

the congregation (and especially those who are personally devoted to it) of the great obligation we are under to God for our privileges and opportunities, and of the corresponding responsibility of each one for the work the Master has left him to do. Organization is helpful in many matters of earthly business, but in doing the Lord's work individual consecration is of supreme importance. Unless we are each one given up to Him, so as to be filled with His Holy Spirit, His work cannot be done by us. The slothful servant was condemned. "To him that hath shall be given."—"Whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seemeth to have." Faithfulness is a personal and responsible quality of all true action. Our Lord says:—"Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life."
