

The highest point (256) of the mortality is in the month of August. The black portion of the diagram indicates the number of deaths among infants nursed by the mother, and the lighter portion represents the number of deaths among infants fed in any other way.