St. Thomas Business College

The growth of this institution during the last two years has been wonderful. The attendance has been doubled on account of the thorough course of training which we give. One of our young men is now drawing a salary of $1,800 a year; another $1,600; others from $400 to $800. Within the last month two of our students have gone direct from the College to positions paying $500 a year. WE WANT OUR STUDENTS TO FILL THE BEST POSITIONS.

Young people are foolish to spend the best part of their lives learning Latin, French and the dead languages, when a few months spent in our Commercial or Shorthand Department will fit them to earn salaries like the above.

Eighty-seven per cent. of all our students who have written on the examinations of the Business Educators' Association of Canada this year have been successful.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

The Anti-Ritualist.

Mr. John Kensit, the London book-seller, was reported as considerably elated over the excitement caused by his protests at the confirmation of the new Bishop of London. "Why," he said, "the crowd escorted me to Paternoster Row. I desisted from speaking at my window only at the urgent request of the police inspector." To a second interviewer, he said that he regretted the scenes of disorder which had occurred, but believed the bulk of the uproar had come from the supporters of the Bishop who had come from the east end for the purpose. Dr. W. W. Kingston-Ingram, as Bishop of London, will, Mr. Kensit thinks, be wise enough to see that he will have to make a more decided stand against ritualistic practices. "But of course," concluded Mr. Kensit, "I shall keep a careful watch upon him and his doings; and though I desire to be as kindly as possible I shall at once attack him if occasion demands."

The Chronicle, commenting upon these interviews, said: "We have tried to think charitably of Mr. Kensit as an enthusiast who takes the wrong course to an end he believes to be right. But his elation at the crowded escort which accompanied him back to Paternoster Row, and the speech, as it were, before the curtain, only stopped by an inspector concerned for the traffic, suggest that personal notoriety rather than the purification of Anglican ceremonial is the central object of Mr. Kensit's activity. Nor is it possible to accept the contention that the unseemly brawling was due to the Bishop's supporters as much as to the protesting party. The man who strikes the first blow is responsible for the fight."

Mr. Kensit replied in a letter saying: "I have now for upwards of 30 years, or ever since my conversion from ritualism, been actively engaged in Christian work. I have been a Sunday School teacher and Superintendent at St. Mary-le-Strand, St. John's, Hoxton, St. John the Baptist, Islington, and a lay helper, conducting services and preaching at St. James', Holloway, under the Rev. E. A. Stuart. I have also actively assisted my Nonconformist brethren by preaching and lecturing for them in many places. In all this work I have always given my services without fee or reward. As a leading tradesman and postmaster in the North of London, I have always stood forward for Protestant principles, and have been known as a positive fact that my business often suffered owing to my uncompromising attitude upon the church question. That my attitude has brought upon me a notoriety I certainly have no wish to deny. All I object to is the impugning of my motives, which before God and my fellow-men I declare to be a determination on my part to save my church and country from priestcraft. This I am doing and notwithstanding much abuse and misrepresentation, with marvellous and marked success. Crowds come over the country flock in by tens of thousands, and I am now able to pay the salaries of fifteen young men as Wycliffe preachers, who have given up lucrative situations, and are fully engaged in preaching the Gospel and expounding priestcraft."

The above letter drew two replies from which the following extracts are taken:—"As a church journalist, I remember that you yourself, Mr. Kensit, published a few years ago, a proof of Mr. Kensit's 'disinterestedness,' when you challenged his authority for a statement that he had made, and which related to the giving of money to him. I do not think that you yourself, Mr. Kensit, would have made a fortune."

"Mr. Kensit says that crowds all over the country flock to his meetings. This is not borne out by the reports which sometimes appear in the local papers, and which state that the audiences are getting smaller and smaller."

"Then, again, he poses as an uncompromising churchman. This will hardly agree with his escape a few years ago at a dissenting chapel, where he—a layman—celebrated the Holy Communion."

"Grave questions have been raised in some of our contemporaries as to the character of the literature to be bought by Mr. Kensit's church. He has never answered these questions, and as you yourself said, had he brought his 'disinterestedness' to the fore, he would have made a fortune."

"Mr. John Kensit says he has given his services without fee or reward. Some time ago I asked him to address the P.S.A., which then met in the Public Hall, Chatham, road. He felt two guineas. He did not get them."

"He speaks about his 'Nonconformist brethren.' Good. But he has 'denied' (I am quoting your report having been shipped with dissenters. He has occupied the pulpit of one Baptist minister in Bradford. Then he tells us that fifteen young men have given up 'lucrative situations' to become poor preachers. What is Mr. Kensit's idea of 'lucrative' employment?"

