Letter from the Grand President. Stratford, Opt., Jan. 10th, 1889. To the I ficers and Members of the C. M. B

A. in Canada : BROTHERS,—As per proclamation of the Supreme President, all amendments to the constitution adopted at the late Supreme Council Convention held at Cleveland, Ohio, last September, will come into force this data.

Cleveland, Ohlo, has been been away into force this date. The most important of the new laws are those relating to the beneficiary fund are those relating to the beneficiary fund nd the appointment of Branch Medical Examiners. Under the old law brenches had thirty days from date of Grand Secratary's notice of an assessment to remit said assessment. If they tailed to do this, the ascessment. If they failed to co this, the Grand President was notified, giving them twenty days from the President's notice or fifty days in all within which to remit or fifty days in all within which to remit an assessment before they could be sus-pended for non-payment of bene-ficiary. Under the new law branches will have only twenty days from date of Grand Secretary's notice of a single assessment within which to for-ward such assessment. If not forwarded within this time, the Grand President is potified, giving them ten days from date laws had been made at the last Supreme Convention which permitted any mem-ber of a Branch to be elected President thereof, whether he had been previously in office or not, I at once wrote him ex-pressing my conviction that no such change had been made and giving my reasons for such bellef. At the same time I also wrote to Supreme Recorder Hickey about it and that gentleman sgreed with me that no such amendment had been passed. Bro. Deare was, as I understand. within this time, the Grand Freedent is potified, giving them ten days from date of his notice, or making in all thirty days, before a branch can be suspended for non-payment of beneficiary. If the Grand Secretary's notice call for two assessments the branch will have me that no such amendment had been passed. Bro. Deare was, as I understand, absent from home and did not receive my letter until his return—about six weeks after I had written him—when he replied in language similar to that used by him in your issue of the 5th inst. As I was satisfied that our worthy brother had made a mistake and that the official re-nort would when printed establish the for two assessments the branch will have thirty days to remit. If not paid in that time they will be dealt with as in case of non payment for a single assessment. Our Council has now to remit the forty days of the date of notice from the Supreme Secretary of raid assessments. Death claims are now to be paid within aixty days (instead of ninety as formerly) after proof of death has been received. This can easily be done if branches will carry out the provisions of the constitu-tion in this matter. I regret to say that a few of our branches have been very tardy in the past in forwarding assess-ments. I take this opportunity to re-ouest them to brighten up. quest them to brighten up. To enable our Council to fulfil the fore some way, although certainly not so in-tended. tended. I now have the printed minutes of the convention before me, and by a reference to them, page 75, article 37, you will see that I am right and Bro. Deare wrong. But Bro, Deare says he knows more about to the many close and that the official going obligations with the Supreme Council, we carnestly request the officers of Branches to see that beneficiary money forwarded to the Grand Secretary within the specified time. The new law designates the President, But Bro, Deare says he knows more about it than any one clee, and that the official minutes are wrong. Well, I think the official minutes are good enough for the generality of the C. M. B. A. members; at all events they are good enough for me, and I am content to abide by what is therein contained. Bro Deare sees he was present at all together with the Board of Trustees, to select the local Medical Examiners. They will please attend to this as early as pos-sible and see that the provisions of the constitution in relation to this important cflice are strictly adhered to. It behoves officers of branches to make themselves thoroughly familiar as early as possible with the provisions of the new constitution, as they will be held countable for the enforcement of said vs. Yours fraternally, laws. D. J. O'CONNOR.

We had Mass here at the early hour of 7:30 on Christmas morning so as to enable our parish priest, the Rev. Father McRae, to celebrate a second Mass at Grimsby, eight miles distant. Our choir, which has received an addition of a fine bass voice received an addition of a fine bass voice i lately, did admirably well, rendering the Kyrie, Gloria and hymn for Communion in fine style. After Mass the Rav. Father McCrae came to the Communion rail and presented to Miss Katie McAlister, on behalf of the children of the Catechism class, a beautifully bound volume of the Pictorial Lives of the Saints, bearing an appropriate inscription. The worthy re-cipient expressed her sincere thanks and oreat appreciation of this spontaneous act great appreciation of this spontaneous act of kindness and gratitude on the part of

Death of Bro. Dagan, of Stratford Branch.

We reget very much to announce the death of Bro. George Dagan, a resident of St. Mary's, and a member of Stratford Branch, which took place on January 10th. He was in the 26th year of his age. Bro. Dagan was a strong, healthy young man, but having contracted a age. young man, but having contracted a severe cold a few months since, despite the efforts of the medical profession and a mother's kind attendance, death claimed him on the date named. The burial took place from his home in St. Mary's on the 12th, attended by a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends. He was in every regard a worther and related of the society will offer up a fervent that point. prayer for mercy on his soul.

The assignment of such a reason by Bro. Deare as a sufficient warrant of the correctness of his statements would per-haps be entitled to greater weight if it did not happen that the decision of the council on several other questions that arose therein is also incorrectly reported in his paper. I can point out his errors in de tail to him if he so desires it, but I think tail to him it ne so deeree it, but i think if he will look into the matter again he will admit that he either was absent from the session of Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 12th, or, if present, that he took down his report of that sessions proceedings in a new insecurate manage

Bro. Deare says he was present at all the sessions of the Cleveland Council and took accurate reports of all the proceed.

Well, I also was present at every session of the convention and the records thereof will show that I cast my vote on every question that arose there and I expect my report of that sessions proceedings in a very inaccurate manner. There is, however, one point in Bro. Deare's letter which is of far more import-ance to the members of the C. M. B. A. generally than the matter in dispute, and in respect of which I think he lays down a the respect of which I think he rays down a very incorrect principle, and one which, if I understand his meaning aright, would involve perhaps dangerous consequences. He says, "The constitution will soon be printed and that will decide the matter." Does Bro. Deare mean to say that if the flicial minutes show that our represents tives in council assembled rejected certain proposed amendments that they can afterwards be inserted in the constitution in defiance of such rejection and thereby become binding on the members ? This is the only reasonable inference I draw from such assertion, because he ad-mits in his letter that the official report is mits in his letter that the cincial report is on my side, but goes on to assert his superl-ority over such official report. If such insertions can be made, then we had better dispense with conventions altogether and leave it to the committee on laws to make such alterations in our constitution as they may think proper, or else let our printer do as helikes about it. I hold that the insertion of an amend-ment in the constitution which had not been previously passed by the council, would be simply a nullity, and that where constitution and official minutes disagree the latter are to be accepted as the final and binding record of the preceedings of the convention.

As Bro. Deare makes no allusion to the other part of my letter, viz : that which asserted the ineligibility of Bra ch presiin every regard a worthy son and an ad-mirable C M. B. A. member. We deeply sympathize with his relatives in their sed loss, and we trust all his brother members of the society will offer up a fervent that point. Yours fraternally, Yours fraternally, JOHN O'MEARA.
