

EDITORIAL

Politics and Ideals

Two weeks ago the Vice President academic, Mark Hoye

Two weeks ago the Vice President academic, Mark Hoye resigned from the executive of the Students' Union.

His explanation was the incompatibility of the duties required by his office with his own personal philosophy. Hoye felt that to work with the remaining members of the executive would require a compromise of his own personal philosophy. Such a compromise represented a threat to his integrity. Unwilling to jeopardize that, Hoye resigned.

Resigning was a very noble gesture, but a very naive one. Hoye should have realized that in politics, even the political playpen of the Students' Union, the need to make noble gestures is a handicap not an asset.

However the same cannot be said of integrity. Integrity requires the steady application of one's ideals to one's duties.

However the same cannot be said of integrity, Integrity requires the steady application of one's ideals to one's duties.

None of the present executive could have forced Hoye to vote in Council sagainst his own ideals. No one could have forced Hoye to utter anything in Council or in public which would run counter to his personal philosophies. He working with individuals whose personal philosophies differ from his own represents an unjustifiable compromise of his integrity, then Hoye had better quit the entire human race.

L don't wish to appear cruel no Hoye. To his credit own represents an unjustifiable compromise of his integrity, then Hoye had better quit the entire human race.

I don't wish to appear cruel to Hoye. To his credit resigning was not an easy way out. His decision came only after a long period of agonized deliberation. But I do believe he displayed a naive inability to reconcile actions with ideals. Having taken office he had no way out, easy or otherwise. However, a certain degree of pragmatism as well as idealism did play a role in Hoye's decision to resign.

However, a certain degree of pragmatism as well as idealism did play a role in Hoye's decision to resign.

Hoye felt there were important issues on the near horizon which will not receive proper attention from the present executive. Hoye feared another twenty percent tuition increase was coming and he disaspproved of the administrations academic direction. Hoye felt the policy of non-confrontational action supported by the present executive would be inadequate in dealing with these issues By resigning Hoye hoped to force a by-election that would make the student body aware of these issues and perhaps force some positive action on the part of the Students Union.

Whether a by-election or positive action will occur is now up to Students' Council. It is the Council members who must call the executive to account on the issues that Hoye felt were being swept under the rug. Let's hope that the importance of Hoye's resignation is not lost in motions of questionable value condemning Israel and pledging moral support to the Universiade '85.

I hope some positive action does take place and I'm proven wrong in thinking that Hoye could have served his ideals better by staying in office. But it is my feeling that Hoye has achieved the statutory 15 seconds worth of fame at the cost of achievements that could have arisen from eight months worth of less visible effort.

Richard Watts

Play it again, Mike

Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday night he believes in

Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday night he believes in free education for qualified students.

Admitting that this policy is one which cannot be implemented overnight, the Prime Minister said he had no hesitation in asserting his personal belief that education at all levels should be free to all those qualified to take advantage of

Gateway (CUP news story) October 30, 1964

« LETTERS TO THE EDITOR »

Something rotten in Denmark

sophomoric snottiness.
Second question: Name three things wrong with the Gateway:
a) Jens Andersen b) Allan Watts
c) Mary Ruth Olson.
Third question; What is your view of the first few issues of this year's Gateway? zzzzzzzzzzzzzz
huh, er what, hmph....

huh, er what, hmph....
Yes that's about it folks, dull, drab, boring. What has happened to the Gateway? I can get more excitement and thrills reading the Help Wanted's section of the Sam. Listen up youse guys and listen good see...we know it's fun, exciting and thrills to work on the student paper. We know you miss classes, party all night, have a ball, get into rock concerts free, get lots of records and books to review, so whats the problem. Why are you whats the problem. whats the problem. Why are you godammed boring???? No pizazz godammed boring??? No pizazz in life, Jens? I mean really, give me a break would ya, like that editorial of Jens': The Spirit of Science, must Jens: The Spirit of Science, must we suffer with this man blatthergab? I mean we had enough of his stupidity last year with the great useless debate on why W. F. Buckley picks his nose with his right-hand pinky. Now we get this Jens Andersen's 'editorial' that starts nowhere and ends nowhere and says absolutely nothing. Or better yet, we get Jens Andersen's 'How I spent my summer vacation'. Oh boy I'm impressed; Jens meets the proles and look ma, he doesn't even need a barf-bag. a barf-bag. Or Mary Ruth Olson, oh boy Today we have a few another bright light on staff there, questions for you to answer. Her lovely Second Wind' article Firstly, please name the ideology on giving Isreal a fair shake, looks most prevalent in the pages of the factorial about vatism b) milksop liberality c sophomoric snottiness.

