TOURIST CAMPING GROUND NEEDED

The tourist season is again upon us and any plans that are to be made for a better provision for the entertainment and comfort of our ever increasing host of summer visitors should be made at once. Last season this paper made a suggestion relative to the securing and equipment of a camping ground that seemed to meet with rather general approval from citizens. The Board of Trade took up the proposition and made some progress so far as suggesting a site but no definite action has yet been decided upon. With present day transportation conditions existing a very large proportion of the tourists visiting Nova Scotia are bound to travel by automobile and they stop where the best provision is made for their accommodation.

Occupying as it does the very entrance to the Grand Pre country—the pathetic story of which more than anything else induces summer travel to this province—it is no wonder that Wolfville is a favorite resort. In addition to this its delightful climatic conditions and beautiful surrounding scenery and the well kept and delightful appearance of the town generally combine to provide inducements irresistible to those who seek the most from their summer holiday. Nature is doing very much for us but unless we do our part we cannot hope but that less favored sections that are "on the job" will outstrip us in the race.

The tourist camping ground is a good institution which has been introduced in many communities with splendid results. Steps should be taken immediately to secure a proper site and equip it with all the conveniences required by motor travellers. Wolfville has good streets, plenty of light, pure water, a splendid class of citizens, but lacks the necessary ambition which would enable our town to secure a greater prosperity.

BASEBALL IN WOLFVILLE

Wolfville is practically the only town in the Valley that has been able during the past few years to maintain a baseball team of league capacity without calling in the aid of outside players. This policy has sometimes placed the local team under a disadvantage but our players have regarded it in keeping with the requirements of good amateur sportsmanship. On the other hand some of the competing teams have been obliged to resort to rather questionable methods in order to complete their line-up and avoid a conflict with the letter of the regulations laid down by the M. P. B. A. U. of C.

Owing to existing conditions, this season there will be no team representing Wolfville in the Valley League, but in order to preserve the spirit of clean sport and develop young players for future requirements a local league has been formed comprising three teams. To encourage this undertaking the publishers of THE ACADIAN will present a trophy to the winning team at the close of the series of games to be played during the coming summer. The young men of the town have entered enthusiastically into the proposition and a schedule of games has been arranged. It is hoped that the undertaking will receive the hearty support of the business men and citizens generally as it deserves every encouragement. Athletic sports, properly conducted, are always beneficial to community welfare as well as to individual development, and Wolfville people will make no mistake in recognizing the fact and governing themselves accordingly.

What is often regarded as an indication that the people of this country are more liberal minded as regards their political affiliations—that they are thinking for themselves and voting as they think—in reality too often is the result of an inclination to shirk their duty in this regard—to "let George do it". Such a policy on the part of the people of any country is bound to be detrimental to national welfare. Political freedom carries with it obligations which must be assumed by the citizens as a whole or the priceless possession will be lost to them.

Apparently the government at Ottawa had a narrow escape last week when Hon. Mr. Fielding's budget passed by the slim margin of eight votes. Just how real the danger was is a matter for conjecture. Had the Progressives stood by their guns there could have been no doubt as to the result. Since Premier King assumed the reins of office the fear of the loss of the sessional pay has on more than one occasion been sufficient to rally enough support from one quarter or another to save him from threatened defeat. He may well bless "the tie that binds".

One of Canada's most prominent public men is responsible for the assertion that in this country ten trees have been wasted by human-set fires to one that has been utilized for the service of the people. The statement is an astounding one and indicates a condition of affairs that certainly requires remedying. About this time of the year serious forest fires usually occur and it is up to every patriotic citizen who visits the woods at this season to see that every possible precaution is taken.

One hundred and forty thousand Canadian boys have been organized by the Canadian Forestry Association into a Young Canadian Forest League and will be on the alert this year to prevent forest fires in all parts of the Dominion.

Badges and detailed instructions are being supplied and the entire body will act as an auxiliary force to the fire rangers when occasion offers.

Alone, But Well Protected

A group of little girls who came alone from England to Canada, and "Buddy" a dog traveller on the way from Boston to Manila.

To lead a dog's life might not, on occasion, be as bad as the old adage infers; indeed, it might mean to lead a life of luxurious comfort and to be free of many of the trials and troubles that human flesh is heir to. Take "Buddy" for instance. He is a young Alredale who entered this life within the confines of the Boston Kennels, and as long as he remained a member of the colony he received all the care and attention that his canine heart could desire. Being a well-behaved puppy he was allowed to reach the age when those of his specie, no longer feeling the need of a protecting hand, attach themselves to a master and endeavor to protect him from the dangers of the day and night. Time came when his desire for his own man was to be gratified and his owners having been paid for his priceless soul, he was placed in a crate and sent, "Canadian Pacific all the way," from Boston to Manila.

True, all the joys of travel were not his, but while on the train, his kennel was kept in an airy part of the baggage car, and on some glorious occasions when the train stopped long enough he was given a run in a strange and fascinating city. At Vancouver he was taken aboard the Canadian Pacific "Empress of Asia" for the trip across the Pacific, and he at once won over the hearts of those of the passengers privileged to meet him. In addition to considerable notice from the passengers "Buddy" received proper attention from the employees of the company and tucked to the side of the crate were instructions as to feeding, which were religiously followed. Besides stating meal hours "Buddy" informed the world that:

"I am a young and affectionate puppy
"I am a true friend to anyone who is kind to me
"I am lonesome and sensitive but very appreciative of kindness and I wish kind men to speak to me to feed me, to give me some water and to take me out of my crate, so that I can keep clean.

"I am an Alredale terrier and my name is Buddy.

"I certainly thank you for your kindness as I am on a long trip from Boston to Manila.

Another passenger on the "Empress of Asia," when she last sailed from Victoria, was little Annette Bradshaw, who was making the long trip across the Pacific for the purpose of joining her parents, Adjutant and Mrs. J. Swanson, who are engaged on the missionary work of the Salvation Army at Yokohama. Throughout the voyage Annette was the special charge of Purser John Moir, who has, on more than one previous occasion, seen that little one were safely delivered to their waiting parents and friends. The little voyager soon made friends with other of the lady passengers, and although she was very glad to see her parents again she found the journey far too short for her liking. Years ago the idea of sending a child on such a long journey alone would not have been entertained for one moment by its guardians, but youngsters can now travel around the world in perfect safety alone, and many, particularly European settlers, find it very convenient to first make sure of their position and standing after immigration, and then have their children brought to them by, and under the very sure care and protection of, the Canadian Pacific. On her last voyage the "Montcalm" brought six children from the old land to friends on this side. These children represented three families and their ages ranged from nine months to fifteen years. The baby, a little girl, was under the care of her fifteen year old brother, and they were going to friends in Ontario, having lost both parents. Two other children were "Men of the World" at seven and eight years, and were going still further west. The others were placed on landing in the care of a lady going directly to their destination who was very interested in the arrangements being made to safeguard all six, and who gladly accepted the opportunity to help along a good work.
