Mores K. K. & Bakery

Did it ever strike you that sentiment must stand aside on the bread question? It is one of the most practical in every day life and cannot be ignored by anyone, and the general inquiry is, where can we get the best. That is, the most healthful, nutritious and the best flour.

Good judges have given the verdict to Mores. Try it and see if they are not right.

MISS ADA PYKE
MRS. LEIGH PYKE.
Crescent St., Kentville, Oct. 13, 1902.

The Montreal Daily Star is printing a series of cartoons entitled "A political social and moral alphabet." They are from the pen of Mr. A. G. Racey, the clever Canadian cartoonist. The first of which A represents John Bull opening a barrel of Apples the top of which are large and the end small. This is one on the dishonest apple packers and shows that John Bull has at last got onto their dodge.

Campbell's Comedians were at Margeson's Opera House last Tuesday evening. Owing to the inclement weather they were not given the house they deserved. It was an entirely vaudeville entertainment and consisted of comedy, singing and dancing, and tricks upon musical instruments.

On several occasions many of the artists were forced to respond. All the numbers were excellent, but those with which the audience seemed to enjoy the most, were the trapeze work of Prof. Casel, violin playing by Prof. Dufosse, the World's Greatest violin player, and the Campbell's playing upon the musical glasses.

What Prof. Dufosse cannot do upon the violin in the manner of imitating men's worth mentioning. Prof. Casel did many difficult acts upon the trapeze and was the best ever seen here. The work upon the musical glasses was also very entertaining. The band while not the best is very good and the music was very sweet and was much appreciated. The show throughout was clean, refined and up to date, and well worth the patronage of all. This company will give a return date here in November. The manager of this company is well known here as "Jack Campbell," having played here a week about a year ago. To night they play in Digby.
