NEW C.P.R. TRANS-PACIFIC STEAMSHIP

The above picture shows one of the two new steamships which are being built by the Canadian Pacific Railway for its Pacific Service. They will run between Vancouver, Victoria and Yokohama and Hong Kong. The cost of each vessel will be $2,500,000; the tonnage will be 16,000 tons; the speed will be 18 knots an hour; and the engines will develop from 16,000 to 17,000 horse-power. The ships are being built by the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company, of Glasgow, and will be delivered in January, 1913. The passenger capacity of the new steamships is 1,300.
