

And hope would not survive the hour
Of Gabriel's "All hail!"
Save by thy pure unflinching power
To make the truth prevail.

Then, Michael, give us grace to stand
Where still thy sword-flash gleams,
And love accepts thy stern command—
To win the world for dreams.