Second question: Name three things wrong with the Gateway: a) Jens Andersen b) Allan Watts of Mary Ruth Olson.

Third question: What is your view of the first few issues of this your stream of the properties of the stream of the properties of the properties smelling rotten in the world's eyes.

Give me a break, from grayrun-on copy where you have nothing to say about anything important. Look Jens we all know that you are only doing this so you can get a summer job at the Journal, so try and find something worthwhile writing about, and that goes for the rest of you. Don't keep wasting our time with your petty issues, half baked opinions.
comments, and snotty nosed;
look ma l is real intel-ek-tsh-u-

all'. As Jack Webb once said: Just give us the facts ma'am, just the facts'.

And finally if you want an And finally if you want an issue, since you all seem to lack a bit of focus up there in the wasteland, try this one on for size:
Our final question for the day class; why, if enrollment enlarges do tuitions increase if the reason for this properties.

for tuition increases is that there is a decline in enrollments. And why are tuition increases between 8 percent - 20 percent when the Feds are calling for 6 percent and 5 percent????!!!!

Of course class we don't expect the Gateway to notice this fact, they are too busy playing with themselves, wasting our time, money and several thousand trees. yours, ho hum, Eugene W. Plawiuk Arts n/a for tuition increases is that there is

Editor's Note: My name isn't

Historic event!

The U of A Debating Society advised to contact the Debating will be hosting the 73rd Annual U Society either directly or by of A Model Parliament here this coming to its Wednesday year and the Other Manual McGoun Cup 17 80 Wednesday meetings. Thank you.

D. Theobald in these two historic events are

Outside Sources

Man stans with scrupulous care the character and pedigree of his e, cattle and dogs before he matches them; but when it comes to with marriage he rarely, or never, takes any such care.

Charles Darwin, 1871
The Descent of Man, XXI

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF - Andrew Wats
NEWS EDITORS - Richard Wats, Alisson Annesley
MANAGING EDITOR - Jens Andersen
ART'S EDITOR - Bound Andersen
ART'S EDITOR - David Cox
SPOKTS EDITOR - Brent Jang
PHOTO EDITOr - kay Gigacre
CUP EDITOR - Wes O ginasit
PRODUCTION - Anne Seeplen, Jim Miller
ANDEL STATE - Tom Wight
ANDEL STATE - Managire Tilroe-West
CIRCULATION - Gannar Blodgett

The Gateway is the newspaper of the students of the University of Alberta, published Tuesdays and Thusdays during the Winter Session, except during holdsay weeks. Contents are the responsibility of the Editor-lin-Chief, editor-lish are written by the stafferts) undersigned. Mondays and Wednesdays, News Room Rn. 282, Advertising Dept. Rm. 250D, Student's Union Bidg., University of Alberta, Edmonton, TGG 37). Newspoor: ph. 482-5168 (3178); Advertising 942-424. Ext. 28. The Gateway is a member of Canadian University Press.Gateway needenship is 25,000.

Nate LaRoi and Jack Vermee have completed their research on the sexual rituals of trolls. Bruce Pollock, Bible in hand, is busy nuking Gay Trolls for Jesus. With him on this divine mission are Heather-Ann Laird, Margo Schmitt, Shelley Spaner and Lorie White. Michael Leich and Kent Fargey are helping Sandra Corbet unload supplies. Peter Block and James L. Stevens are quizzing the visiting Charlatan. Martin Beales and Bill Inglee, whilst reconnotiering the mountains ahead have found Gerard Kennedy with a sketch... of a troll? or a gremlin? Martin Cootts and Mark Roppel think it's a gremlin, but Robert Cook is not convinced. And where the devil is John Algard?