To these letters Mr. Kensit replied:—"I have not the article from Truth before me, but from what I remember the charges are that an item of £512 for literature for the year for the Wycliffe preachers was all bought of me. This is perfectly true, but it is true that it is paid at a special cheap rate, to the satisfaction of my committee. The other item objected to, £1,012 15s. 2d. salaries for secretaries, assistant secretaries, chaplain and preachers. It is almost suggested that there is no such a man as the chaplain, and yet five pages of the report is occupied by the Rev. J. C. Wilcox, vicar of Shepton Mallet, in a charge to the preachers. This objection concerns not 'Truth,' but the subscribers and the committee. When I add that our funds have increased now about £800 upon the previous year, it will easily be seen what our subscribers think of the work and its value. Next Mr. Myerson brings up my reference to the 'Canterbury price' for getting souls out of purgatory, and my asking £10 from you or my Wycliffe preachers. This is true. I did ask the amount, and believe an article written upon the subject would be well worth the money. Next our friend questions what I assert as a positive fact, being the sufferer that my North London business suffered owing to my Protestantism. Of course, if he thinks he knows better, I must leave him to enjoy his opinion. Next my churchmanship is traduced because, forsooth, I preach, lecture, and even upon one occasion presided at the Lord's Supper in a dissenting chapel. Thousands of good and loyal Protestants, churchmen think with me, that the time has come for uniting more and more with our Free Church brethren. Lastly, grave questions have been raised as to the character of my literature. I replied to this some time since, and will continue to publish the several books complained of, and intend to do so as long as the confessional is practiced in our church. As to making my fortune over libel action with Mr. La-bouchere, I prefer to take my own course, and let fortune have the fortune. I replied in one case that my fee for an address was £2 2s. is correct—either that amount or a collection for the Wycliffe preachers is my rule, although I make many exceptions. My reference without fee or reward was the twenty-five years when as a tradesman in North London I gave my spare time and substance to carry on the work."

PREVENTING DISEASE

The thing medical men are trying to do nowadays more than anything else is to prevent disease—to get the system into a state of soundness, in which disease germs cannot do harm and keep it so. "An ounce of prevention," etc.

Powley's Liquefied Ozone does it: provides the system with the oxygen it needs in a form in which it can be used; cleanses the blood, aid digestion, promotes assimilation, stimulates the normal functions.

Nature is the greatest healer after all; it is only necessary to provide the right conditions. Powley's Liquefied Ozone is the greatest health-maker ever discovered. Here is one evidence of what it will do.

This is what Mr. Westwood, of the Wilkes, Westwood Co., wholesale dealer in fishing tackle, says about Ozone:

Gentlemen,—In answer to your enquiry regarding my experience with Ozone, would say that we have used it in our home and in our business for some time, and it is most useful for stomach trouble and a panacea for the various ills that come upon me from time to time. I have used it in great quantities and have found it most useful. It is sold by the Wilkes, Westwood Co., 92 Bay Street, Toronto.

We could give a multitude of such records.

Powley's Liquefied Ozone will cost you 50c and $1.00 a bottle. The druggists will have it. You should read our little pamphlet about it. Sent free; worth sending for.

Nothing makes a man so proud of civilization as when he sees a woman wearing a ring with one of her baby's milk teeth set in it.

A woman's weapon reminds you most of a railway map. A hearty appetite does not always indicate a healthy condition. It is not the quantity of food which is eaten but the quantity which is assimilated which determines the actual value of the food consumed. If the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition cannot convert the food into nourishment, and into blood, then the food is an injury instead of a benefit. For all disorders of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition, there is a certain remedy in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It removes clogging obstructions, it strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, enriches the blood and builds up the body. It is a flesh-forming, muscle-making preparation, making firm flesh instead of flabby fat. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whiskey or intoxicant of any kind, and is equally free from opium, cocaine, and all narcotics.

GROWING STRAWBERRIES.

Proper Drainage and Plenty of Fertilizer Required.

When the run shines sufficiently so that bees can fly it will also warm the water through the glass, and we are always able to give them what they most desire; pure warm water, and no one until he has given this a trial will fully realize how much water a single colony will use during the height of brood-rearing. In order to draw them from the old watering place it may be necessary to slightly sweeten the water for a day or two.

The culture of strawberries is the same both for home and the market. The strawberry does well wherever given good cultivation, proper drainage and plenty of fertilizer in available form.

Use rotted manure, bone meal and good ashes (or some of the potash salts) are considered the best fertilizers.

Plowing, mulching with manure and thorough preparation of soil before setting plants are the first steps in strawberry growing.

A crop of clover or other green manure known to be free from insects will, when plowed under, prove of great value to the crop.

Coarse manure may be plowed under with good results, provided it is applied early enough to be well decomposed by planting time.

