On the opening day of the pageant at Winchester, June 25th, a grand service was held in the Cathedral at which fifty Archbishops and Bishops were present despite the counter attraction of the Marlborough House garden party. Never in the history of that venerable cathedral had so many of the leaders of the Church attended at one service before as on that occasion. On each occasion the Cathedral was packed with people, there being at least 4,000 present at each service.

In the morning H.R.H. the Princess Beatrice was present at the service.

These candlesticks are two feet in height and of very massive design. They bear the inscription:—"In Memoriam, Robert and Mary Kell,
