Much continues to be said by the far eastern press regarding Russian warlike preparations. Further large consignments of munitions of war, stores and rails, and a further contingent of about 2,000 paid volunteers, especially picked from among time-expired men, have just arrived at Port Arthur. It is intended that these men shall be sent up the country to guard the Manchurian section of the Siberian railroad. The entire Russian garrison in the far east now numbers nearly 40,000 men.

Information has reached Hongkong that Mat Salleh, the Borneo rebel, has been killed by men of the Tamboonau tribe. This would be good news for the Chartered Company, to whom Mat Salleh has been a thorn in the flesh for many years.