Spring set plants give the best results; where fall set they should be grown especially for that purpose. Small pots being most commonly used. Where plants are grown by hill culture they are usually set in rows 3 or 4 feet apart and one foot apart in the row, all runners and blossoms being kept off the first season.

In matted rows the rows are from 2 1/2 to 4 feet apart, and plants are set from 15 to 18 inches in the row, according to variety and width of row.

Fruiting one season only, is usually advocated by best growers. It is less work and more profitable to set a new bed than to renovate an old one.

It is necessary to protect the plants in winter by mulching with some material, such as straw, marsh hay, pine needles, pine boughs, coarse manure etc., to protect from freezing.

Failure to get a maximum crop frequently comes from improper fertilization. Have at least one row in every four of a perfect flowering variety.

The practical growers generally agree upon the merits of the following varieties: Beverly, Brandywine, Rutland, Clardy, Crescent, Greenleaf, Hayward, Lovett and Warfield.

Irrigation has proved of great value wherever tried.

Overhanging Fruit Trees.

The following opinion regarding fruit trees was rendered by Judge McCrory recently, "if the branches of trees growing on one's land hang over the line upon the other, the adjoining owner may cut off the limbs perpendicular with his line, providing the branches have not been allowed to extend over for a period of twenty-one years. But should the owner wish to cut them off, Fruit on a tree part of the reality and is not the subject of larceny. If the fruit had fallen to the ground the neighbor could pick it up and use it. The right of the adjoining land owner to the top of the branches of over-hanging trees before twenty-one years of permissive acquiescence has elapsed does not carry with it the right to the fruit on the tree. The fruit is not the product of his soil or labor."—Philadelphia Times.

Well Cured Food.

Once and again we have called attention to the importance of well-cured food, and once and again we will call attention to this question until our people give more attention to this matter. We are so accustomed to shovel grain into our stock, that we do not realize the importance of having good fodder to feed at the same time. Now good fodder is just as essential as good grain to economical feeding. Without the one the other will not do best work; and without both in suitable proportion the most economical feeding cannot be practical. There is so much food spoiled or at least partially spoiled, in our state, and for this condition of affairs there is not the slightest necessity in an average season. The weather is usually good at harvest time, hence it is generally easily possible to cure foods in good form. Why should we not do it? The difference in the value of good, well-cured fodder, as compared with fairly cured, cannot easily be overestimated.

An experienced horse breeder remarks: "Horse breeding is now the best paying investment for the average farmer. The breeding of draft horses will pay best. The demand for good draft horses far exceeds the supply." A great many farmers are well aware of these points and are acting accordingly.

Much of the unsatisfactory fruiting of orchards all over the country is due to self-sterility. A tree is self-sterile if it cannot set fruit unless planted near other varieties.

It is easier to make a fool of a good horse than train him to be a useful animal.

ONE IN FOUR HAS PILES.

The Most Torturing Disease That Man Has Ever Known—The Safest and Most Certain Cure is Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Of the grown-up persons you meet from day to day one in four suffers more or less from itching, bleeding or protruding piles. Mock modesty leads many to suffer in silence, others dread the surgeon's knife, and, believing an operation to be the only cure, neglect to be treated. Some have found out by actual trial that piles can be promptly relieved and thoroughly cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

If you are a sufferer from this exasperating ailment and will once make a test of Dr. Chase's Ointment you will be grateful to the end of your life for having read this advertisement. It will certainly cure you, no matter what form of piles you have, so long as you give it an honest trial.

It has been frequently remarked by persons who have used this preparation that it has probably relieved more suffering from itching skin disease than any remedy that the world has known. While remarkably effective, as a cure for eczema and other skin diseases, Dr. Chase's Ointment is unique as the only actual and proven cure for each and every form of piles.

Mr. George Thompson, a leading merchant of Blenheim, Ont., states: "I was troubled with itching piles for fifteen years, and at times they were so bad I could scarcely walk. I tried a great many remedies, but never found anything like Dr. Chase's Ointment."

"After the third application I obtained relief, and was completely cured by using one box."

Mr. F. G. Harding, retired farmer, living at Nilestown, Middlesex County, Ont., writes as follows: "I have been troubled with bleeding and itching piles for four or five years, and suffered intense agony at times. I had tried almost everything, but could get nothing that would give relief. On hearing of Dr. Chase's Ointment I procured a box, and it only required part of it to completely cure me. I am recommending it to all afflicted as I was."

If you have not met with some one who has been cured of piles by Dr. Chase's Ointment, ask your neighbors about it. It is impossible to publish testimonials of persons that all readers know, but by asking your friends you are sure to hear good words for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is standard the world over and is guaranteed to cure any case of piles, 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
