are so purchasing and advising by the official sanction and authority of the Canadian government."

"On Friday last," said Sir George, "representatives of three important firms in New York came to Ottawa to see me to ascertain the truth of the statements made by some of these persons who had approached them for business and needless to say the basis of a fat commission to be paid on the amount of the order."

"These persons are doing much harm not only in confusing reputable firms and raising prices, but in spreading the impression that crooked dealings is being carried on by Canadian government representatives."

"I desire to say that no one has any authority from the Canadian government to represent himself as having been authorized to buy for the government, or as having been authorized by the Canadian government to buy for the account of the British or allied governments. These people are making a nuisance of themselves and injuring the reputation of Canada and all honest dealers should give them a wide berth. The names of some of these persons being sought by the government and will from time to time be published as they are obtained and if possible dealt with under the law."

THREE YEARS FOR CHAMPION TEAM TO FALL

Judging from the downfall of the Athletics, and looking over the annals of the past, it seems that it generally takes about three years for a championship club to "crack." It is also evident that a champion team can bluff its way through its own circuit for a final flag, mainly because it has the prestige and know the weaknesses of the rival teams, and that it takes a club of the opposing circuit to finally upset the machinery. The players of its own league, the fans, and critics seeing the champions still winning, never realize that the old steam roller is making its last trip on luck and reputation—that the cogs are rusty, the driving rods fractured, and the whole works ready to be pushed over by the first determined adversary.

Three years isn't much of a period for strong, young men. It would be imagined that burly, clean-living lads of from twenty-one to twenty-seven, instead of slowing up in three seasons, would be just at the best of their united powers, and that their club should be far stronger, far more dangerous, than in its earlier stages. Yet such is the story of the game—the story of the Orioles, the Brooklyn, the Pirates, the Tigers, the Cubs and the Athletics. Just one of the strange things that make baseball doubly fascinating, that is all.
